Academics: Business Work it!

a person, partnership, or corporation engaged in commerce, manufacturing, or a service; profit-seeking enterprise or concern.

After creating her "Melting Pot" book in Seminar the previous year, Ashley Havens, senior, finally got to share it with an audience during her first year Cadet Teaching class.

Lauren Matson, junior, punched away at her calculator buttons trying to find a solution during her personal finance class.

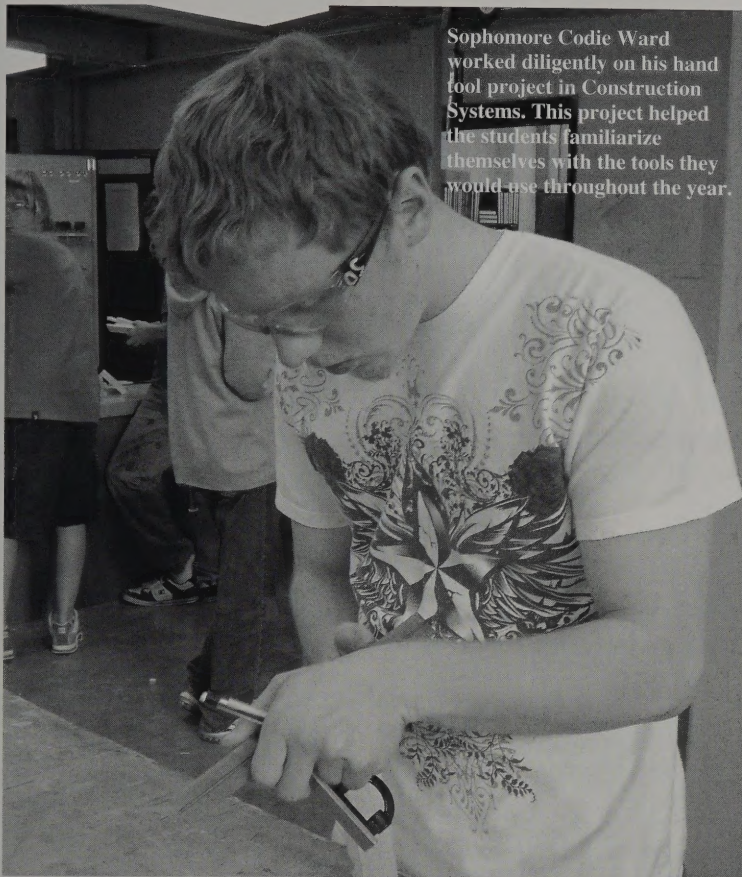

Eddie Rach, junior, utilized his study hall time as a student assistant in the bookstore to focus on studying for his upcoming business exam.

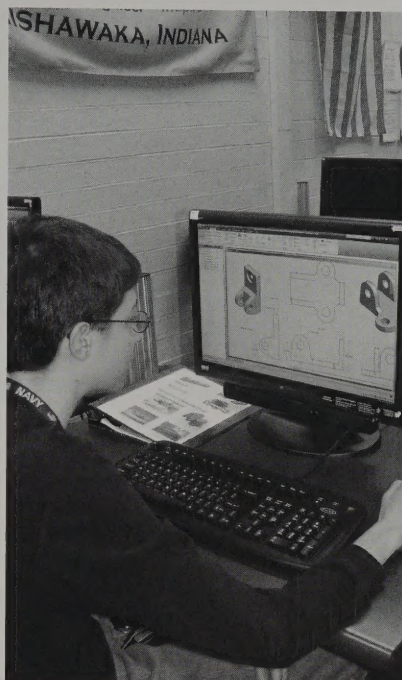

Seniors Teddi Tirota and Kelsey Krege paid attention to Polly Corpe's student teacher, Bri Cantu, as they learned an important lesson concerning accounting.

Michelle Ball displayed her new lesson in Photoshop during her computer applications class.

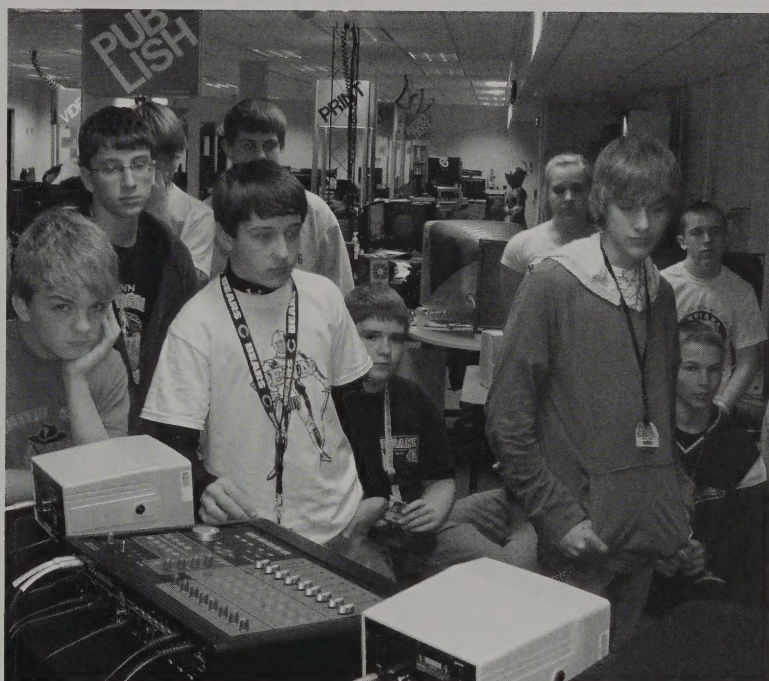

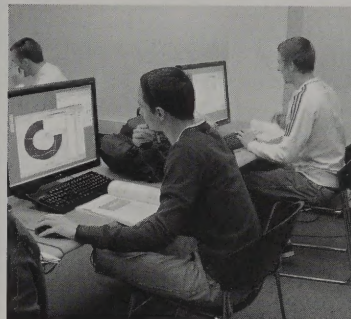

Sophomore Codie Ward worked diligently on his hand tool project in Construction Systems. This project helped the students familiarize themselves with the tools they would use throughout the year.

Freshman Aaron Roeder worked on a long term project for the class Introduction to Engineering. He described the class as fun, challenging, and an amazing experience.

Two seniors, Jack Cleaver and Tony Rinehart, work in Geographic Information Systems on computers to complete their assignments. Cleaver and Rinehart both agree on one fact, "Don't question it, just take this class!"

Computer Network Support is a hands on class where students take apart computer devices to learn the network fundamentals. Logan Isaacs, 9, David Wang, 10, and Zeb Jaffe, 9, demonstrated a typical class assignment.

Students gathered around to listen to another student's completed music project in Tech Lab. It is a regular thing to share another student's accomplishments to the entire class in a process of learning and growing as a student.

An Opener: THE BEGINNING OF MEMORIES

So much can change in a year . . .

In the ninety black days and ninety gold days that go rushing by, each person at Penn High School is making history. With every fight for a parking spot in the morning and every final bell on Friday, we are discovering who we are. In the next 330 pages, the Bittersweet Yearbook staff encourages you to take a journey back through the past year, to relive the special moments documented in this book and think back fondly on the mark you have left on Penn High School. So come take a journey with us . . .

Expressive

Concentrated

Students at Penn High School have the ability to immerse themselves in many different extra-curricular activities, such as Ping Pong Club.

Talented

Every now and again, a little break in the everyday routine is nice. Variety is the spice of life, you know.

Flawless

Precision like this doesn't happen by accident. Hours of practice and rehearsal go into making a performance look effortless.

Academics: English Word Up!

English language, composition, and literature as offered as a course of study in school.

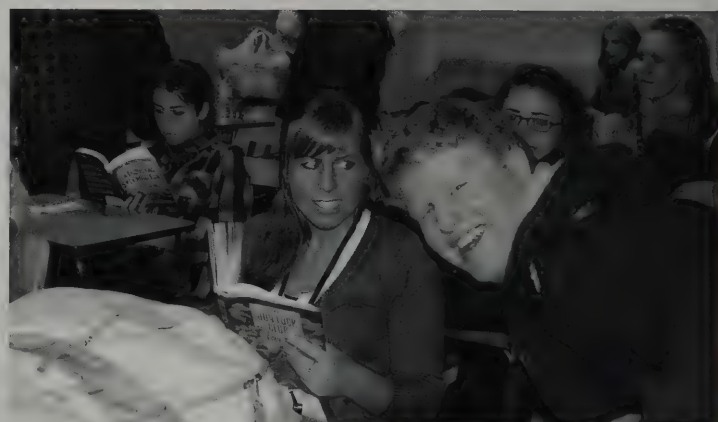

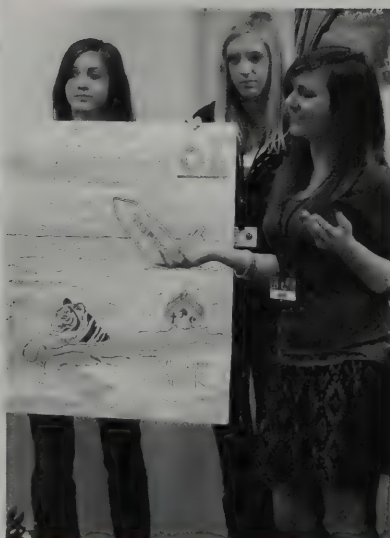

Mary Nickelson, sophomore, completed a poster highlighting key points of The Secret Lives of Bees.

Delaney Bowles, Alyssa Cox and Robyn Mills, sophomores, all showed "E"s to identify a poem as "emotive" writing. The "pod" seating allowed for collaboration.

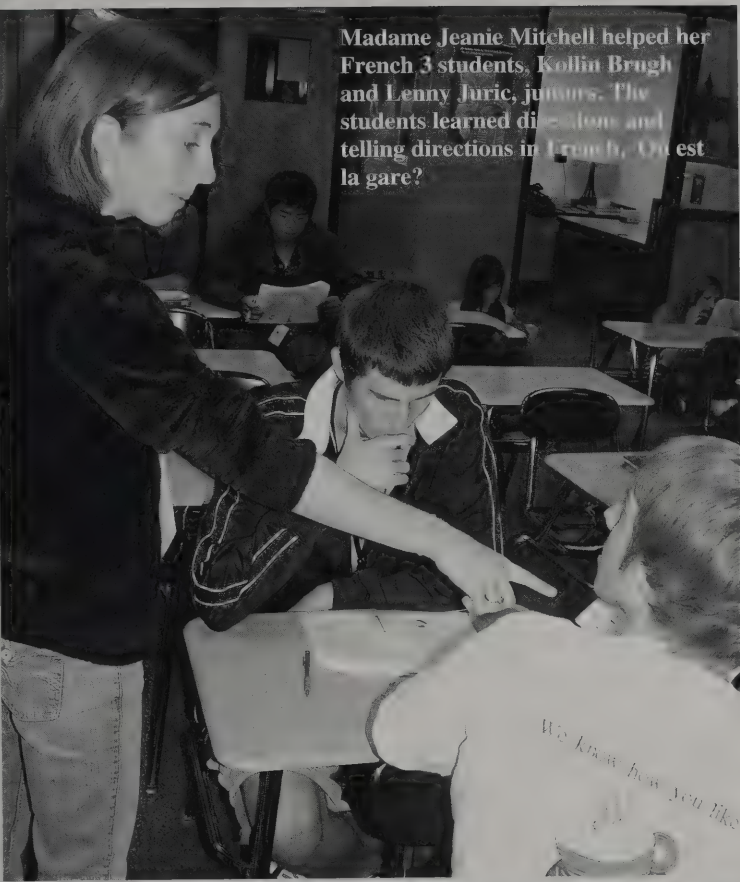

Jim Sauer advised students in his seminar class on how to write a synthesis paper.

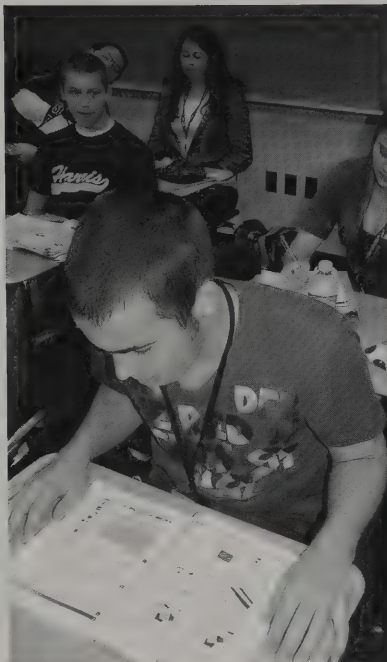

Domonique Wiley, Leanna DeJong and Caitlyn Smith, sophomores, discussed conflict and symbolism in Life of Pi.

Kelly Kazmierczak and Tom Gustafson, seniors, played around while analyzing a play in AP Literature.

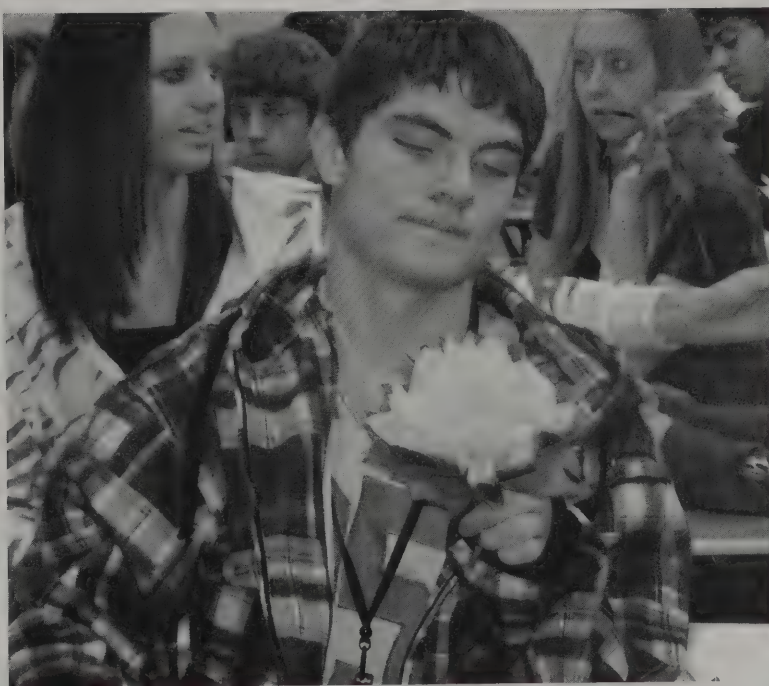

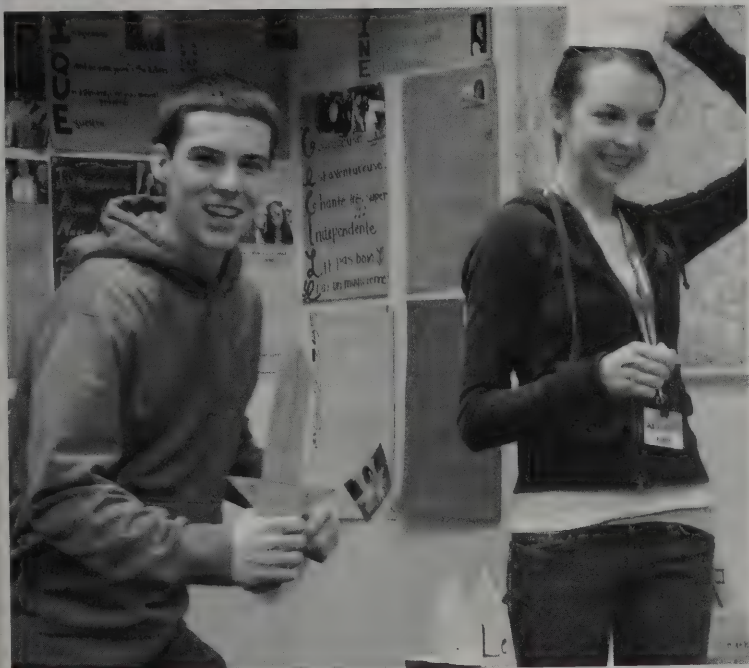

Madame Jeanie Mitchell helped her French 3 students, Kollin Brugh and Lenny Juric, juniors. The students learned directions and telling directions in French. Où est la gare?

Levi Paul, sophomore, in Christine Vandygriff's German 2 class, reviewed for his final after taking a quiz.

Junior Jordan Binion, in Delicia Huckelberry's ASL 3 class, went to a nearby elementary schools to teach the students a song in sign language. It was a great teaching experience for both the ASL students and the elementary students.

Juniors Daniel Wagner and Taylor Walter in Madame Jeanie Mitchell's French 3 class had to reenact the play Hamlet in French. The students worked very hard to memorize their lines to a very famous play.

Dylan Talcott, sophomore, gazed at his flower that he made in his Spanish class for the Day Of The Dead in November. The whole class enjoyed learning how to make paper flowers with Kelley Watts.

Authenticity of Ceramics

In a class such as Ceramics, it's easy to strive for perfection in each piece created. However, the little imperfections, or personal details found in each work of art, is what makes the student's pieces so unique.

Expression in Sculpture

Sophomores Rob Klump and John Livingston work intently in Beth McKechnie's Sculpture 1 class. The students agree that Sculpture is a nice class to have in the middle of their academic school day to relax and exercise their creativity.

SENIOR ALYSSA Hertel held her handcrafted bowl she created in Ceramics for the Ceramic Bowls project.

SENIOR ASHLEY McPherran added some finishing touches to her serving dish in Ceramics, mostly detail and shape. Projects can take as long as a month to create and perfect.

BECKY BROWN and her Advanced Ceramics class hold the bowls they made for the Empty Bowls dinner. The event provides a soup and bread dinner served in the donated bowls. Students from Penn donated about 200 bowls to the event this year.

SENIOR DAN Carpenter worked on the computer program PhotoShop to create a digital art piece for his Graphic Design 2 class.

FRESHMEN USED pastels and markers to create reflective designs in 2D-3D art class.

Academics: Social Studies

BACK to the FUTURE

a course of instruction in an elementary or secondary school comprising such subjects as history, geography, government, economics, etc.

Throughout US History, many events such as the War of 1812 to Woodstock to current events, are studied. Almost anything and everything is covered. From the wide range of excellent staff members in this field, history is taught with a strong passion and makes the students ready to learn.

HALIE GORDON and Kila Davis, juniors, showed off their "Vote for Wilson" signs in their 1912 election for US History class.

The study group from a American Studies seminar U.S. History class brought in a dog as a method of raising money for Pet Refuge. Each study group was asked to find a way to benefit others and a way to show how social change is brought about in communities.

TONY RINEHART, senior, gazed into his computer during Geographic Information Systems (GIS). This class was introduced this year as a follow-up class to AP Human Geography.

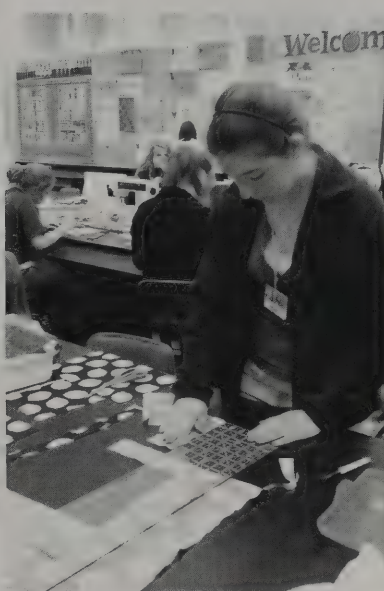

JUNIORS Ellen Kjoller, Gabby Riland, Becca Coleman, Ashleigh Behr, and Haley Wilde showed off their project about Native American assimilation.

US History teacher Dominic Ball led students in a mock election. This project helped students learn the processes of campaigning, from speechwriting to voting.

Claire Henderson, sophomore, smiles as she stitches, being careful not to sew her fingers.

Formulas for Success

the systematic treatment of magnitude, relationships between figures and forms, and relations between quantities expressed symbolically.

While not as elaborate a project as Barbie bungee jumping, students in Laura McKenzie's Algebra class worked on a "bridges" project to reinforce equations.

Merilee Britt checked on her students' work while a large periodic table loomed overhead.

SENIOR Dylan Beckham and junior Nicole Risselmann weren't so enthusiastic about the dissection of a worm in Mel Lenig's Animal Science class. JUNIOR Nick Banks poked the heart of a deer. FRESHMEN Clarence Rannells showed off his jello mold cell, while Sam Sharkey showed his pumpkin cell in biology.

Senior Nabeel Chaudhry partnered up with Weston Kujawski in anatomy and emphasized his smile with a magnifying glass.

THE BASICS OF LIFE

Health (noun): A series of classes teaching students at Penn to live healthy lifestyles through instruction and activities.

DAN AUGSBURGER and TAYLOR FORBES, sophomores, practiced how to rescue a drowning swimmer during their lifeguarding class.

DEVIN REAGAN, sophomore, learned in his Health class how to give CPR to a baby.

AARON JONES and DAVID MILLER, sophomores, worked together to learn how to properly give CPR to a baby.

RACHEL BUCK, sophomore, concentrated while she practiced CPR in health class.

TARYN FISHER, sophomore, studied her lifeguarding notes avidly.

CODY KOON, freshman, skips across the main arena in a freshman physical education jump rope activity.

JOSH POLAND, junior, swings the bat for a homerun in a softball game during Advanced Team Sports.

Students play a game of volleyball in ATS. It can get pretty competitive.

SAM SHARKEY, freshman, sprints to the ball in a freshman PE game of tennis.

DALTON STROUPE, junior, spots DESEAN PRENTICE, junior, as he bench presses in fitness class.

Academics: Exceptional Education

adjective: remarkable, extraordinary, first-rate.

In Kristine Smith's English class, the students told their original scary Halloween stories that they wrote. For effect, Smith even brought in a flashlight so that they could tell their stories in the dark.

Sophomore Tyran Nelson helped set the table for breakfast so that the class could enjoy a delicious meal. Nelson worked in the Lifetime Fitness Center throughout the year.

Freshman Breanne Buford took part in a reading circle during class, in which she read her piece of work to her classmates.

Kristine Smith's class came together for a picture after a hard day's work. This class continuously strives to give their personal best each day so that they will continue to be successful people in the future.

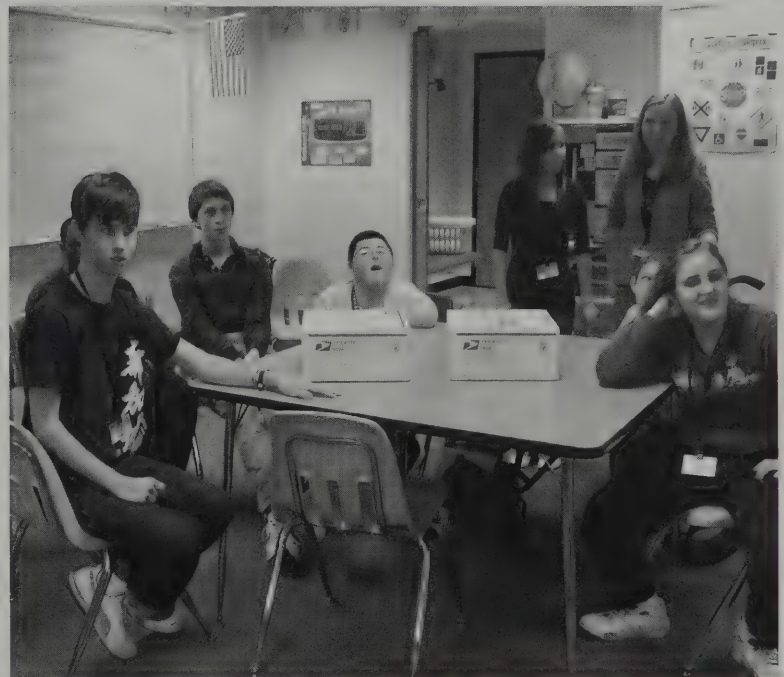

Sophomore Crysta Quirk read her scary story to classmates for their Halloween story-telling day. McKenzie Clements holds the flashlight and enjoyed a Pixie Stick.

Anne Chmiel helped her students get all of their goodies on their plates before celebrating their Valentine's Day feast.

This cute little tray of mice, made of chocolate and cherries, was brought in as a special treat for the group to enjoy during class.

In the excitement of Halloween, Alex Whitmire, John Dickey and Kevin Smith, seniors, and program assistant Steve Guthrie stopped in the hallway in their wacky costumes.

The class gathered for a picture of their packages they planned to send to Iraq for our soldiers fighting in the war.

On Valentine's Day, the students posed with their treat bags that they made in class.

Academics: QUIZ BOWL

The Best of the Best

General Knowledge competition in which questions are given about a variety of topics.

Anthony Ball, sophomore, helped set up the stage for the Penn vs. Mishawaka quiz bowl tournament.

Scott Thompson is the Quiz Bowl sponsor. He described the team's undefeated season as a tremendous accomplishment of which he is most proud. He said students should join next year because practices are fun and filled with cool, funny, smart, and surprisingly good-looking people.

Quiz Bowl Victory for Penn

The quiz bowl team is all about knowledge. In the words of junior Florence Chen, it is Team Jeopardy. The only difference is that you do not get to choose the category when you get the question. Senior Josh Folk led the way for the varsity team to make it past the St. Joseph Valley Quiz Bowl league, through the league tournament in January, and onto State in March. Unfortunately, this last match did not go as well as the team had planned. However, the team made it through the entire regular season undefeated and they were even able to play members of the junior varsity team which showed just how intelligent the team is.

Knowing stuff will get you places...

"Even though our season was not very successful in comparison to previous years, it was still a valuable step in our team's progression as a unified group."

Luke Schram, 11

"Knowledge Masters has brought together many people who love to learn. Though we scream answers at each other for over an hour, we have a great time challenging our minds!"

Calli Williams, 11

"My brain is bigger than your brain."

Alex Lu, 11

KNOWLEDGE MASTERS

A set of questions requiring knowledge in varied topics that students answer on a computer.

Laurie Bednarek, the sponsor of the Knowledge Masters team, remarked, "Students did extraordinarily well in both competitions. The knowledge they have gained in varied topics such as science, social studies, geography, and literature is astounding. This is a reflection of both their upbringing and the value they place on learning, and upon the great education they have received in the PHM district."

There are two competitions throughout the season, one during the fall and one in the spring time. Knowledge Master competitions are different then most others, as they are done as a group on a computer. Sheena Shah worked on preparing for a competition.

Academic Superbowl Competition

ASB is made of five teams, Fine Arts, Science, Social Studies, Math, and English. Each team is coached by a different teacher: Lynda Rose (science), Pete DeKever (social studies), Brad Grounds (math), Jim Sauer (English). Diane Bowersox is the academic team coordinator. The teams' season included three competitions in Indiana. A typical competition consists of twenty-five questions asked to a group of three team members as they work together to answer the multiple choice questions.

FINE ARTS Row 1: Emily Traxler, Rebecca Liu, Samantha Leyes. Row 2: Talia Qiao, Aaron Hammer.

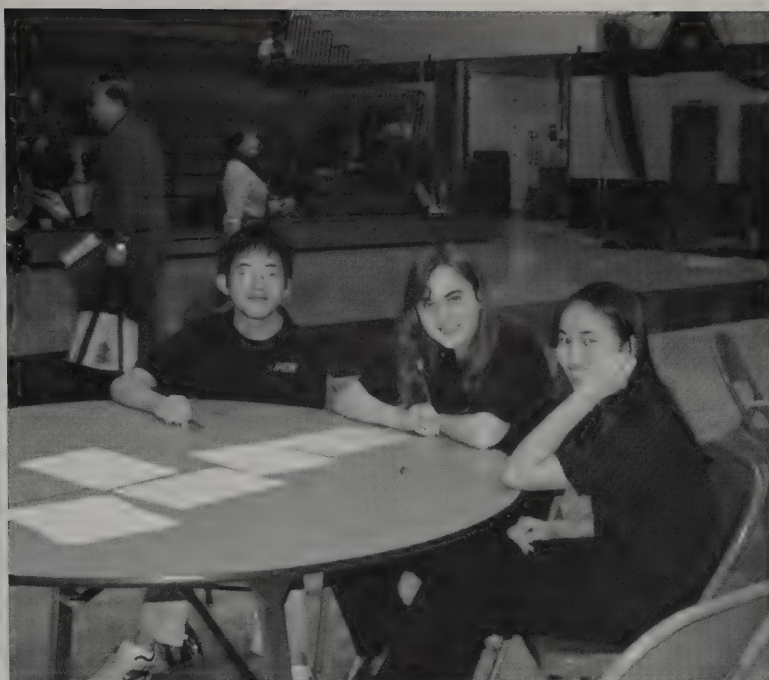

SCIENCE Row 1: Prince George, Mohan Berg, Siddharth Saraph, Stephan Hu. Row 2: Florence Chen, Eric Zhang, Chris Meert.

Academic Superbowl Competition

The teams studied hard, persevered, and so won many competitions this season. With the dedication that the students put up, it helped them make their way to the State competition in West Lafayette. DeKeever's and Roses's team both brought home gold, while Grounds' and Sauer's teams came back with silver.

Band: Concert

JUST LIKE MARCHING, ONLY SITTING

Anthony Schmidt, sophomore, played in the pit behind the symphonic band during the winter concert. Auditions for upper level bands are held in the spring which determines placement the following year.

The intermediate freshman band performed first at their winter concert. Conducted by Glenn Northern, the band started practicing at the beginning of the school year to prepare their music for this concert.

Amber Mazzocchi and Katy Jeffrey, sophomores, Travis Baumbaugh, senior, and Marissa Seese, sophomore, played French horn in the concert. Because they are a middle brass instrument, French horns are important to the overall sound.

Drum Major Trevor Johnson, junior, tried to watch the other drum majors so he could keep tempo. Normally, all four drum majors would be at the front of the band; however, this year the Marching Kingsmen's show included a piano solo. It was necessary for the pianist to see a visible drum major as well.

ADD SOME RHYTHM

Percussionists Cameron Behyedt, Zach Newsom, and Wann Prout, freshmen, hit every note with precision at the Kaleidoscope concert that took place in November.

SHOW OFF THOSE LEGS!

Director Glenn Northern wore shorts to a concert, in support of Penn High School's annual Turkey Legs. All donations went to support Paper Pantry. Everyone got a good laugh, because this outfit was certainly not proper concert attire!

This year the symphonic winds invited an orchestra player to be a part of the concert. Mae Hope, senior, played her bass with the band.

Keith Rudolph, director of the top band of Penn High School, conducted the low brass section in one of the many pieces they prepared for the winter concert.

DJ Johnson, sophomore, played tympani for the Gold Band at the winter concert. Johnson is the only sophomore percussionist that does not march with the Kingsmen.

Band: Marching

LOUD
AND

an ensemble of musicians that march in time to the music for entertainment at events and in parades, often with brass, wind, and percussion instruments, drum majors, and color guard.

Tony Villano, junior, warmed up with the drumline before District competition at Penn. Villano began the tradition of the drumline marching through school on football Fridays.

Freshman Samuel Rose played "A New Inspiration" on his baritone during part three of the piece.

The drumline, conducted by William Leather, danced in the warmup arch before the Carnival of Bands invitational on Saturday, September 26.

Penn's clarinets formed the tunnel and played the Penn fight song before a football game on Freed Field to give the football players an extra pump of adrenaline.

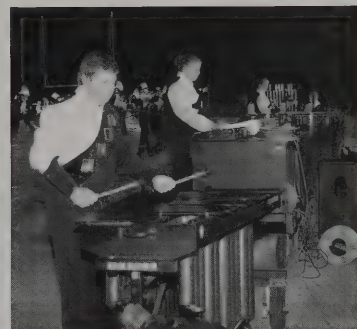

Chani Whetstone, junior, and Tristan Ardent, freshman, performed in the low brass feature during part three of the Kingsmen's show, adding major musical points to the score.

Drum major, Cassie Mills, senior, conducted the band members on side one during their show on Freed Field. Other drum majors were senior Stephen High and juniors Megan Maher and Trevor Johnson.

Tom Uttermohlen, senior, looked at his music during the pep rally before the homecoming football game in October. While the pep session had good weather, it rained at game time--as it did every home game but one!

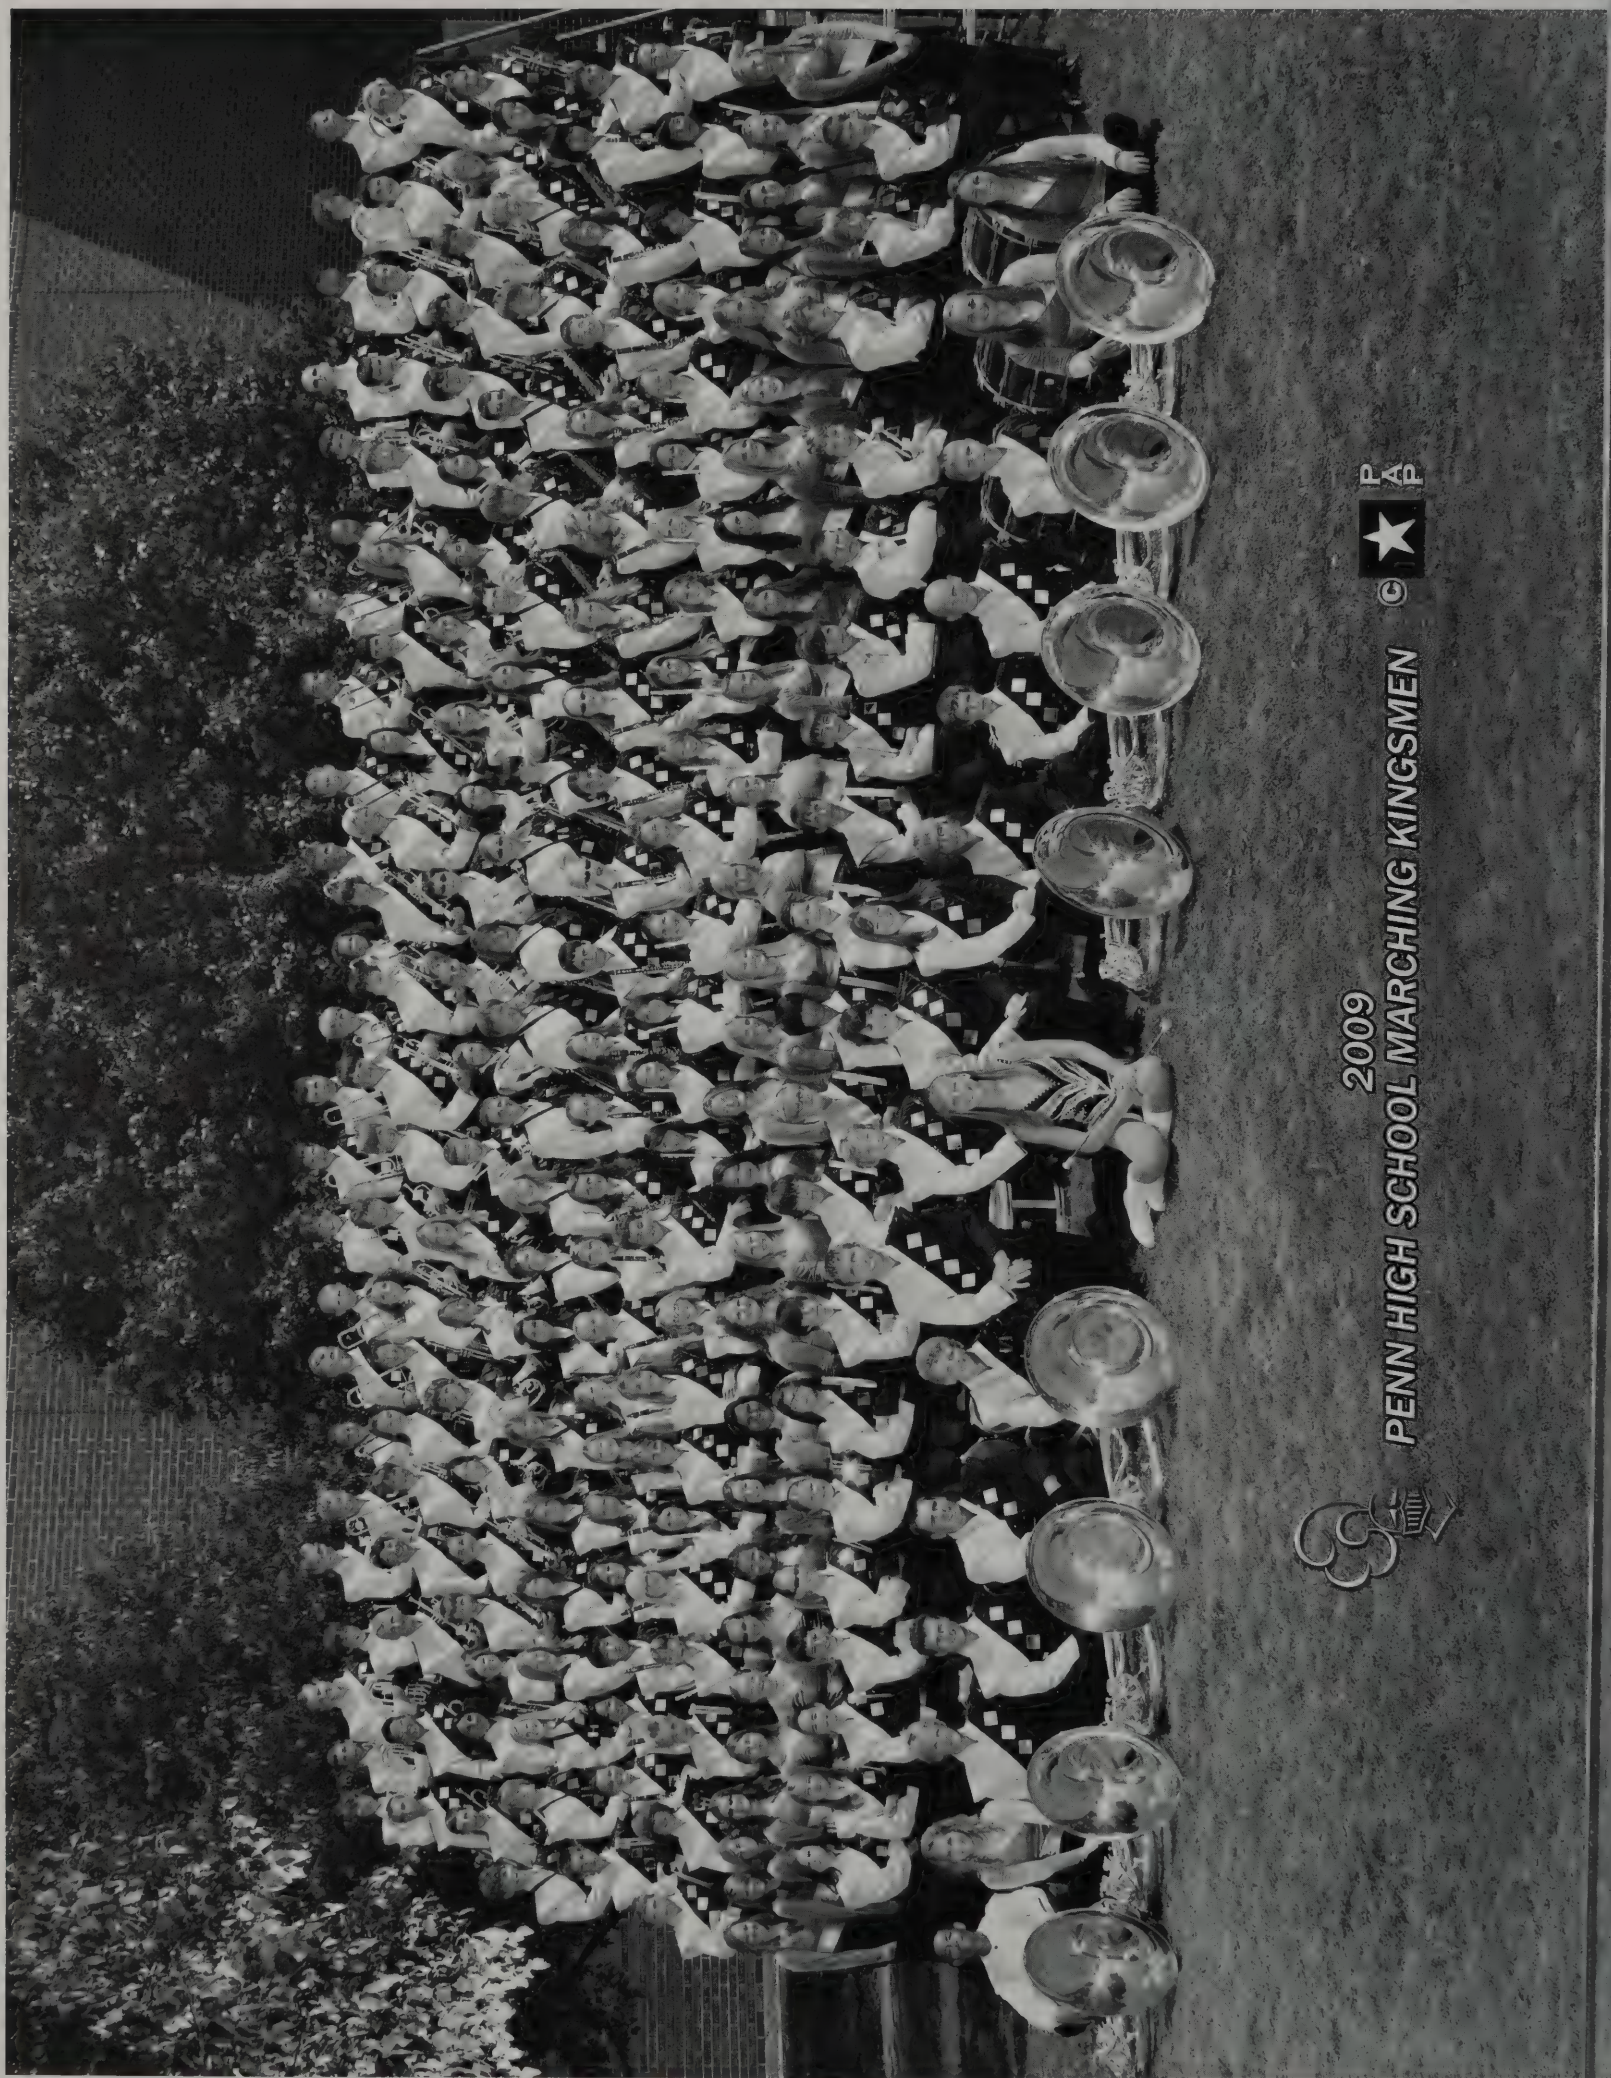

Brian Kimm and Christian Zook, seniors, played a tuba fanfare at the pep rally before the homecoming game against Washington High School.

Pit members concentrate on hitting the right notes while the rest of the band performs on the field. Members of the pit are the only musicians who do not march while they play.

The Marching Kingsmen placed sixth at State Finals, and also participated in the Bands of America competition, placing seventh in Penn's region of the nation.

Baseball: Boys' Varsity

The Sky's the Limit

a game of ball between two nine-player teams played usually for nine innings on a field that has as a focal point a diamond-shaped infield with a home plate and three other bases, 90 ft. (27 m) apart, forming a circuit that must be completed by a base runner in order to score, the central offensive action entailing hitting of a pitched ball with a wooden or metal bat and running of the bases, the winner being the team scoring the most runs.

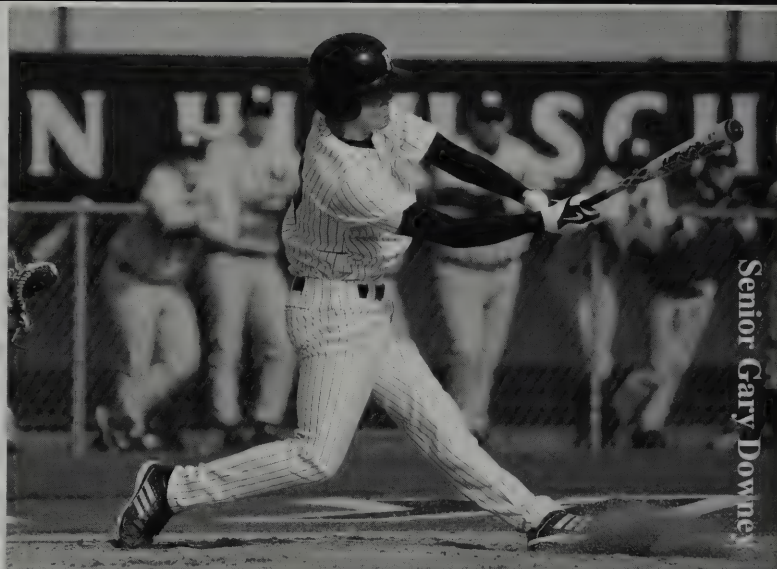

Ryan Szklarek, 11, and Josh Coquillard, 12, got a quick pep talk from Coach Dikos.

Kyle Schneider, 11, reached to snag the ball.

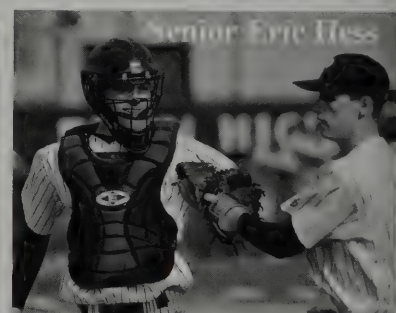

The outlook for the 2010 Varsity Kingsmen baseball team was not looking too bright after losing an immensely talented graduating class and they opened the season with a tough loss to the Laporte Slicers. However, the boys proved that they were not going to allow this year to be only a rebuilding season. The varsity Kingsmen rallied back to finish off the regular season with 21-6 record. Coach Greg Dikos also reached a spectacular milestone as he won his 500th game and was named NIC Coach of the Year. The Kingsmen were 14-2 in the NIC. The boys fought on to become the 2010 Sectional Champions, an accomplishment that even last year's talented team could not do.

Junior shortstop Sam Sweeden showed off his impressive jumping abilities as he leapt far into the air to retrieve the ball to ensure the Marian Knight player was out.

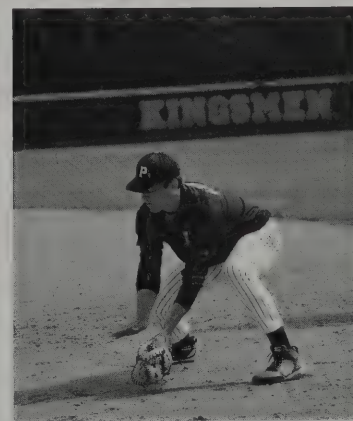

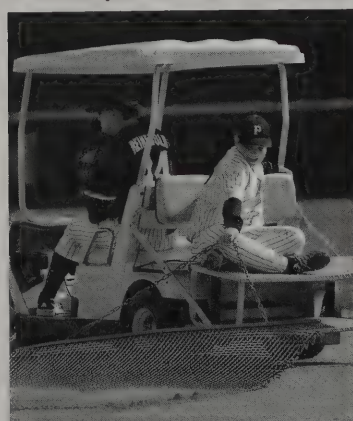

One of Penn's top pitchers, senior Casey Bernaert, released the ball. Bernaert was the closing pitcher in the double-header double victory games against Logansport.

SENIOR RICKY Dubois proudly celebrated his first career grand slam with his teammates. Dubois's grand slam secured the Kingsmen victory against the Saint Joseph Indians. MANGER BRADY Decker, freshman, gleefully assisted Coach Joel Reinebold in preparing the field for the upcoming game. Decker had many tasks to complete as the manger including keeping the team batting records. AS FIRST basemen, Junior Max Andresen grounded the ball for a quick out against the Adams' Eagles. Andresen not only played first base this season, he also spent some of the games behind the batter as one of the Kingsmen catchers.

The Kingsmen boys' basketball team had a 16-8 record, 5-3 in the NIC. The Kingsmen were close to having the NIC title this year, but unfortunately fell short to the Riley Wildcats. The Kingsmen battled back later in the season defeating many tough competitors. After losing two very close games to Mishawaka and Elkhart Central, the boys showed a drive for success. They ended up making it all the way to the sectional championship and placing second. Losing seniors Jordan Brady, Chris Chaffee, and Alex Hendershot will create a leadership set back for the Kingsmen, but Coach Al Rhodes has great confidence in next year's team.

It was "The Start of a New Chapter" for the Lady Kingsmen basketball team. They started their fourth season in a row with a new head coach; with Coach Kristi Kaniewski came a brand new coaching staff that helped lead the girls to the NIC title for the first time in over ten years.

Christie Westerhausen led the team as the lone senior. The girls may have lacked in height, but they did not lack in heart. Going into sectionals the girls were ready to defend the NIC title by beating out a team they had already defeated, the Clay Colonials. Being a younger and shorter team, however, sadly ended their season.

Kaitlyn Hickey, 10, struggled to make her way to the basket.

The girls gathered in the locker room after the NIC win against Riley that assured them the NIC title for the first time in ten years. The girls had celebration cookies that were decorated for the occasion.

Penn went 8-0 in the NIC to win the NIC title, and first year coach Kristi Kaniewski was named NIC Coach of the Year. Sophomores Alex Morton and Tori Milliner made first team NIC, with sophomores Katie Hojara and Kaitlyn Hickey and freshman Taylor Lutz earning honorable mention honors.

JUNIOR OLIVIA Daggy jumped up for the game ball at the start of the game. CHRISTIE WESTERHAUSEN, senior, shoots a three. SENIOR CHRISTIE Westerhausen and junior Katie Hojara had fun before games. With Westerhausen being the only senior this season she became closer with the underclassmen. Hanging out before and after the games and also on the weekends was a lot more frequent this year. Forming bonds on the team was very important for team camaraderie and getting along on the court. CHRISTIE WESTERHAUSEN and Junior Olivia Daggy high fived each other after an important play. SOPHOMORE TAYLOR Lutz dribbled out of a trap to beat her opponents to the basket.

Battle of the Bands

"Let music save your mortal soul" bat-tel [bat-l] a hostile engagement band [band] a company of persons functioning together creating music

This year the musically talented came together to give Penn High a show. From covers to original numbers the bands made sure to impress on Friday, March 19, 2010.

The seven bands competed against each other for the title of the best band of the year at Penn High School.

All bands featured impressive guitar work, and their styles ranged from pop to hard-core rock and roll. The outcome of the student votes gave the title to Made of Awesome! Made of Awesome had a lot of tough competition, but in the end they came out on top. Many bands will return next year in hopes of having another great performance. Others gave their last performance at Penn, but their journey doesn't end here. All students, staff, family, and friends had a great experience attending the event, and left wanting more.

THE CROWD went wild as Better off Broke got up close and personal with their audience. Tim McGinn, junior, sent Bronson Deleon, senior, crowd surfing throughout the enthusiastic fans. McGinn expressed how he felt about the night, "we had a huge adrenaline rush on stage. We had an awesome time, and couldn't be more happy with how well it went!"

Kid Friendly performed as a small but outstanding act of the night by showing off two of their original songs ("Five Bros" and "Lady Lavender"). "It was a great time hangin' with my bros!" said Jack Cleaver, senior, quoting from one of their originals, referring to the great night they had.

Johnny Yoder, senior, of Poets and Posterboys expressed to the camera his great enthusiasm for his last performance as a senior at Penn's Battle of the Bands. The excitement and adrenaline running throughout the stage displayed by his band and him was easily sensed from the audience of the performance.

Jake Heuni, 2009 graduate, gave a memorable performance with his outstanding vocals for the band Poets and Posterboys. The audience was ecstatic to have him come back to perform before them once again. He blew the crowd away yet one more time.

Michael Lazarczyk, junior, rocked out to one of Made of Awesome's original songs. It had the crowd on their feet rocking out to the beat. This was just one of the many songs that won everyone over. Lazarczyk had great support from his friends who wore personalized shirts devoted to him.

Tom Gustafson, senior, of Julie in Red entered the stage with his band through the dramatic smoke as the crowd chanted their name.

Dylan Robb, freshman, of Flesh Feast, drummed with intense passion during one of his solos. Flesh Feast was the only all-freshmen band. Harry Gilbride, freshman, guitarist, said, "Battle of the Bands was fun, but not what I expected. We tried out as a joke, but ended up having a great time. We plan on returning next year."

Matt Borsodi, and Cody Budd, seniors, were filled with proud emotions after being on stage as one of the first bands to perform. They started the night out on a good note. After celebrating a job well done, they then went off, interested to see what the other bands had to bring to the table.

Bonding

verb: the opportunity to grow as a person and share experiences with those around us, often through teaching as in Big Brothers Big Sisters and Freshman Mentoring.

Senior Megan Harr stopped working on a puzzle to pose with her Little. She said she loves it, loves the kids, and wants to give them all a group hug!

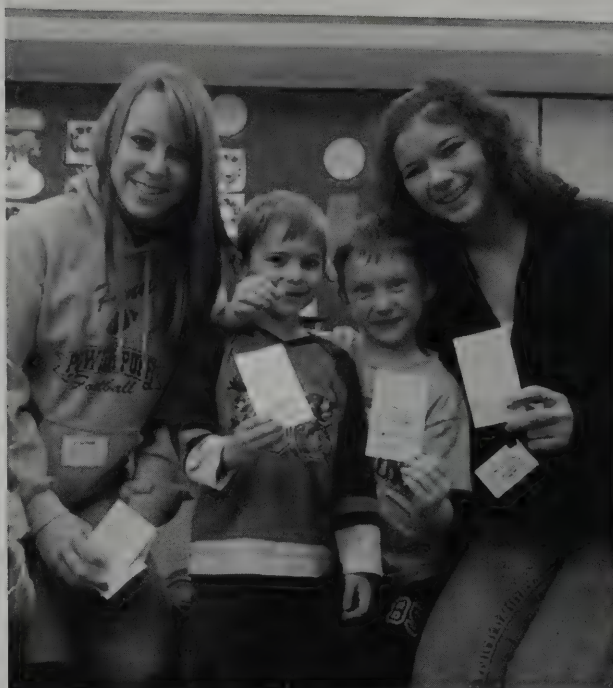

Junior Connor Walsh said being a Big reminds him of his eighth grade buddy, so being in BBBS is his way of paying back.

Big Brothers, Big Sisters, Big Love

Little kids are grateful for the work that their Bigs do each week when they visit. Bigs work with the Littles' school work year long, while at the same time building a friendship. BBBS members help to "Make A Difference in Schools." Bigs visit Elm Road, Elsie Rogers and Bittersweet Elementary Schools.

Sophomores Alyssa Cox and Mackenzie Weisweaver smiled big with their Littles. They were learning numbers while working with number flash cards.

Freshman Mentors joined together on training day to show off their ad for a friend. This is one of the activities Mentors do when they meet with their freshmen. This particular activity helps to get to know one another by selling their good qualities and fun characteristics.

This year Freshman Mentoring introduced a new aspect. The Mentor Boss Ladies (Marni Cronk and Madeline Watkins) welcomed Mentor Executives that led groups during mentor training days, worked together with adults to brainstorm activities and structure the program, and were a resource for new mentors.

Sophomores Caitlin Vaughn and Taylor Sherrer greeted students as they entered the school in the schedule pick-up and tours.

Freshman Mentoring

Sophomore John Smith held the mentoring t-shirt. The quote "Be Excellent to Each Other" (from the 1989 movie, Bill and Ted's Excellent Adventure) reflects the lessons that mentors try to teach the freshman class. Mentors visit with their freshmen monthly and play games with them to teach life lessons and help them have the best high school experience. Before meeting with their freshman group, mentors have a training day where they spend the time playing and learning the games themselves.

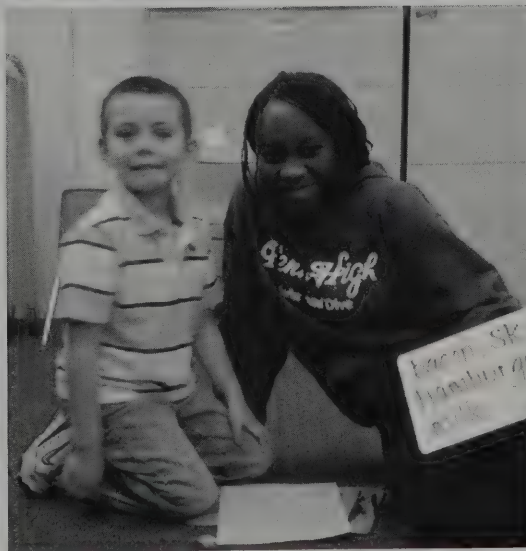

Junior Levi Young sat by watching as his Little played a game of checkers. He said that he likes to be able to assist his Little in whatever he needs help with. BBBS is more than helping with school; it's bonding and getting to know your Little through games and fun.

Freshman Mentor Tyler Neely, junior, played Flaps with a group of his freshmen. At first glance, this game may seem easy, but once you start playing it teaches students how to come together and work as a group.

Kara McCoy, sophomore, played Sorry with her Little. She said that her favorite part is seeing her Little's progress, and seeing her grow each time she visits. Senior Kaweme Ng'andew worked with her Little, helping him with his spelling. But she really enjoys helping him with math because that is her favorite subject.

Sophomore Mark Richards shows his enthusiasm for freshman mentors. He said that training day is fun and a way to make new friends while learning how to mentor.

Boredom Busters

B noun: a social group created to bring together students with similar interests

While Penn may be known for its talented athletes, gifted musicians and actors, and brainy academic competitors, Penn also is home to many other clubs and activities. Whether is be to relax after school during finals week or dancing to the music on a plastic tarp, Penn always has something to do.

Bowling was another activity many students participated in during the 180 day school year. With their weekly meetings at the local bowling alley Tiffany Gavros, senior, was one of four area bowlers to be named to the academic all-state team. Over in the cafeteria, Charles Xu, senior, also known as the King Cong of Ping Pong, led his club to many fun afternoons.

Building Trades Tool Time...

those trades, as carpentry, masonry, and plastering, that are primarily concerned with the construction and finishing of buildings.

Every year Penn High School has a group of boys who are in Building Trades, dedicating their class time to constructing a house. They spend first and second block every day of the school year learning the different trades of creating a home from the ground up. This course is designed to give students practical experiences in the different phases of house construction through the building of a house on a site near the school. Students will gain knowledge and experience in house wiring, plumbing, heating, concrete and masonry work, painting, dry wall application, landscaping, and carpentry.

A WORK IN PROGRESS

The Building Trades house goes through many stages. Here, the brick has been laid and roof is in place during the winter time of the school year.

Cleaning Up

With so much dust flying around the site, it's important for the student builders to sweep up the mess.

FRAMING THE HOUSE

The student builders discussed the best way to frame their house.

Dry Wall

Collin Moody, senior, lifted the heavy sheet of dry wall that the team hung later in the week.

Sawing

Scott Snider, senior, cuts a piece of siding to help finish the outside of the building trades house.

Finished Product!

What's in their toolbox?

Painting

After the fireplace was finished and completely constructed Josh Bertsch, senior, had the job of painting the wood work framing the piece. Bertsch was awarded the Building Trades award at the Senior Banquet.

Tools they used

During Building Trades many different tools were used by the high school students. Ladders, Paint brushes, hammers, rulers and pencils are just a few that helped them to construct the house.

Hard work and keeping smiles

Collin Moody, senior, keeps a smile on his face as he worked hard each and every day at the building trades site. Putting together a house is a big deal and a ton of work but being able to keep a positive attitude is the way to keep yourself going.

Dirty Work

Above, Josh Bostic, junior, worked hard to clean up his tools that he used to finish putting together the bathtub that he is resting on. The finished project was a full bath and was beautiful.

CHOIR: Winter Concert

Singing in the Snow

noun: a company of singers, especially an organized group, performing pieces of music

The chamber choir veered away from traditional holiday music when they rapped "Shopping Mall Seizure."

The symphonic choir sang selections from "Carmina Burana." The choir sang the same selection in New York City's Carnegie Hall.

The beginning choir, Girls' Chorus, awaited anxiously to begin their first song, "Oh, This Still, Silent Night." This was the first song they performed as a part of Penn Choir. They sang strongly when they started the concert and look forward to more years as a part of the Penn Choir Program.

The combined choirs--almost 300 voices--finished the winter concert by performing some winter classics as a whole. The newest members of Girls' Choir and the Singing Kingsman mixed with the veteran members of Girls' Chorus, Women's Chorale, and the Symphonic Choir to create melodies the audience wanted to join in singing.

Maddie Helman, junior, and her dance partner, Johnny Yoder, senior, swayed to the beat of "It's Beginning To Look A Lot Like Christmas," which was the Chamber Choir's opening song.

Rochelle Watson, senior, and juniors Leah Gerber, Taylor Griffin and Katie Durning, concluded their section of the concert by performing an excerpt from "Carmina Burana," which they also performed in New York City in February.

Seniors Kara Grunawalt and Scott Kennedy sing the slow classical tune of "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas."

The Singing Kingsmen, made up of all males, sang two carols that were essential to the show.

Sarah Holaway, senior, and Bronson DeLeon, junior, pranced around the auditorium as Frosty the Snowman and his friend. They were a delightful surprise to the audience.

Women's Chorale

COLOR GUARD:

a group of individuals that always work hard no matter what the conditions are, give their best at all times, and never give up.

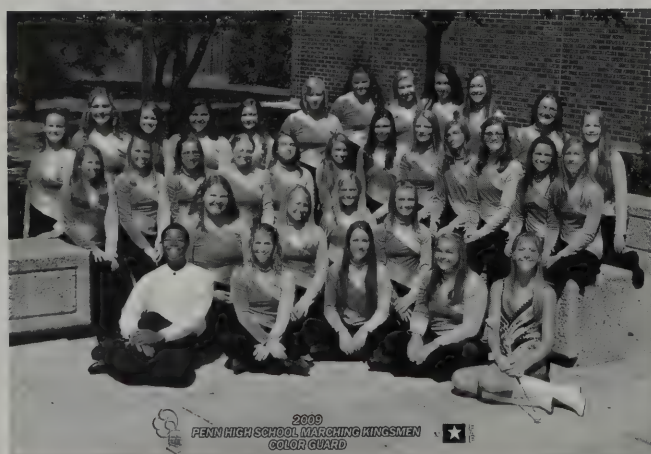

The Penn Kingsmen's show "Opus 1," consisted of a composer, senior Lige Bostic, who battled the challenge of creating a masterpiece of music. Along the way, he overcomes many stints of writer's block, and gets inspiration from a helping friend. In the end, he created his piece, "Opus 1."

Over the summer and into the fall, the Penn Color Guard worked towards one goal. Through the hot summer afternoon where temperatures rose and rose, to the freezing October nights, the girls were outside getting better. The color guard performed with the Marching Kingsmen in several invitationals, District, Regionals, Semi State, and State Competitions. Overall, the Marching Kingsmen placed sixth in the state at the Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis. The group was happy with the performance and pleased with the growth of the group. "I'll never forget our bus rides... It was a great experience and I'm glad I stuck with it!" said Morgan Crane, senior. Over the course of three months, the group learned a lot about each other. "We are one big family. Sometimes they make you so angry, and other times you love them and just want to give them gifts," said Lige Bostic, senior. The season went well for the Penn Color Guard and they are anxiously awaiting next season.

COLOR GUARD Row 1: L. Bostic, K. Simpson, M. Crane, K. Lang, J. LaCosse. Row 2: C. Nellis, G. Fox, K. Collins, A. Burnham. Row 3: E. Vreeke, K. Tiller, L. Wilczynska, V. Humphreys, N. Weamer, A. Wilkinson, J. Hammond, A. Masney, K. Hullinger, K. Cullison, M. Florit, R. Johnson. Row 4: B. Holycross, C. Disselberger, T. O'Neal, J. Gonzalez, H. Bilotta, E. Szeles, M. Niebur, A. Schurrer, S. O'Malley, A. Smith, H. Chapman, A. Day.

"The season went really well; the new girls really stepped up and worked hard. Being a senior was really fun; I loved participating in the speeches to help motivate."

Jenne LaCosse, J2

Taylor O'Neal, freshman, posed during the Kingsmen's Carnival of Bands Invitational on September 26. Penn could not place since it was their home field.

Splash, my friend

MORGAN CRANE, senior, twirled her flag with pride adding to the many visual effect points for the Penn Marching Kingsmen.

TAYLOR O'NEAL, freshman, Jenae LaCrosse, senior, Rachel Johnson, sophomore, and Kelsey Lang, senior, performed in center field for the show's opener, "Opus 1."

Morgan Crane

Kelsey Collins, junior, and Alex Masney, sophomore, marched along with the band for pregame.

"Color guard, show me your Colgate smile!"

LIGE BOSTIC, 12, the "composer" of the show, moved around the low brass section in search of inspiration.

ALEX MASNEY, 10, twirled along with the other color guard members during part three of their show, "A New Inspiration."

"You have to have commitment. You can't go half way, you have to give everything and all your effort," said Lige Bostic, senior.

Cross Country, Boys:

A FAMILY THAT WORKS HARD...AND RUNS HARDIER

adjective

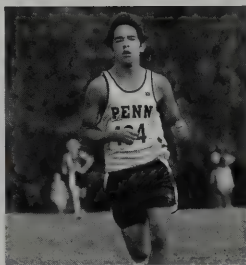

1. directed or proceeding over fields, through woods, etc., rather than on a road or path: a cross-country race.

Tim Koontz, 9

Kerry Hancock, 12

Kenny Hall, 11

Steve Pugia, 9

KYLE OPPMAN, junior, led the JV group at the start of the meet. VARSITY RUNNERS took off in a pack. The team's t-shirts emphasized the importance of running in a pack, with Pac-man characters on the back. STEVE LIRA, junior, kept his pace as he ran the Hokum Karem at Elm Road Elementary. He said the hardest thing about running is taking the first step to push yourself to the limit even through the humidity, hills, and pain. With that, he still loves every minute of cross country. A GROUP of runners relaxed and stretched after they completed their 5K race. Stretching and a cool down run after a race are strongly encouraged, and even expected, by the coaches.

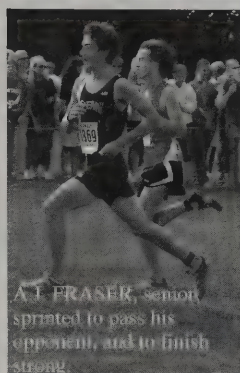

Row 1: John Winston, Ian Fleming, Ben Varner, Zach Johnson, Dylan Jurgensen, Codie Ward, Anthony Ball, Mark Richards, Kolton Skaggs, Tristan Arendt, Kyle Irvin. Row 2: Tim Koontz, Cody Pavasco, Phillip Weldy, Scott Kennedy, Chris Mitchell, Casey Stump, Thomas Bowers, Steve Pugia, Holden Theriault, Tommy Butler, Austin Bailey. Row 3: Paul Watts, Kyle Oppman, Kerry Hancock, Austin Dewey, Louis Cutrona, Jeremy Starkweather, Declan Forberg, Shane McCoy, Devin Duffy, Connor Wright. Row 4: Jake Miller, Alex Borrelli, A.J. Fraser, Jack Adams, Robert Lingenfelter, Thomas Demel, Matt Tadevich, Aaron Long, Steve Lira, Tyler Bailey, Brian Mitchell. Row 5: Assistant Coaches Michael Clements, Annette Crepinsek, Derek Opperman, Head Coach Keri Eby, Assistant Coach Tom Miller

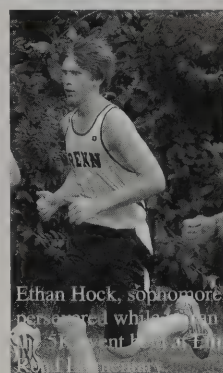

The team got together to chant their "Zigga Zagga" ritual before their meet. This was a tradition at every meet.

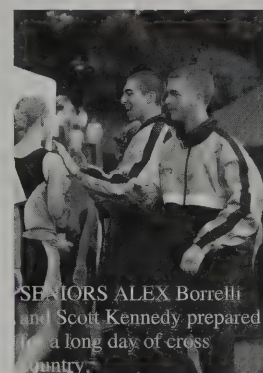

Austin Dewey, freshman, stayed one foot ahead as he crossed the finish line.

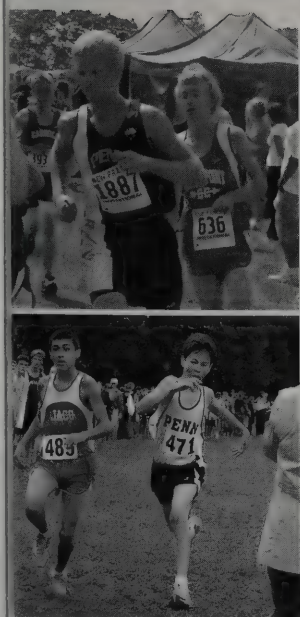

A.J. FRASER, senior, sprinted to pass his opponent, and to finish strong.

Ethan Hock, sophomore, persevered while his opponent went home as Ethan strong.

SENIORS ALEX Borrelli and Scott Kennedy prepared for a long day of cross-country.

The team got together and posed as one big happy family. Throughout the season they grew closer and closer. Senior Kerry Hancock described the team as a lesson in how to be a family. He continued by saying the time spent together brought the team closer.

The boys cross country team made it through Sectionals, but ended their season at Regionals this year. Junior Devin Duffy was the season's top runner with a personal record of 16:57. To prepare for each race Duffy would eat pasta, get a good night of sleep, and listen to Taylor Swift and Miley Cyrus. On race day Assistant Coach Derek Opperman would encourage the boys by saying "Turn the screw, lads."

Cross Country: Girls Running Wild

adjective

1. directed or proceeding over fields, through woods, etc., rather than on a road or path: a cross-country race.

Jenn
Priebe, 9

Brenna
Gonderman, 12

Erin
Yeoman, 12

Florence
Chen, 11

ERIN YEOMAN, senior, watched as her teammates rounded the corner. She was on a break while her partner was on the go. Yeoman has been on the team for four years, and was a senior leader this year. TEAMMATES Tori Zeige, Ally Marlow, and Heather Stevens ran together during the meet against Washington and Marian. The girls are encouraged to stay together while running, if possible. HEATHER STEVENS, junior, and Jen Priebe, freshman, ran side by side as they competed on the hilly course at Elm Road School. Being underclassmen, both girls ran for the varsity squad this year. JESSICA VEGA completed her last lap with other runners trailing. Vega played a part in Penn's win over Marian and Washington.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY Row 1: H. Bursley, J. Caufield, K. Barnes, E. Yeoman, C. Forberg, R. Liu, R. Borrelli, T. Zeige, K. Galat, A. Marlow. Row 2: C. Lapehn, T. Fuller, J. Allison, A. Sun, T. Bruce, H. Stevens, M. Helman, T. Coughlin, B. Landis. Row 3: L. Grochowalski, M. Anthony, M. Raciti, K. Johnson, C. Oliver, A. Day, K. Zakrowski, J. Priebe, A. Huston. Row 4: A. Penland, N. Ditto, B. Butts, M. Anderson, B. Laidig, M. Knaggs, H. Dobay, M. Anderson, M. Paulsen, S. Glassford. Row 5: E. Ponce De Leon, V. Burns, H. Svatos, Assistant Coaches M. Clements, A. Crepinsek, D. Opperman, Head Coach K. Eby, Assistant Coach T. Miller, B. Gonderman, D. Fahey, E. Williams.

HOLLY BURSLEY, sophomore, ran the final stretch of the Hokum Karem meet. Penn hosts this meet every year.

AMELIA HUSTON, freshman, ran through the hilly course at Elm Road. Using her arms, she approached the finish line.

Valerie Burns, 12

Valerie Burns, 12, and Kristina Galat, 10

Monique Knaggs, 11

Kacie Grantham, 11

Bailey Landis, 12

KATIE ZAKROWSKI and Nicole Ditto, senior, ran together with the competition close behind. This three mile course was nothing compared to the miles they run in practice every week.

The Kingsmen girls' cross country team finished their season with conference, sectional, and regional titles. Valerie Burns, 12, claimed the NIC MVP award and was named to the first team. Joining Burns on the first team was sophomore Kristina Galat. Brenna Gonderman, 12, Jen Priebe, 9, and Alissa Penland, were named to the second team, while Erika Ponce de Leon,, and Sophie Glassford, 10, were given honorable mention.

Dance Classic 2010

ARE YOU READY FOR THIS?

dance [dahns]

verb: to move one's feet or body, or both, rhythmically in a pattern of steps, especially to the accompaniment of music.

Nascar

Richard Kruszewski and Rapture Mwaniki, sophomores, of Denise Sanders-Honacker's Dance Performance class, opened the number with their Nascar impersonations.

"Dance the the Music"

Jennifer Wolfe's Dance Choreography class clapped and stomped their feet to their enthusiastic tap dance of the night.

"Mr. Pinstripe Suit"

Half of the Dance One dancers took out their fedoras and suspenders to tap dance to the rhythmic steps of Denise Sanders-Honacker's choreography.

Soccer

The second act of the shows was the much-awaited theme dances. Soccer, along with many other sport-themed dances, was quite the crowd pleasers. The dancers incorporated complex tricks with their soccer balls into their routine.

"RAMALAMA"

The Dance 3 students did not disappoint. With their theatrical performances including a jazz number to "Everytime it Rains," modern. They also performed "Imagine," a ballet piece. "Bust a Move," which was choreographed in the form of tap, was also a crowd pleaser.

STUDENT ASSISTANTS put time and effort into making the dance class a great experience, and help all students to perfect their moves and finish the dance. Adding to all of the dance one and dance two dances, this was their one time to shine in their own dance for the theme section of the Dance Classic. Portraying the part of referees they opened the second act.

"A Drop in the Ocean"

Derek Bacon, senior, lifted his partner, creating levels in their modern dance, which the class choreographed themselves.

Baseball

The Distinguished Dance 3, Advanced Choreography, students entitled themselves "The Unorigionals" in this dance, which was played as a team to show off their theatrical side as they danced as baseball players.

"Kiss from a Rose"

Sam Snyder, freshman, shows how it is done while dancing to her Dance One Modern performance.

Future Farmers of America (FFA) is an organization that prepares high school students for future careers in the agricultural field. The club works with local farms and animals to learn more about what it takes to be in the field. They also are presented with many leadership skills that prepare them for all that they choose to do in the future.

Jordan Beehler, junior, was inducted as the new chapter president of Future Farmers of America. As president, Beehler will preside over all the meetings and projects in the next year. Beehler and Nate Lenig were selected as two of only 20 leaders by the Indiana Department of Education's Student Career & Technical Education staff as conference counselors for the Indiana Foundations in Reaching Excellence (FIRE) Leadership Conference. Over 100 students submitted applications.

Since Future Farmers of America is a tight-knit group, the club first establishes trust with one another through games. The members held up another student and they walked underneath him. The members had to trust that each would be doing his job in order for none of them to get hurt.

At the first home game of the 2009 Kingsmen football season, the boys came out ready to play and proved their desire for greatness by their exciting 7-6 win against rival Ben Davis. Later in the season, the boys fell short of a win against their number one rival, Mishawaka. They lost by 16 points, the first loss to Mishawaka in 28 years. Unfortunately, when given a second chance to beat the Cavemen, they fell short again, ending their season at the sectional championship game with a score of 24-21. The Kingsmen football program still proved to be strong by placing five members of their team on the first team all conference.

SENIOR Kamden Betzer jumped up high to catch his first of many touchdown passes over the season. Off and on the field, Betzer and Melander were a great duo. BEN LARES, 12, plowed down the field against the Kingsmen's biggest competitor, Ben Davis. Out of his four football seasons at Penn, the team has come out winning two of the matches. ALAN SINCLAIR, 11, celebrated with teammate Justin Stanley after Sinclair made the winning field goal kick against Washington High School. The field goal was 45 yards. SENIOR Sam Burden broke through the the "Penn Kingsmen" sign at the start of the Marian game. It's a tradition for the boys to run through the sign at the beginning of each home game.

The Wild Bunch huddled up before the play.

Justin Tidey and Steve Denman, 12, led the Kingsmen out to the field after halftime.

COACH Cory Yeoman celebrated alongside the field at the Ben Davis game after his son, Gary Yeoman, 11, blocked a field goal. He has been part of the Kingsmen football program for 29 years, including the years he played here. RYAN CALLAHAN, 12, threw down a player during the Toledo game in Ohio. This was our first year playing Toledo and Penn came out victorious. JUMPING with excitement was Penn's defensive back, Eric Less, 12. At the seven yard line, Michael Hamm, 11, recovered the football that Ben Davis fumbled. THE WINNING three points at the Washington game scored by Alan Sinclair, 11, was set by senior Kamden Betzer. The team waited patiently for the outcome of the kick.

TRAVIS NETHERCUTT, freshman, jumped up to catch the football, aspiring for another touchdown against the Panthers. The rain in the game didn't stop the freshman team. They came out with a 69-0 win. JORDAN HANCOCK, sophomore, inside linebacker, gave a motivational speech to the defensive line. NICK MALDONADO, sophomore, led the Kingsmen in kicking off against the Washington Panthers. NATE MOSER, junior, took down the Viking's number 11 as he ran toward the end zone. The tackle was successful and it prevented Valparaiso from scoring another touchdown.

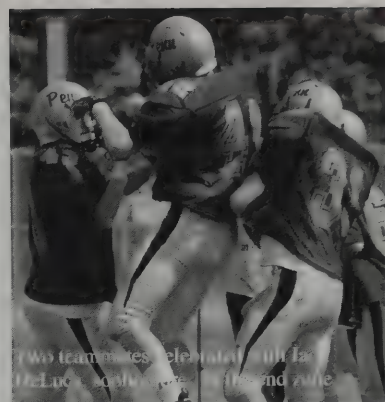

REGGIE ALEXANDER, sophomore, punted the ball in Penn's first game against the Valparaiso Vikings.

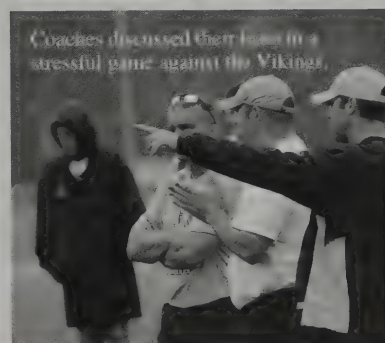

Chad Gindlerberger, sophomore, handed off the ball in hopes of a first down.

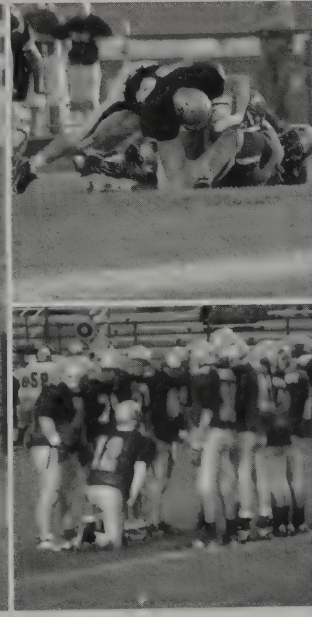

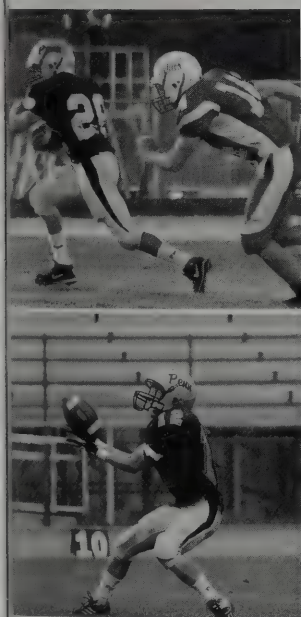

Two teammates celebrated with each other after a successful play.

A player took down a Viking player preventing a touchdown.

Coaches discussed their team in a stressful game against the Vikings.

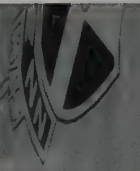

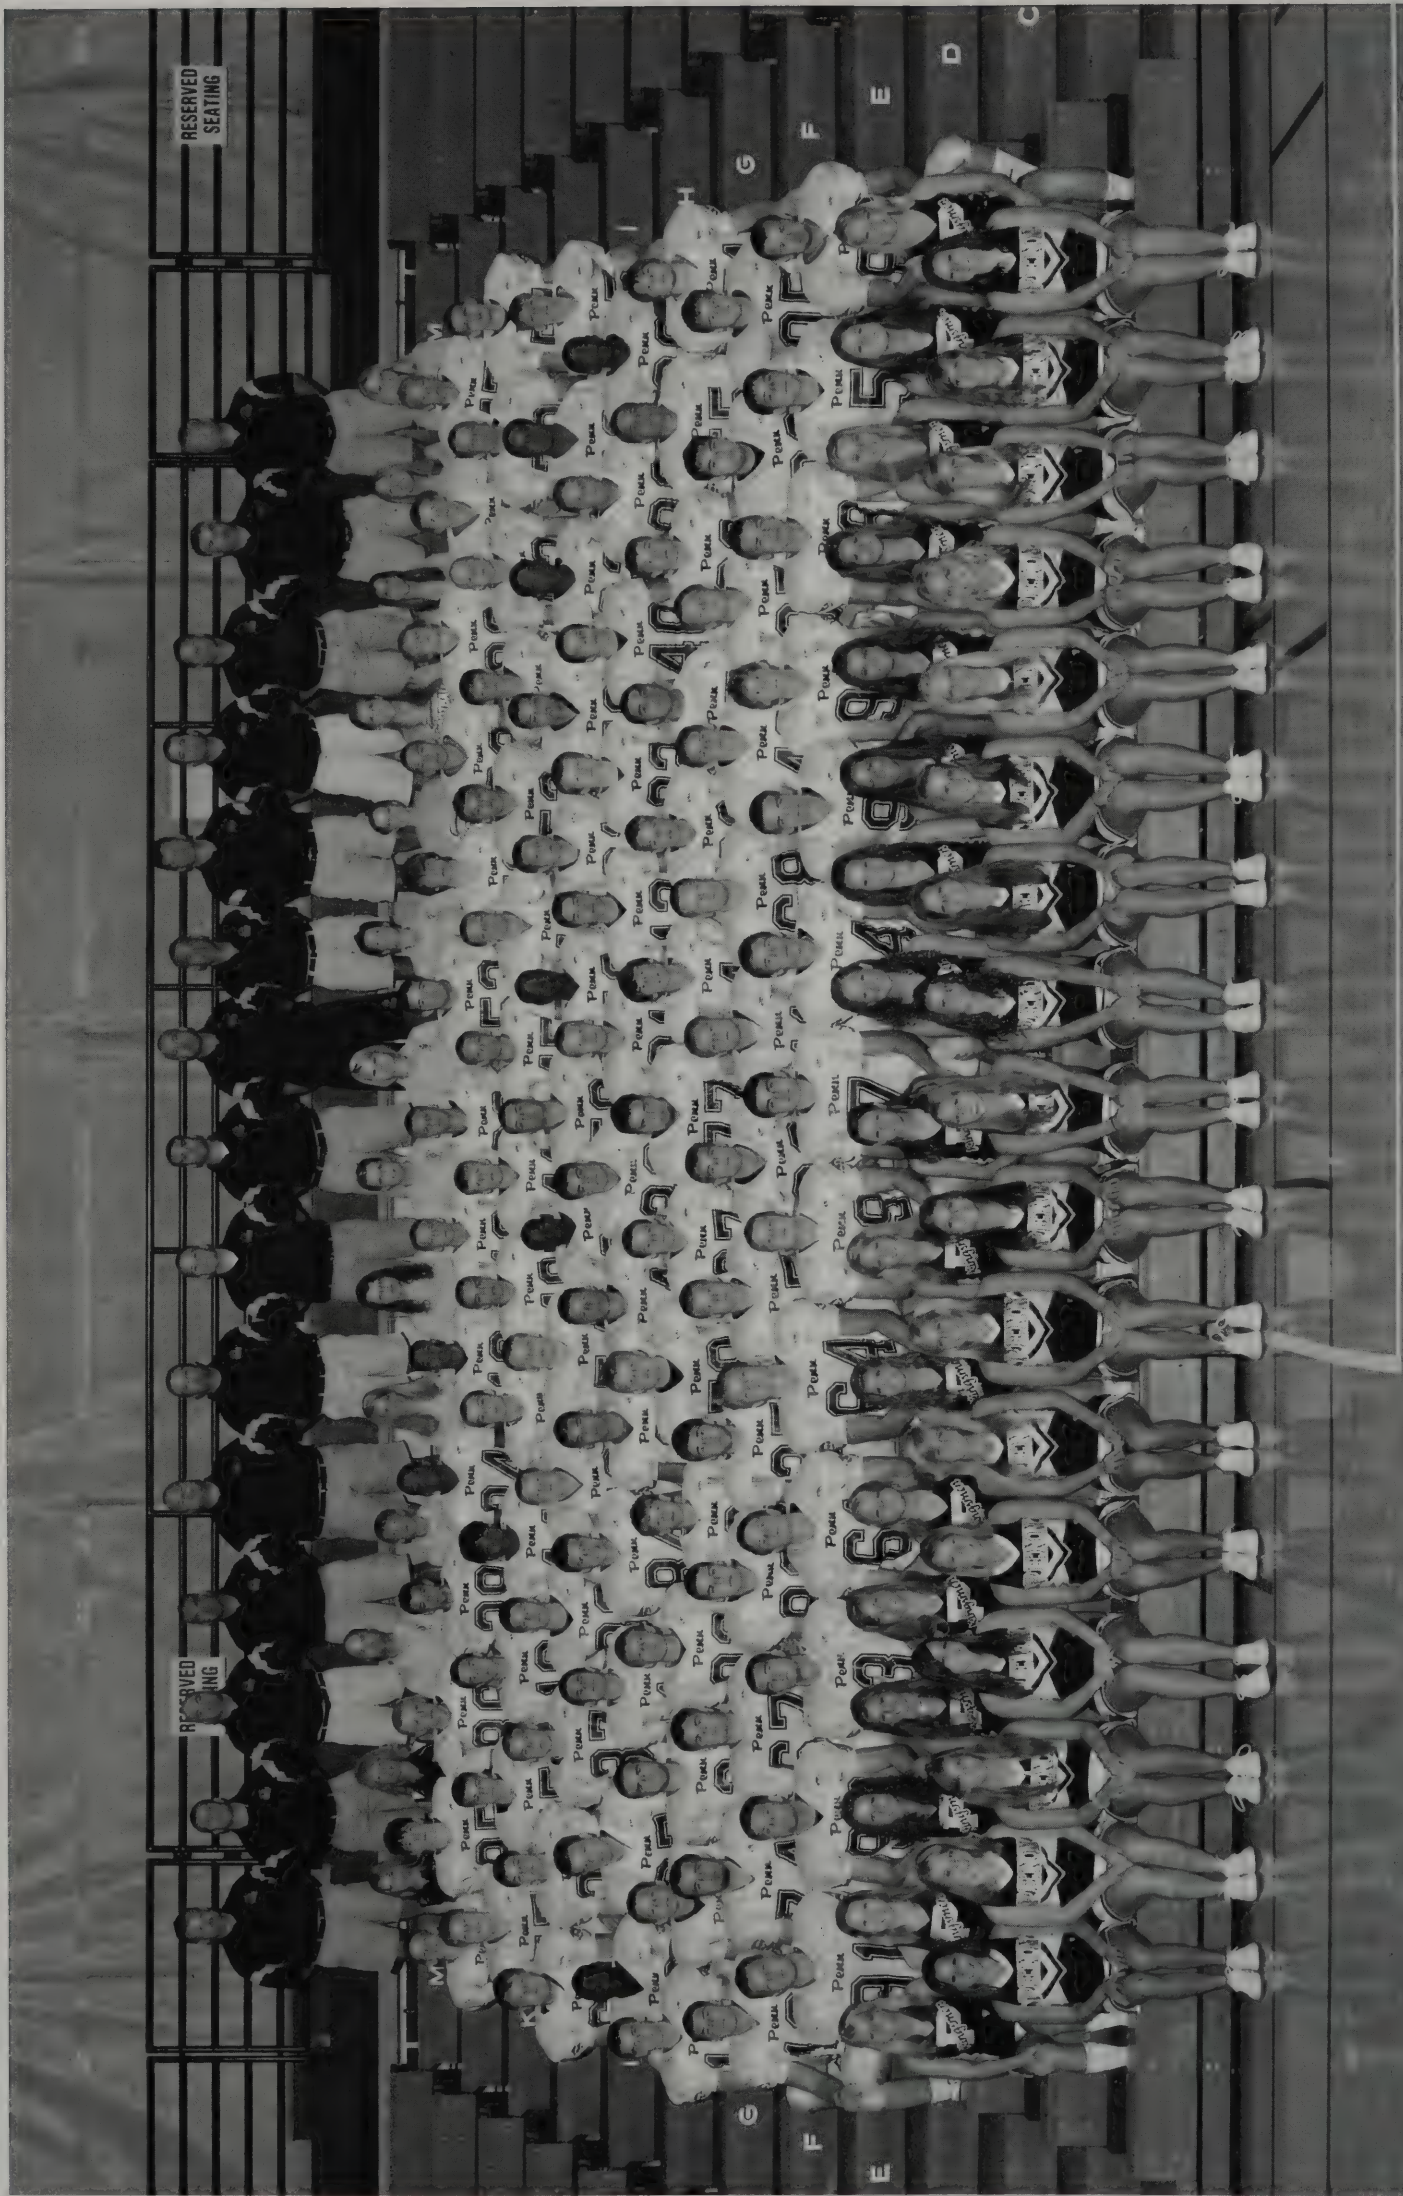

SAM STASZEWSKI, sophomore center, prepared to snap the ball to quarterback Randy Fredrick, junior, while the rest of the offensive line gets set.

Both the Kingsmen freshman football team and junior varsity team came out successful in their season. The freshman team finished their season with a 8-1 record and J.V. finished with a 8-1 record with their only loss to the Valparaiso Vikings. The J.V. team was the only Penn team that came out successful against the Cavemen in the season with a win of 28-0. Both the J.V. and frosh teams played each game with passion and their true colors showed during each game they played. Jamel Davis, sophomore, and Vinnie Rulli, junior, running backs on the J.V. team, led their team to many victories with many touchdowns. Quarterbacks, Randy Fredrick, junior, for the J.V. team and Blake Schneider, freshman, for the freshman team both led their teams with dignity. Overall, the teams played their seasons well and the future of Penn varsity football is bright.

Foreign Exchange

for-eign [fawr-in] pertaining to, or derived from another country

ex-change [iks-cheyj] engaging in bartering, replacing, or substituting one thing for another

stu-dent [stood-nt] one enrolled into school or college: pupil

The most prominent cultural difference was American Eating Habit: "Ranch, on that, really?"

Lucian Butas from Romania takes part in the Penn tradition of the Homecoming tailgate.

Lara, Annika, and Bianca of Germany all decided to venture to America in hopes of coming to an understanding of American culture as well as to have a once in a lifetime opportunity to see a world different than their own.

Marvin Voss, Germany

Yena Choi, South Korea
Bianca Stiffel, Germany

Everyone eventually felt comfortable at Penn but definitely did not feel welcome in the first days of the school.

Karntchana Sangjan, also known as Mae, is a self proclaimed "computer geek."

Adding the final 17 to our 3,470 student body this school year, six countries were represented in the foreign exchange program. Spanning as far as South Korea, the diversity of the students who made the trip were just as unique as the countries they came from. All of the participants wanted to make their own mark on Penn's history. Several participated in many extra curricular activities including lacrosse, swimming, and the new International Club, which was started by Claire-Marie of France.

Tim Van Gerwin has been playing professional ping pong for 10 years.

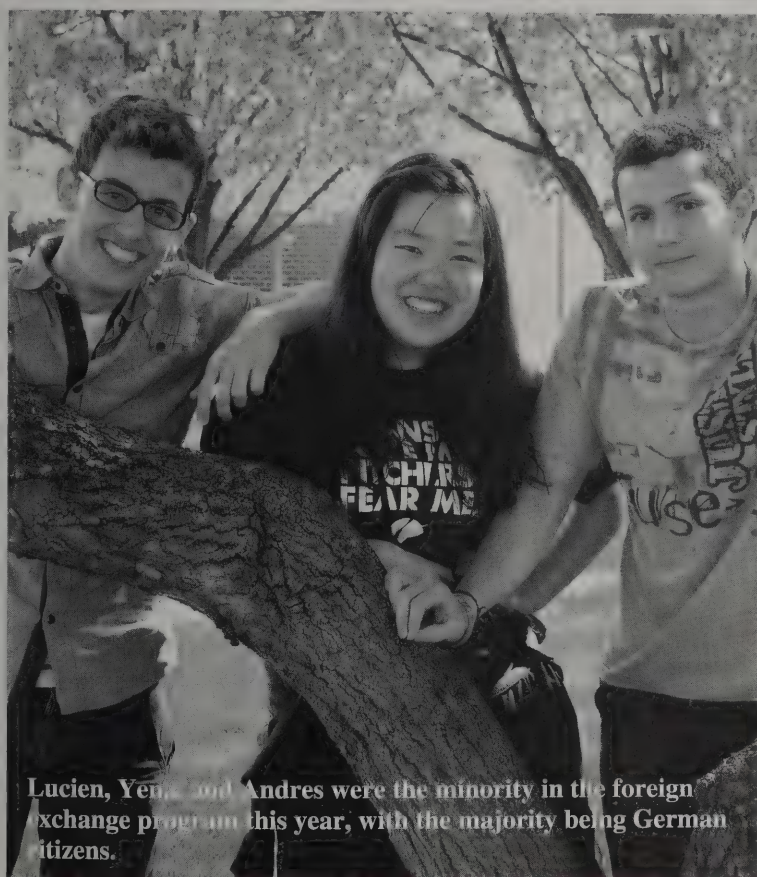

Two of the thirteen students wish to be an American Citizen one day.

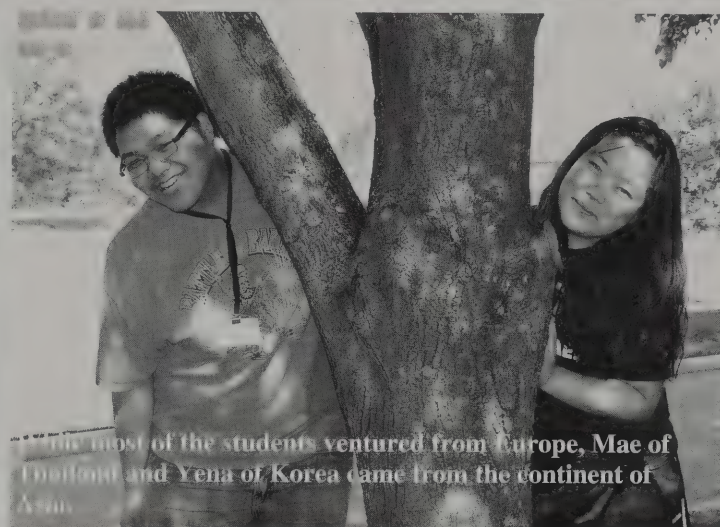

The most difficult American custom they've had to adapt to are the laws.

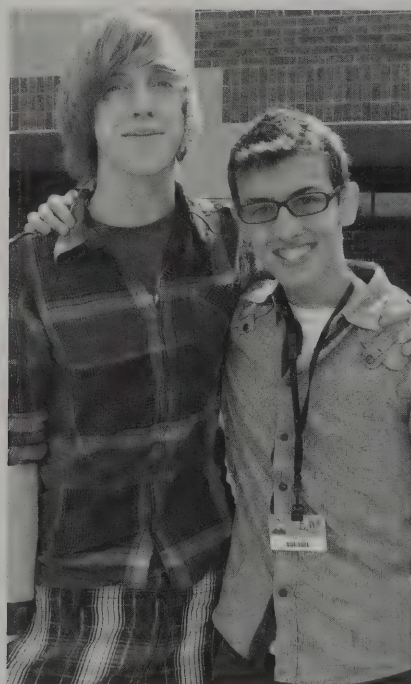

Torben Luedtke, Germany

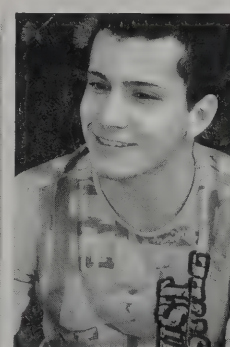

Lucien, Yena, and Andres were the minority in the foreign exchange program this year, with the majority being German citizens.

While most of the students ventured from Europe, Mae of Thailand and Yena of Korea came from the continent of Asia.

Torben Luedtke and Lucian Butas were "brothers" through this life-changing experience.

Andres, Columbia

"I feel like I am in jail. Everything is decided for you here. It is very strange."

The exchange students not only made friends with the many students at Penn High but also became very close with one another.

FRESHMEN sat in a group during study hall to listen to the advice from Freshmen Mentors. STUDENTS from Caelea Armstrong's class carried the pumpkin launching catapult made by Frank Lagambina-Lockwitz. CAITLIN HOWARD, Mckenna Carter, and Alexis Hack worked in the library on homework. ADAM FREITAG climbed up the walls trying to escape from the everyday norm. HALEY BUDD and Nathan Klump worked on English in Jessica Sinka's class.

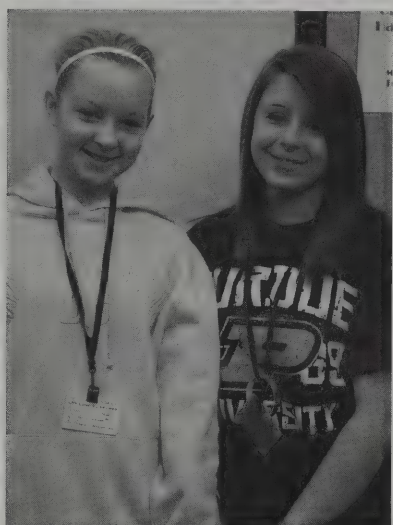

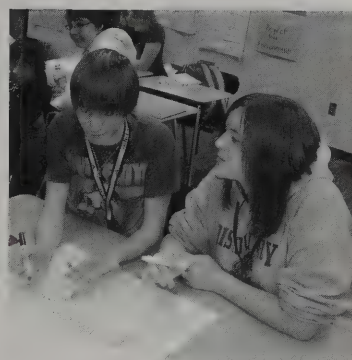

GRANT OUTMAN focused on completing his work. As students come into high school they get more responsibility and work that requires higher discipline. COURTNEY HARJUNG, Alexis Donati, Abbie Luther and Seth Rassi grinned as they gladly took time out of study hall to pose. MCKENZIE STONE and Ashlyn Flowers both said the best part of high school is being with all your friends amongst all the people here. JONATHAN BARCZA showed his enthusiasm for English class. He said as a freshman there are more expectations which sometimes makes getting things done harder. CAELEA ARMSTRONG'S students showed off their tree decorations. The house formed a close bond during the year, and when their classmate Nathan White died, they planned to plant a tree in his memory in front of the school.

Kyle Irvin and Jewelianna Boen discussed ideas regarding their project they worked on together. Freshman Academy teachers created many group projects to initiate interaction between students.

Members of the House of Burgundy survey the aftermath of Pumpkin-a-looza. Amelia Huston said this was a day free of competition; it was just a day for fun to launch pumpkins.

FALL THESPIAN PLAY

The First Journey of Jason Moss

Acting: a drama performed by one or more entertainers.

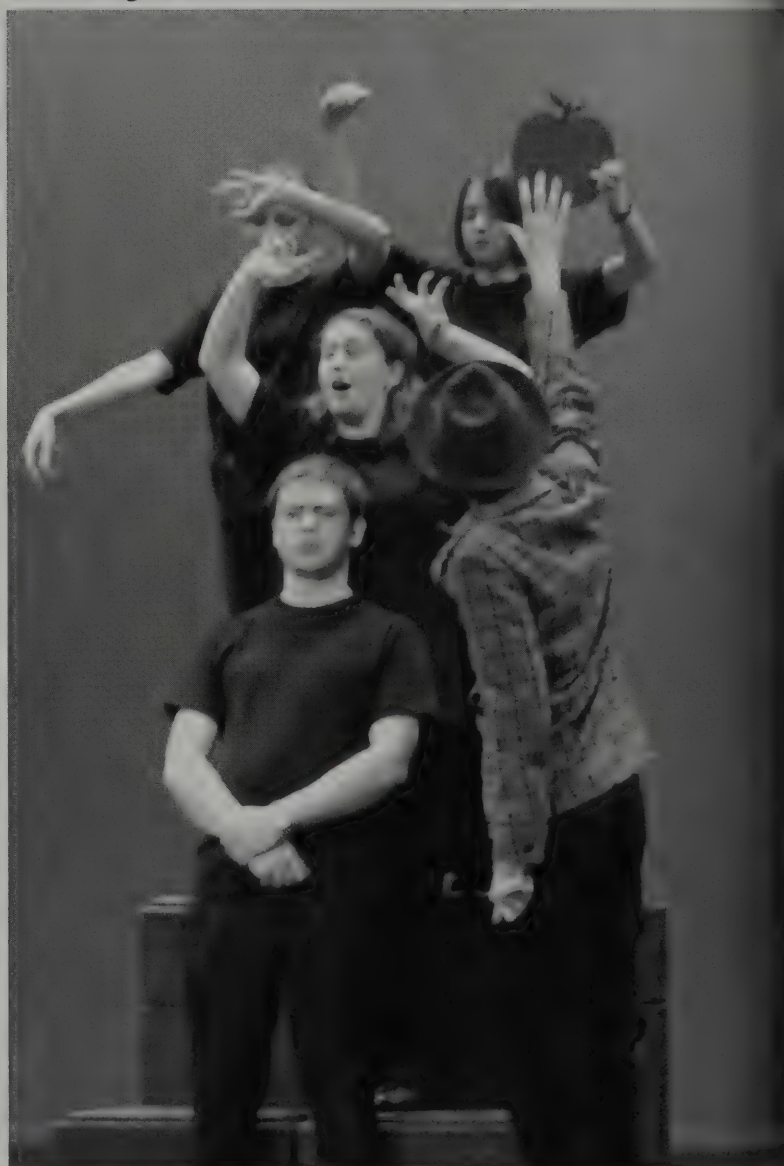

Jason Moss, played by junior Alex Gaby, is a middle-aged financial adviser who has recently become overwhelmed with the boredom in his life in Buddha, Indiana. After a near death accident, Moss decides to add some adventure to his life by pursuing his dream of traveling around the world. As he sets off on his journey he encounters many different people and places. This production was made possible by fifteen different cast members along with thirteen student technicians. The play consisted of very few costumes and props which in return made the cast members responsible for all additional effects besides just their lines. The play was adapted for the stage by Penn theatre director, William Heimann. The original short story, "The First Journey of Jason Moss," was written by Scott Russell Sanders of Bloomington.

GABE HARDY, junior, directed his fellow cast mates in their playing of music. Hardy spends a lot of his time in the theater, performing in almost all of Penn's productions. ALEXIS HORNBACK, junior, was a chicken truck driver, and drove Alex Gaby, junior, to his next destination. Later, Moss shared a passionate kiss with her. During this production the cast relied on each other to make all sound effects in order to have a successful show.

AS ALEX GABY, junior, continued on his journey around the world, he met with Dan Van Doren, junior. Van Doren and Gaby shared stories with each other to pass time while traveling. DUSTIN STUCK, senior, and Gaby discussed all the necessary items Gaby would need to bring on his journey. These items included umbrellas for the rain and hats for enduring all elements.

SOPHOMORES AUSTIN Mason and Josh Nunley and senior Dustin Stuck were all a part of the sailing crew that assisted Gaby on his journey. The sailors and Gaby formed a close bond as they spent their time together while traveling. DUSTIN STUCK provided Gaby with a piggy-back ride. The entire crew had to improvise for transportation methods. CAILIN KENNEDY, junior, and TAYLOR DAVIS, sophomore, conversed on the side of the stage. Many different activities went on at one time during this performance. THE CAST circled up around Alex Gaby as he shared stories of his travels. Gaby met people from all over the world forming friendships with almost everyone he met.

Fun Spread--Twins And Triplets Seeing Double

Twice The Fun!!!

Mikki and Maddi Hiatt, seniors, showed their true feelings for each other as they pretended to choke one another. They are one of the 38 sets of twins and triplets at Penn. Eight sets of twins are seniors.

Nick and Alex Lu, juniors, held up an "L" and a "U" to represent their last name.

Both twins participate in tennis. Eight sets of twins are juniors. The sophomore class boasts two sets of triplets and seven sets of twins.

Leah and Reid Matz, juniors

Cameron Beheyt held Marissa Rassi, while Gavin Beheyt held Makayla Rassi (or is Cameron holding Makayla and Gavin holding Marissa?) They are all part of the freshman class. There are 12 sets of freshmen twins.

Erika Murphey and her twin Chelsea, along with Alyssa Hertel and her twin Shanna, had fun as they jumped from the stair case. All are seniors.

GAPP Program/IN HONORS

program in which a student, typically in secondary or higher education, chooses to live in a foreign country to learn, among other things, language and culture.

SENIOR LAUREN Johnson and junior Nicole Mater enjoyed going to a club in Germany where many German teens go on weekends to dance and hang out with friends. CHECKPOINT CHARLIE was a crossing point in the Berlin Wall that separated Eastern Germany from Western. This checkpoint was not officially taken down until October 1990. This checkpoint was just one of many historical sights the GAPP group saw and experienced.

Los Geht's Nach Deutschland!
(Let's Go to Germany!)

This past summer, Penn's third and fourth year German students took part in the GAPP Program. The GAPP Program is an exchange program during which Penn students stay in Germany for one month, and then German students come to America for one month in October. Throughout the course of their stay, the Penn students took part in many activities such as fairs, parties, and tours that allowed them to immerse themselves in the German culture. This once in a lifetime opportunity gave Penn students the chance to make some great friends and memories that they will treasure as they continue on in life. THE KOLN CATHEDRAL was one that GAPP toured in Cologne, Germany. SPAGHETTI eis, composed of ice cream and strawberry sauce, was one of the group's favorite delicious treats while in Germany.

SENIORS KELLY Kazmierczak, Jack Cleaver, and German student Daniel Padoban enjoyed their evening at an exciting, fun "kirmes" in Hagen. While riding the Ferris wheel, Kazmierczak cried from fright while Cleaver held her. GIRLS FROM the GAPP program circled up for a good bye picture. STACY MCCORMACK, physics teacher, smiled before she enjoyed her giant pretzel she bought in a shop in Munich.

Kelly McKissick, senior, and her classmates visited many castles while in Spain with the IU honors program. Students cannot speak English during the six weeks they are abroad. Senior Kate Bowie was also an IU Honors student in Germany.

"My summer in Spain was amazing! I learned so many new things and now I have a second family halfway across the world!"

Kelly McKissick, senior,
IU Honors Participant

While in Spain Kelly McKissick, senior, stayed with a host family in León, Spain. She lived with her host mammâ and her host brother Roberto. While McKissick lived with her host family she had to do everything as if she was their daughter, including cooking and cleaning up after meals. While McKissick was in Spain she was not allowed to speak a word of English. She said, "It was one of the hardest things to do and for about the first week I could barely communicate with my family. It made you learn the language."

COLIN KOWALSKI, senior, posed with his German buddy. All the students had lots of fun that day laughing with all their new friends. TAYLOR BANAS, senior, hangs out with his new German friend. Both Kowalski and Banas were being welcomed by their host partner in Germany.

Before the GAPP students departed back to America the German students called in a favor to the bus system to have the buses that took our students back to the airport to say "Good bye GAPP 2009" as a farewell gesture to their new friends.

Kelly McKissick, senior, at the "Plaza de Toros," a bull fighting arena. The arena was right across the street from McKissick's apartment where she stayed with her host family in León, Spain.

The Penn GAPP students stopped to smile on an escalator in a coal mine factory and museum in Essen. Kelly Kazmierczak, senior, holds her trusty umbrella that she carried with her everywhere. While the students were in Germany it rained every single day, but that did not stop the GAPP students from going out and seeing everything they wanted to see and having a good time. It did not rain in the coal mine.

Golf: Boys' Khakis and Polos

a game in which clubs with wooden or metal heads are used to hit a small, white ball into a number of holes, usually 9 or 18, in succession, situated at various distances over a course having natural or artificial obstacles, the object being to get the ball into each hole in as few strokes as possible.

Who's yo caddy?

THE SEASON kicked off to a good start with a one to one record, winning the second match against Valparaiso in which senior Kyle Burrow led with a score of 310-303. JOE BELLA, junior, led the anticipated match against the St. Joseph Indians with a even-par of 36, making this the third win for Kingsmen in the past three seasons with a margin of 161-153. OCCASIONALLY, DR. Jerry Thacker, superintendent, would visit matches. Sophomore Austin Patterson said, "I like when Dr. Thacker visits because it shows not only me, but also the other guys, that Penn is backing us up and cheering us on when we walk onto that course." PENN HAD a wonderful closing chapter before going off to State, with a overall record of 16 wins and a mere four losses.

GOLF (in alphabetical order) Brooks Austin, Joseph Bella, Robert Brown, Kyle Burrow, Thomas Butler, Cameron Haramia, Aaron Monk, Austin Patterson, Caelen Rohan, James Schwartz, Grant Spiritoso, Bradford Walter.

COACH JIM GARRETT was known throughout the season as a motivational and positive person for the guys to look up to. WHEN ASKED what he thought of the season so far he responded, "We had a good start this year and I believe in every one of those guys. I'm sure we will finish strong!" THE GUYS made it as far as the State Tournament where they competed with the elite of the golf teams throughout the state. Penn took their 8-0 NIC record and scored a 303.

THE BIGGEST tip any golf player could give you is, "Golf is the hardest sport to get good at, so you have to train yourself to remain calm especially under all that pressure." THAT WAS something the Junior Varsity played by during their rough season. ALTHOUGH THEY didn't have a good start, their scores improved greatly towards the end of the season with losses by a margin of merely two points. THE SKILLS and techniques of JV guys had also advanced, which will benefit them the years to come.

JUNIOR JOE Bella awaited patiently as the teams gathered to move on. THE VARSITY boys took time out of the rush of excitement when they had earned the title as the Flo Troeger Champs. ROBBIE BROWN, senior, hit a strong one out of bunker. Brown was named to first team NIC. CAMERON HARAMIA, senior, stood and watched as his powerful drive flew across the course. Haramia, along with Grant Spiritoso, was named to second team NIC. Joe Bella and Kyle Burrow earned honorable mention. Penn tied with St. Joseph for first place in the NIC.

a game in which clubs with wooden or metal heads are used to hit a small, white ball into a number of holes, usually 9 or 18, in succession, situated at various distances over a course having natural or artificial obstacles, the object being to get the ball into each hole in as few strokes as possible.

SOPHOMORE SAMANTHA Zultanski and senior Haley Van Es walked to the next hole.

The girls' golf season was a success. In the past season, they went on to win the NIC and sectional rounds. They won NIC 8-0 and placed tenth in state. Sophomore Deanna Song was this year's most valuable golfer. She was also first team NIC along with seniors Maggie Willenbrink and Haley Van Es. Second team girls were sophomore Katie Zielinski and junior Deanne DeKeizer. Song was surprised that she was MVP because Van Es and Willenbrink were also first team. Deanna first started playing golf five years ago because her dad was an avid golfer and encouraged her along. She also plays tennis, which she decided against here at Penn thinking that she would be better at golf. With the MVP award in her name, it looks as though she made the right choice.

Quotes of the season: "We were extremely successful, and the season went really well. Golf is a way to help you deal with stress and frustrations; it is a game of life." Deanne DeKeizer, 11; "We are better singers than Taylor's wife," Margaret Willenbrink, 12; "We're Penn, you're not." Haley Van Es, 12. She said this because Coach Garrett would always say this to lift their spirits, and make them work harder. "Honey mustard," Deanna Song, 10; "Baby, don't you know, don't you know, don't you know?" Taylor Walter, 11. The team always sang this Jay Sean song together.

REMY McCAY, senior defenseman, stood ready to receive a pass at one of his Friday night games. McCay was team captain, due to the dedication and leadership he displayed throughout the past four years. AUSTIN PEDUE, junior defenseman, fought off the Marian Knights to pass the puck to one of his teammates in hopes of scoring. Pedue, along with his teammates, continuously held a strong defense against the competition, including some of their top rivals: the St. Joseph Indians and Marian Knights. SENIORS SEAN Hohl, Remy McCay, Austin Steenbeke, Takuya Shinagawa, and Alex Banashak sprayed, or "kicked up some ice," before coming to a stop in front of the net. SEAN HOHL, senior, skated up ice with the puck, avoiding the defender nearby. ZACHARY HISS, sophomore, worked to get by the defender without being checked into the board before passing the puck.

PENN FORWARDS Alex Banashak and Connor Walsh and defenseman Remy McCay earned first-team all-Michiana High School Hockey League honors. Penn was League champions, but fell short of going to State.

Connor Walsh won MVP; Matthew Hummel was Rookie of the Year; and Chad Dimos was Most Improved Player. Alex Banashak won the Mary Morris Award.

RADLEY SIEVERS, freshman, and Remy McCay, senior, led on a pressing four check against the Marian Knights. These two were strong forwards for the Kingsmen, creating many offensive opportunities for the team. CAPTAIN Remy McCay dreamt of leading a "flying V" own the ice, while waiting on a face off. THE MARIAN Knights were a good competitor on and away from the puck. SENIOR AUSTIN STEENBEKE and a Marian player engaged in a foot race to the puck. JUNIOR ALAN SINCLAIR waited on a break out pass, looking to get the team own the ice, in hopes of scoring a goal. MATT HUMMEL, freshman, gained control of a break away pass against the Marian Knights.

The Marching Kingsmen

SENIOR GIRLS got together to show off their personally designed togas on Toga Day. This tradition is looked forward to by many since freshman year. MICHIGAN WAS a popular choice for college sports day. Senior Lindsay Meekhof sported Wolverine attire to represent her favorite college team that Monday.

THE DRUMLINE was, as always, a crowd pleaser. The Marching Kingsmen did their part by pumping up Penn fans. FOOTBALL PLAYERS got together at the pep rally for a picture under the Penn Kingsmen sign. Many attributed the Kingmen's win to Alan Sinclair, a junior who kicked the winning field goal with a minute and twenty two seconds left in the game.

SENIOR FOOTBALL players got pumped up for the big game at the outdoor Pep Rally.

THE GIRLS were outnumbered on Homecoming court this year. The seniors were nominated by the student body for King and Queen: McKenzie Shenk, Karter Kistler, Molly Pennington, Alex Hendershot, Meghan Hart, Gary Downey, Elaine Gizewski, Evan Estep, Conor Dorgan, Holley DeSchepper, and Derek Bacon. In the end Hendershot and Shenk were crowned King and Queen.

THIS YEAR senior Collin Moody and junior Paul Wolverton designed the yellow student section shirts making Friday's blackout a bright out.

SENIOR CAPTAIN spirits Aaron King, Connor Shearer, Britley Burke, and Joey Malott pregame at the Student Council tailgate.

What It's All About...

"We got spirit, yeah, yeah, we got spirit!" Students from all grades united to show school spirit all week and bring home a win for the Kingsmen. A vast majority of the students participated in the dress up days to show their spirit.

Middle School Throwback

The Tuesday of Homecoming week was "Middle School Throwback Day." The freshmen found this day easy to participate in because they had yet to store away their middle school clothing.

Mismatch Day

Junior Gera Arnold struck a pose in math class, showing off her mismatch get-up. Along with a fuzzy striped scarf, Arnold also sported a crazy patterned tank and lots of beads. She stuck out amongst the crowd as one of the few students who went all out on this day.

Nerd / Toga Day

Sophomore Junior Moore closely resembled the infamous Steve Erkle. His look was complete with embroidered suspenders, a bow tie, taped glasses, and our personal favorite: high-water trousers. White socks and black shoes gave his look an especially nerdy appearance.

Blackout!

Due to tradition, the Friday of homecoming week was deemed a "blackout." Students were encouraged to wear black from head to toe, making the student section appear to be a black hole. During half time the student section was given glow sticks provided by the Student Council. Juniors Marissa Ryan, Nicole Westra, and Leah Matz held theirs in the air as they cheered on the Kingsmen.

Jazz a la Mode

SNAPPIN' TO THE BEAT

a style of music generally marked by intricate, propulsive rhythms, polyphonic ensemble playing, improvisatory, virtuosic solos, melodic freedom, and a harmonic idiom ranging from simple diatonicism through chromaticism to atonality.

Sophomore Robert Franken piped out some notes on his sax during the concert. The saxophone is a typical jazz instrument and there were many sax players featured at the concert.

Jazz band director Bill Leather conducted multiple saxophonists during their rendition of a jazz piece.

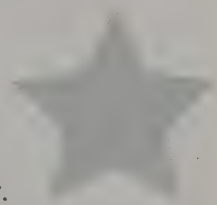

Junior Tony Villano kept the beat on his drum set.

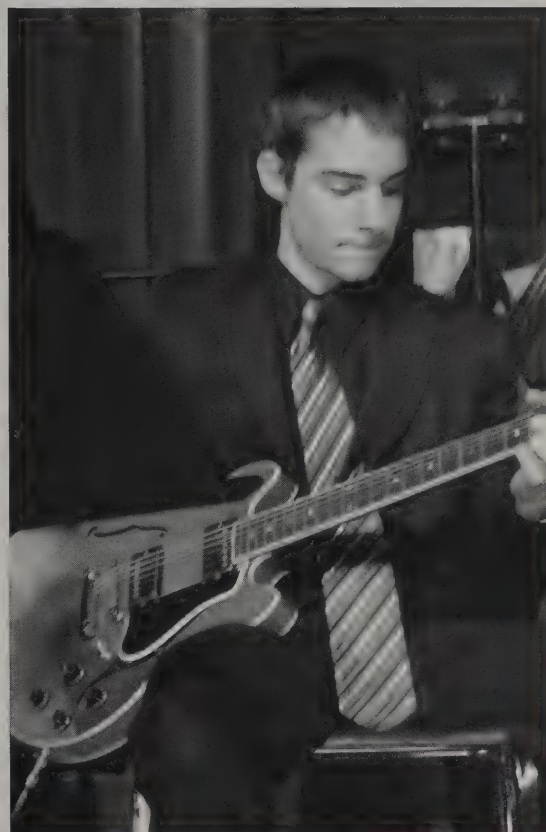

Soloist Zach Harman, senior, was a member in the After School Jazz Orchestra, also called ASJO.

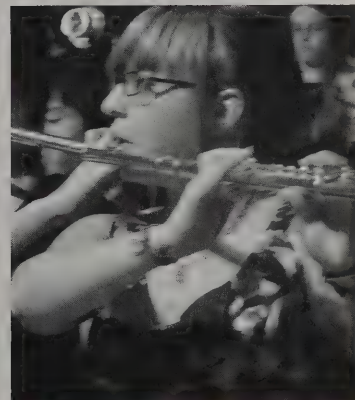

Junior Jeff Zenger strummed his bass guitar. Zenger is a member of the Advanced Jazz Ensemble.

Junior Blair Fanslow was a member of the Advanced Jazz Ensemble. Fanslow played a solo at the event.

Senior Conor Dorgan kept his eye on his sheet music during a song the jazz band played at the concert.

Junior Allison Miller played the flute during a jazz piece. The flute is a less common woodwind found in jazz music.

Lacrosse: Girls'

"Trust. Love. Commitment."

A team of dedicated, determined and committed girls who work together to score goals and defend the opposing team from shooting & scoring. It is the fastest growing sport in America.

Nicole Harkness, 12

Kate Bowie, 12

Libby Campbell, 11

THE BLACK squad huddled together as they chanted "K-I-N-K-I-N-K-I-N-G-S-M-E-N-M-E-N-KINGSMEN ARE THE BEST!" to get pumped up for their game against Westfield, which was their first win of the season, 11-10. JUNIOR SHANNON Solliday, sophomore Caitlin Vaughan, and freshman Sarah Kiefer held their sticks high as they were playing defense against Park Tudor. Kiefer was a first year player who described lacrosse as a challenging, but fun sport. She said she enjoyed getting to know people she would not have otherwise met if it weren't for this amazing opportunity.

Junior Rachel Gadson and freshman Rachel Ruoff kept their heads on a swivel to see the ball and the girl they were guarding. Gadson said teamwork is very important in lacrosse.

Senior Korey Keiser and sophomore Katie Riley both held their sticks high as this is key to play good defense.

Freshman Stephanie Jordan stayed one step ahead of her opponent as she caught the ball. She characterized the team as classy, hardworking, but lots of fun.

Sophomore Taylor Shearer played defense on a Park Tudor girl.

Before games the team usually gathers at someone's house, but here they decided to have a team picnic. At the pasta dinners the entire team has a chance to bond, have fun, and get to know each other better. Pasta dinners give the girls a chance to relax before going out the next day to play hard and compete.

The team's season began in mid-March and ran until mid-May. Throughout this time period the black squad played a total of nineteen games, with the gold squad playing fifteen. For both squads, this was a year of building as the team welcomed many new players this year. The squads always put up a big fight and would never let up even if they fell behind. It is all a part of the team's passion for the game and the desire to win.

SOPHOMORE ALYSSA Cox shadowed her opponents stick so that she could block a pass. JUNIOR MALIKA Graham shot a free-throw goal against the Westfield Clovers. Junior Kayzie Priebe stood behind goal to get the rebound. THE GOAL squad huddled together to talk strategy before their game with the St. Joseph Indians. JUNIOR SHELBY White carried the ball up the field avoiding Cmel's defense and looked to pass to junior Libby Campbell. AFTER AN intense game, the Gold squad lined up to shake hands with Clover. This is routine for every game, regardless of the score. But in this case, the Gold squad came out with a win in the last seconds of the game.

Juniors Alyssa Callahan and Monica Raciti and senior Brenna Gonderman posed for a picture after completing their trial at the Elkhart Courthouse. They were members of the Mock Six team which was ranked number one in Indiana with an undefeated season.

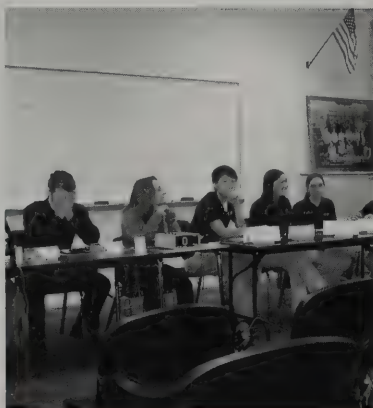

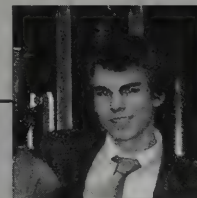

Juniors Casey Grantham, Miguel Lopez and Mercedes Anthony, seniors Nick Fischbach and Ian Sperry, and freshman Ajith John made up the Attractive Nuisance team, which was ranked fifth in the state. They also competed at the Elkhart trial.

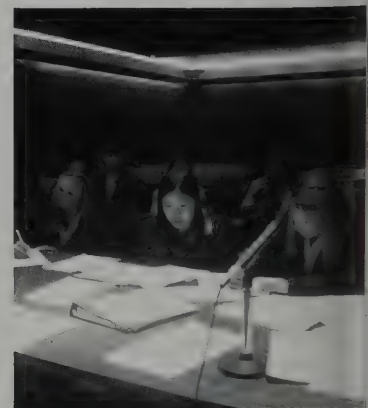

MOCK TRIAL Row 1: Krystina Hullinger, Samantha Harvey, Nicole Weame, Florence Chen. Row 2: Sam Cripe, Shereen Antony, Oswin Chackochan, Drev Tate, Talia Qiao, Ajith John.

Mock Trial & Model UN

"If you like to argue, and you like to be right...Mock Trial is right for you."

Caelea Armstrong

Civil Society

"Peace can only exist where there is understanding, and in Penn Model U.N. we develop skills for better communication and a deeper level of tolerance for others. I hope that one day we can use what we learn in Model U.N. to further the cause for peace throughout the world."

President Sabina Dimian, 11

"In Model UN we learn to be the best delegates we can be. It's an excellent learning experience, and we have fun with it!"

Vice President Molly Kelsey, 11

"I loved meeting new people and just having fun with my friends."

Nick Lu, 11

Model UN: Gathering of high school students who emulate the United Nations.

"If there is to be peace in the world,
There must be peace in the nations."

-- Lao Tzu

MODEL UN Row 1: Haylie Lobeck, Sasha Ali. Row 2: Laura McKenzie, Molly Kelsey, Sabina Dimian, Prasham Shah, Mohan Berg. Row 3: Charles Xu, Lucian Butas, Sheena Shah, Nick Lu.

Sophomore Sheena Shah and senior Haylie Lobeck took a break from their competition at Illinois University. Lobeck tried to narrow down a favorite memory of the season, but it was simply impossible for her because she said the whole season was her favorite memory.

Sponsor Laura McKenzie, junior Mohan Berg, and Miss Voss stood outside Michigan State University, where one of the two competitions of the season was held this year.

MUSICAL

Singing and Dancing

[myoo-zee-cul] noun: a play or motion picture in which the story line is interspersed with or developed by songs, dances, and the like

Bela Zangler (Gabe Hardy, junior) and Bobby Child (Johnny Yoder, senior) mirror each other while under the influence and singing "What Causes That?" Bobby was impersonating Bela.
The Follies Girls dance to "I've Got Rythm" in an attempt to save the Gaiety Theater in Deadrock, Nevada.

The Follies Girls and the Cowboys rehearse a number for the show, "Slap That Bass." Jordan Whitaker, sophomore, learned how to play the upright bass for the play.

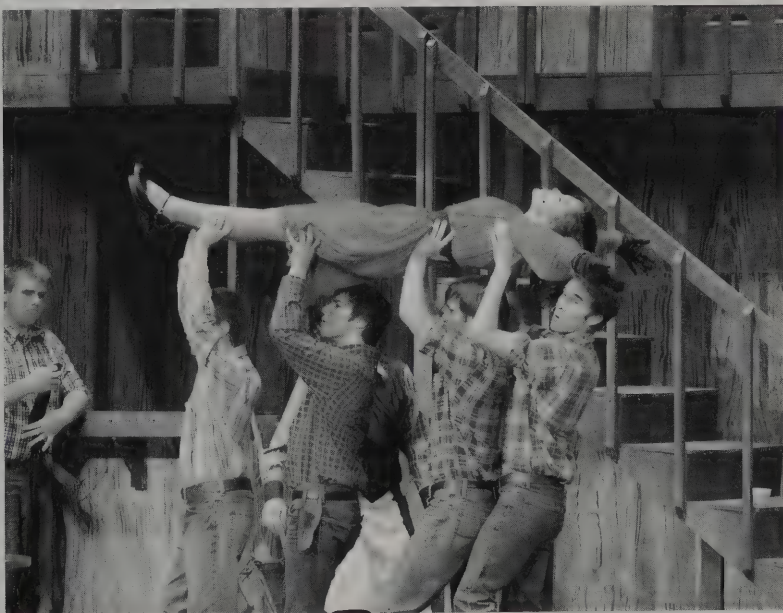

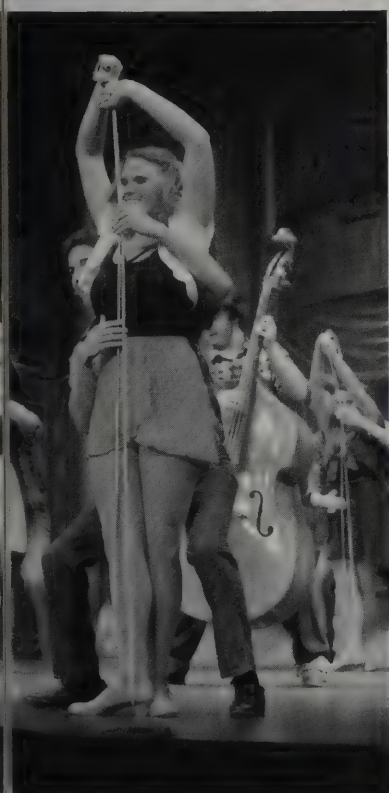

Lank Hawkins (Aaron Busenbark, senior) looks exasperated as he listens to Irene Roth (Kayla Miller, senior) confront Johnny's mother, Mrs. Lottie Child (Cambrae Reedstrom, senior) and Polly's father, Everett Baker (Carmelo Rosario junior) with her opinions about the plan to save the Gaiety Theater.

When things were looking bad for the Gaiety, Bobby (Johnny Yoder, senior) waved a flag and Polly (Sarah Holaway, senior) saluted at the end of "Stiff Upper Lip," a song where Bobby tried to get everyone fired up about saving the theater. The flag-waving finale was an allusion to a scene in the musical Les Miserables, which is an allusion to a painting, Liberty Leading the People, by Eugene Delacroix.

Scott Kennedy and Dustin Stuck, seniors, tap danced as the Follies Girls held up the planks. They then somersaulted across the stage.

Elaine, a Follies Girl (Allie Minegar, junior) holds her "strings" tight as Wyatt, a cowboy (Eric Ulrickson, senior) "plucked" them during "Slap That Bass."

Bobby's fiancée, Irene (Kayla Miller, senior) came to Deadrock to get Bobby, but fell in love with Lank Hawkins, the saloon owner who wanted the Gaiety to close. Cowboys carried her aloft in "Naughty Baby."

Saloon owner Lank Hawkins (Aaron Busenbark, senior) confronted Bobby Child (Johnny Yoder, senior) who is impersonating Bela Zangler, the Follies owner. Child is trying to save the Gaiety, which Hawkins wants to take over, and win Polly's heart, as well.

Every year NHS organizes a blood drive giving students the opportunity to donate blood. Senior Nicole Harkness prepared to donate. There were 66 units donated which constitutes saving 198 lives.

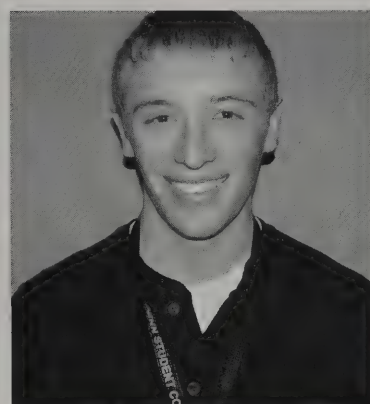

Senior Jen Hilfinger tutored Eddie Rach, junior, on a weekly basis in math. Many NHS members were assigned students to tutor.

Student Council

noun: stood-nt koun-suhl

Student Council president Mckenzie Shenk, 12, won Homecoming queen and classmate Alex Hendershot won King. Student Council organized both Fall and Winter Homecoming weeks to pump up the students for a specific football and basketball game. Patrick Adkins, 10, has been an active member of Student Council since his freshman year.

HOMECOMING T-SHIRT distribution was chaotic, with sizes, names and grades all mixed together. BRICE STETTLER, 11, and Jordan Noel, 12, pause during a committee meeting. MEREDITH LEE, 10, sported her Student Council lanyard. The lanyards allowed Council members to be recognized so students could offer ideas to them. SOPHOMORES EVAN McSorley and Katie Inabnit were both active StuCo members. Most who attended the Fall Ball dressed in costumes. Over the course of the year, the Student Council worked hard to satisfy the needs of the student body and acted as a bridge with the administration to help guide students and make our school better for everyone. Student Council is in charge of homecoming, pep rallies, and other events.

The seniors of Student Council got together for a group shot during a meeting. Many of the seniors have been student council members since their freshman year. Senior representatives were Andrew Bushnell as president, Nikki Hubbard as vice president, Kathleen Keller as secretary, and Sadie Holbert as treasurer.

Seniors Tyler Barnum and Mckenzie Shenk sported matching Homecoming shirts during spirit week. Shenk was the president over the entire council and Barnum was the treasurer. Both put in a lot of time and effort to organize events and meetings.

O is for Oke and Orchestra

When the orchestra traveled to Walt Disney World over spring break, they played by a small pool of water, so all their selections had "water" in the title, including Deep Purple's rock anthem, "Smoke on the Water."

Alex Hake, senior, and Aimee Garthus, junior, bowed in tandem.

Tony Villano, junior percussionist, waited for his cue, surrounded by a semi-circle of kettle drums.

Cellists, viola players and violinists in advanced orchestra played Led Zeppelin's "Kashmir." "I loved playing 'Kashmir,'" said Harry Lentz, junior. "Yesterday was the most fun I've ever had playing."

Michael Leathers, senior, played the Australian instrument, the didgeridoo.

Stephen High, senior, produced a rich, low sound on the oboe.

Orchestra played several original pieces composed by senior Brad Hipsher. Director Lavon Oke said, "Brad has the commitment and skills that will make him successful."

Malika Graham focused on making bracelets for her peers. Dressed perfectly for the occasion, Graham sported a sundress, jean jacket, face paint, aviators, and a flower in her hair.

The crowd went wild as Alex Gregory acted as lead singer of his group. Classmates clapped and sang along, never forgetting to show the peace sign every now and then.

1. Charles Eggbeer and his bandmates warmed up before their performance.
2. Caitlyn Kiraly and Quashaun Hunter supported and spoke out about Black Power.

3. Heather Stevens and Carly Dunn clapped and sang along to a peer's performance.
4. Jeffrey Zenger and Daniel Flynn performed with their band, "Made of Awesome," Pennstock style. They played music of the band Chicago.

Taylor Adkins and Colee Hirschler

Shannon Bridges, Becca Coleman, Halie Gordon, Katie McDonough, and Ellen Kjoller enjoyed the performance.

An Aquarian Exposition 2 Days of Peace & Music

Pennstock is an event for the junior US History classes to experience, recreate and relive the epic music and art fair that was known as The Woodstock Festival of 1969.

Speak Out!

Students' voices were heard as they protested for peace and equal rights. Among the crowd there were Women's Rights activists and people supporting Black Pride.

Perform!

Alex Gregory flashed a peace sign and his belly before he went up to perform. Many students, solo or in groups, sang songs and danced similarly to how youth did at Woodstock and performed for their peers at Pennstock.

Create!

A group of girls created a women's rights booth and passed out flyers and signs to students passing by. The girls also provided string for students to make bracelets.

Dress Up!

Hanna Osthimer sported a jean jacket, Bohemian sundress, and feather headband in order to recreate a typical get up from the '60s. It was common to see students wearing afros, braided hair, bandanas, aviator sunglasses, and tie-dye!

Play: Fall Studio Theater

CALLING all CAST and CREW

play: noun
a dramatic composition or piece; drama.

Chateau La Roach

The fall production of Chateau La Roach contained a cast which range from seniors to freshmen. The story line included an owner of the hotel Johnny Yoder, and his wife, Kayla Miller, both seniors, who deliver their lines in perfect French accents. The plot included many obstacles including a great amount of cockroaches and the arrival of a health inspector. Their solution for the bug problem was junior Abby Murray Vachon. She played an eccentric exterminator and stirred up a lot of drama for the guests of the hotel.

JOHNNY YODER, senior, intimidated his staff in the hotel lobby. As the hotel manager, Yoder faced many stressful situations. CAITLIN KENNEDY, junior, and her new husband, Daniel Murakowski, freshman, chose Chateau La Roach as their honeymoon destination. Little did they know the events that would take place. ABBY MURRAY-VACHON, junior, "the exterminator," entertained the crowd with her upbeat role. Along with all the Penn performances, Murray-Vachon continued her acting outside of school as well. THE STAFF lined up as the manager gives them direction. They waited with anticipation for the soon arriving guests which included a health inspector.

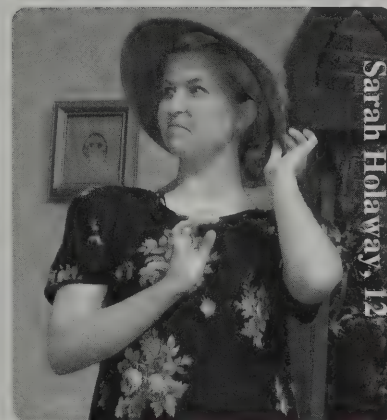

The cast sat in the hotel lobby as they waited for the local exterminator. Each employee had their own idiosyncrasies, whether running the elevator like a maniac (Jerek Bacon, 12) or swinging open doors with deadly force (Sam Dixon, 11).

Play: Children's Winnie the Pooh

a dramatic composition or piece performed from a collection of children's stories (1926) by A. A. Milne.

Winnie the Pooh is one of the most popular and well-known children's stories ever written. A new face to Penn's drama program, Justin Holland, playing Christopher Robin, took on his first major role in a non-original Penn production. Along with his cast mates, Piglet, Eeyore, Roo, Kanga, Owl, Rabbit, and a few others, the play was a huge success. This play was brought to the attention of director, William Heimann, with the hopes of having a full audience of children.

Katy Kachmarik, 11, played Piglet, the character that is timid and scared of everything! She has been in many plays, but this was her first major role.

Lindsey Chrisman, 10, played Owl, the only character able to read, write, and tell everyone Kanga had poison in a brown bottle.

Justin Hissey, 11, played Eeyore, a sad, depressed donkey. He has starred in a lot of Penn's productions.

Derek Bacon, 12, is an active member in Penn's drama program. He played Winnie the Pooh, an upbeat, positive, character.

Justin Holland, 12, sat as Christopher Robin and listened to his father, Alex Gaby, 11, begin a tale about Winnie the Pooh.

ain Kennedy, 11, played Roo, an energetic young kangaroo who was carefully ached over by her mother, Kanga, played by Kerry Bunnell.

Justin Holland, 12, played Christopher Robin. He held up a fake gun and snapped a shot at a fake balloon holding up his made up friend, Winnie the Pooh

RABBIT Kathleen Janosik tried to explain the new "monster" coming to live in the woods with them to Pooh, Derek Bacon, 12, and Piglet, Katy Kachmarik, 11.

CREATING a train, the rabbits played by Taylor Davis, 10, Caitlin Mammolenti, 11, Laura Drew, 11, and Ani Johnson, 12, spent their time in the forest playing around with the different animals.

The competition team performs fast-tempo dances with challenging techniques to enhance their chances of winning state. The girls held their final pose when the music stopped on their home court.

Jennifer Hilfinger, team captain, and Haley Dotson, junior team captain, waited to hear the results of the day's competition. Part of being captains brings the privilege of going to receive the awards won at competitions.

The team won the State title for the Advanced Poms Division for the first time in six years after competing down in Indianapolis on March 13. The girls were thrilled to be able to bring home a trophy and next year they will compete in the Elite Poms Category. They were coached by Cindi Minegar.

1. The team huddled together before going out and performing. The girls all agreed that what makes the team so unique is that they all bring something different to the team, which makes long work outs and competing a lot more fun.

2. Competition walked on to present their routine, and to pump up the crowd during the halftime show.

3. The team got together before performing at one of their eight competitions throughout the state.

4. The team smiled big with victory as they won first place at the Concord Community High School Regionals competition which advanced them to go to State.

Not only is it having fun competing, but it is also fun dancing and seeing everyone on the squad because they are like family.

The varsity ladies lined up pre-show to ready themselves for the performance to come.

Jordan Binion, Paige Scott, juniors, and Megan Pavolko, senior, posed during the Christmas half time show.

The squad supported the basketball team from the stands when they weren't showing off their skills on the court.

The girls enthusiastically walked out on to the court to perform and to show off their hard work.

1. Maura Sweeny, sophomore, Alex Gray, senior, and Paige Scott, junior, wowed the crowd with their dance.

2. The JV squad gathered together for a picture before taking over the court with their fierce moves and awesome facials.

3. Haley Bellis, senior, Chloe Reid and Colette Keller, sophomores, pull in close with arms around each other with wide grins, pleased with their performance.

4. The JV and varsity squads spent bonding time together after performing a well-accomplished show.

From Shabooya to team dinners to Steak and Shake after the games, this Wolfe pack is truly one to remember.

SENIORS HUDDLED together after stretching to go over their game plan. SOPHOMORE SARAH Linnen tackled senior Elaine Gizewski as she tried to run down the field. AUBRIE LANE, senior, ran for a touchdown as sophomore Samantha Cripe followed from behind.

Powder Puff: Girls have a chance to prove they can play football better than the guys

Showing off some team Spirit

Tyler Barnum, senior, was crowned Powder Puff King by raising $312 for Riley's Children's Hospital. Over $600 was raised by the hopeful kings, with the winner having the most money raised. Barnum described the week-long experience as putting a lot of work and a bit of embarrassment to raise money for a good cause and to see it be a success was a good feeling.

Sophomores joined together and prepared to play. Tori Milliner led the chant "What time is it?" to get the team motivated to play their first game against the seniors. She explained that in order to play well they had to have support from the rest of the team and encourage each other to do well. Unfortunately, they fell short of their goal.

Who said that boys were good at everything?

Senior Jordan Melander looked to pass down Freed Field. Her teammate blocks sophomore Megan Stevens from getting to Melander.

Jordan Melander, 12

Jade Medlin, junior, waited for a pass to set up for a field goal kick. She said playing tight end was an important position to know how to play, so as not mess up for the team.

Jade Medlin, 11

Abby Trott scored the only touchdown for the freshmen. She was nervous to go up against the junior class, but was ready to show them that she could play the same as the upperclassmen.

Abby Trott, 9

Junior Ellen Kjoller carried the ball down the field escaping from the freshman class. She said playing Powder Puff was great, especially because of the team atmosphere and the close bonding between friends.

Seniors drove up with Coach Dawn Bernaert ready to defeat sophomores in their first game. The victory for the 2009 Powder Puff game went to the seniors for knocking out two rounds of very competitive girls striving for the gold. Senior IB Ikene said after waiting three years, this was the year to finally win it all!

Brianna Stines, Taylor Atkins, and Lauren Dunlap, juniors, hyped up the team with their crazy outfits. Stines said that Powder Puff is one of the rare times of the year that being crazy is allowed. The girls took full advantage of it.

Freshman and juniors played a rough round on Freed Field on September 23. In the end, juniors took the win to go to the second round against seniors.

Dance the Night Away

Samantha Molnar, junior, and Kelby Wendzel, senior, just kept dancing the night away as they looked gorgeous and enjoyed the evening out together.

Dance Lessons

Harold Arnold, senior, thought he would help his friend Jonathon Stines, senior, and his date Kasara Rienks, sophomore, with some dance moves!

Make a Statement

Julian Hodgson, senior, and his date Brittany Engel made a statement with their home made prom attire. The outfits were made of all duck tape, and a little fabric to make it more sturdy. They used 27 rolls of tape combined, costing $150, which is typically the cost of one store bought dress. The couple entered their outfits in the Stuck at Prom scholarship contest. Each person in the winning couple receives $3000 toward college tuition.

Getting it perfect

LOOKING AT DESIGNS on a computer program, Stephanie Fisher, junior, and Michael Zelier, senior, tried to identify future problems their robot might have.

WHEN THE Penn Robotics team encountered problems at the Purdie competition Michael Leathers, senior, was quick to suggest a fix to their problem and get the robot back on line. SEAN O'CONNOR, SENIOR, HELPED move Penn's robot with the parent mentors. The students and mentors all contributed over 60 hours of hopes of getting to Atlanta, Georgia, for a big competition.

JUNIOR MICHAEL SCHRAGER drilled into pipe for the team's kicker on their robot. The kicker was used on the robot to kick around soccer balls to the other team's goal.

LOOKING AT PLANS and sketches seniors Michael Leathers and Tara Hackley took time out of building the robot to look over some plans to make sure they got everything perfect.

DURING THE Purdue Competition the Penn Robotics team faced technical difficulties with their robot but luckily Kyle Saha, senior, and Michael Schrager, junior, were there to help fix the problems immediately and make sure that Penn was back in the competition. THE ROBOTICS team posed in front of the mascot the Big Ten Knight; they were all ready for the great season that lay ahead. BEFORE THE Purdue Robotics competition the team posed with all the mentors in front of the robot they worked so hard on for six weeks. WELDING PARTS for the team's robot was a dedicated mentor, doing the dangerous work so the students didn't get hurt. MICHAEL O'DEN, senior, Michael Schrager, junior, and Andrew Conish, senior, worked hard on the robot's kicker. THE THREE MENTORS made sure the wheels for the robot were perfect and would roll smoothly. The mentors were there every night and on weekends. They are all volunteers who work in engineering fields and have years of experience to share with Penn Robotics.

SAFETY FIRST! Superintendent Dr. Jerry Thacker donned his protective goggles with the Black Knights at the Purdue Robotics competition. LINDSEY DAUBY and Sean O'Connor, seniors, power sanded metal sheets for the frame of their robot. It was required of all students to know how to safely operate power tools.

The boys teams had a successful season. The A team started their season in Nashville, winning each game they played in Nashbash while the B Team went 2-3. As their season progressed so did their strength, only losing in the regular season to Brownsburg. Both teams won their Midwest bracket and moved on to the state tournament. The A team progressed to the third round of division 1 where they played a tough game against Cathedral. The Division 2 bracket of the B team made it further to semi-state, earning third place in the state tournament.

10 Symptoms of Senioritis

1. Homework . . . what is homework?
2. Sparknotes are too long to read.
3. You miss school more than you attend.
4. Your personal hygiene suffers.
5. Suddenly you are "sick" every other week.
6. Procrastination becomes a life style.
7. Early dismissals + tardies = (who does math anymore?)
8. The countdown to graduation started the first day of school.
9. You've literally become "too cool for school".
10. We would think of a 10th but we would rather not put forth the effort.

Senior Recognition Night fell on Monday, May 17, the Monday after prom. It was a night to acknowledge the hard work and dedication that students put in during their four year career in high school. Recognition was given regarding academics, scholarships, division awards, attendance, principal's and National Merit awards. The night ended with giving the Paul H. Schmucker Award to Melanie Bumbalough and the Kingsman of the Year Award to Tyler Barnum. Throughout the night over 200 seniors stood up to be applauded.

Eleven days later, on Friday, May 28, Christopher Bauschka received his diploma from Gary Fox, Board of School Trustees president.

Senior Recognition

Sean O'Connor received the Burger King scholarship which was sponsored by Quality Dining. O'Connor said, "I am excited to attend the University of Dayton in the fall and study mechanical engineering."

Melanie Bumbalough won the Schmucker Award, which is voted on by faculty members, along with the Dr. Franklin Miles Science Scholarship from Bayer and a Purdue University Presidential Scholarship.

The 12 valedictorians, who each spoke for a minute, were Sammy Trail, Katie Paege, Josh Folk, Brad Hipsher, Tyler Barnum, JoHanna Manningham, Jayne Ellis, McKenzie Shenk, Andrew Bushnell, Caitlin Klein, Seth Apol and Charles Xu.

Sammy Trail was the first of twelve valedictorians to speak. She spoke about how strange the number twelve is, and how it has a way of showing up: twelve eggs in a dozen, twelve drummers drumming, twelve years of schooling, and twelve members of Glee.

Tyler Barnum was the fifth to speak, and opened with "Let's talk about a knock-knock joke." His "joke" was about opportunity and how it comes knocking on the door and how students should take advantage of it.

Charles Xu wrapped up the speeches with an inspiring quote, "Tonight is your night. Although the road ahead has long been traversed, you have not traveled it. The next step in your journey is about to unfold. It is a journey of self discovery because in the end, aren't we just, just..."

The ceremony began after all students entered in from the tunnels at the Joyce Center at Notre Dame and were seated. Lindsey Meekhof and David Stutzman were the soloist singers to the opening song "Hand in Hand" as the rest of the seniors choir participants stood behind alongside underclassman choir students.

Principal Steve Hope gives his graduating daughter, Mae, a hug before she receives her diploma.

Members of the Board of School Trustees and administration stood on stage applauding the graduates.

Nicole Harkness showed up to the Notre Dame Joyce Center wearing black and gold high tops instead of the typical heels or sandals as many other girls wore.

THE VALEDICTORIANS ended their speeches with the song "Don't Stop Believin'" by Journey. Charles Xu started it off while the other eleven joined in soon after. Students in the crowd stood up and sang along and clapped to the music.

AFTER TWO hours of rehearsal, the graduates began to enter the Joyce Center to be seated. They showed their excitement of their accomplishment.

THE eight Salutatorians stood up on the stage after receiving their awards.

noun [sur-vis]

1. an act of helpful activity; help; aid: to do someone a service.
2. Angel Ambassadors, Habitat for Humanity, Key Club, POW

PENN STUDENTS involved in Habitat for Humanity volunteered at the St. Joe County build. This build lasted all day and the students worked in shifts from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. It was the first build of the year, and Penn's Habitat members mainly helped in the construction of the walls of the house. This build kicked off the first of seven in the fall season. Tim Gavin and Curt Rallo are faculty sponsors. THIS YEAR Angel Ambassadors put on their first Glitz, Glamour, and Gowns Event. The club organized a dress drive for the school's mid-winter dance and the event allowed girls to come in and find their perfect dress for free! Girls could donate dresses or bring in a dress to trade. The event was put together beautifully and girls left with dresses, accessories, and some won gift baskets containing Mary Kay makeup and gift cards to Salon Ubon. The event was a success and the Angel Ambassadors plan to host it again.

"Habitat for Humanity is a great organization that allows Penn students to do tangible good in our community."

*Habitat President, Conor Dorgan,
senior*

Habitat Grows

The Habitat for Humanity Club at Penn tripled in size. Senior Conor Dorgan says that the increase in members resulted in more consistent attendance and participation of each member and most importantly, more builds! Dorgan hopes that the club will continue to grow and become a more stable organization at Penn.

Think Pink

Members of P.O.W. asked Penn students to think pink! It was the club's second year organizing the Think Pink fundraiser in October. Students donated $10 and sported pink hair extensions to help raise Breast Cancer Awareness in the Michiana area. The club raised $2,500 in donations for River Bend Cancer Services.

Michaela Piatt, sophomore

Chloe Reid and Maura Sweeney, sophomores

"P.O.W. is a wonderful opportunity to express yourself and bond with other girls at Penn."

Shelby Hoshaw, senior

Lorena Miramontes and Lorena Patel, juniors

Key Club

Key Club members took part in the Fall Homecoming football tailgates. Members played music, set up games, and sold cookies to help raise money for the Club's community projects. Among the many other service events this year, Key Club participated in the Book Drive, Clothing Drive, and packed lunches for the Center for the Homeless.

Seniors Katie Aiello, Vice President, and Kelli Yapp, Treasurer
Angel Ambassadors

"Angels is a growing organization. It has the potential to make a positive impact at Penn, by directly helping students and families in our school's community." Katie Aiello, Vice President

SNOWBALL

[snoh-bawl] noun: a large, lavish, formal party featuring social dancing

KATIE FLEMING, senior, and her date Ryan Broadstreet, graduate, found time to themselves while patiently waiting in line to get their picture taken. MICHAEL SCHRAGER, junior, and friends showed off their outfits while getting water to hydrate themselves and cool down. Meanwhile, the end of the night was getting near, but nothing could keep this group off the dance floor.

JASON BODLE, junior, and his date spent the night enjoying themselves with a large group of friends.

PEOPLE of all ages hang out together at snowball. They all enjoyed themselves while getting down on the dance floor. Many people go to Snowball in a large group so they can dance with everybody. The "grinding police" were sure to be on their game at this year's dance. They made sure that everyone was being appropriate throughout the night.

ABBY SRODA, junior, Courtney Ekema, and Blake Lausman, junior, attended the semi-formal dance, which is held in the decorated cafeteria. JUNIORS Emily Stone and Gabrielle Riland got their coats from the check in. They both agreed that this year's snowball was one of the best.

Sophomores Krystal Hill, Tutugirl Blayee, and McKenzie Clements posed under the palm trees. The theme for the dance was "Midnight at the Oasis," a 1974 song sung by Maria Muldaur.

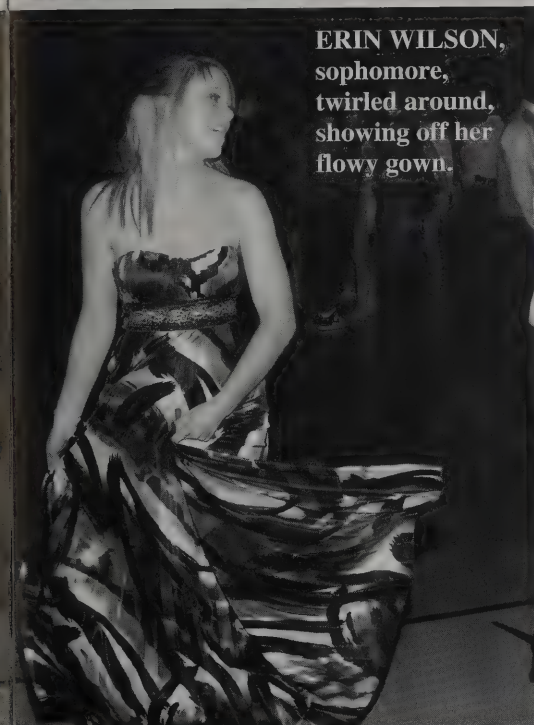

TORI MILLINER, Megan Stevens, and Olivia Clark, all sophomores, paused from dancing.

WHITNEY TRUJILLO, senior, had fun and danced with her date without realizing her picture was being taken.

SISTERS Ashlyn and Brooke Shepard showed no signs of fatigue as they danced the night away.

Elizabeth Hill, senior, and Erin Wilson, sophomore, smiled with their dates, Jake Kollar and Ben Snell. Both Kollar and Snell are not Inn students but came as guests.

Juniors Sarah Dikos, Jody Carlile, Jill Scarsella, Lauren Matson, and Brianna Stines showed off their hair while taking pictures before the dance.

Kylie Egendoerfer, Michael Dorsey, Justin Holland, Katie Husband, Weston Kujawski, and Christie Westerhausen went as a group to the dance. All are seniors except Husband, who is a junior.

Soccer: Boys' Varsity Uniting to Win

noun: a form of football played between two teams of 11 players, in which the ball may be advanced by kicking or by bouncing it off any part of the body but the arms and hands, except in the case of the goalkeepers, who may use their hands to catch, carry, throw, or stop the ball.

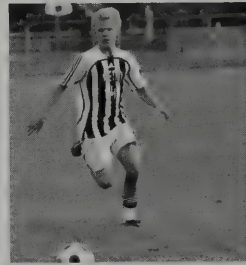

Eric Walker, 12

Brandon Speedy, 12

Tyler Barnum, 12

Tim Wilson, 11

CHARLES MICUNEK, junior, made contact with a Clay player in attempt to gain control of the soccer ball. THE STARTERS all huddled up for a pre-game ritual, hoping for a positive outcome.

TIM WILSON, junior, beat two Adams players down the field, finishing his run with an scored goal.

Row 1: Dan Carpenter, Tim Wilson, Graham Marshall, Eric Bueter, Aaron Hunter, Eric Walker, Nick Ducoffe, Jonathan Westerhausen. Row 2: Ian Sperry, Brandon Speedy, Bryce Fisher, Daniel Stump, David Stutzman, Tyler Kabzinski, Thomas Grant, Tyler Barnum, Tyler Canarecci, Student Athletic Trainer Cali Williams. Row 3: Head Coach Larry McClements, Assistant Coach Len Jablonski, Weston Craker, Alan Poncele Leon, Mitch Helmkamp, Charles Micunek, Andrew Bartush, Sean Paulsen, Assistant Coaches Beau Wechter, Trevor McClements.

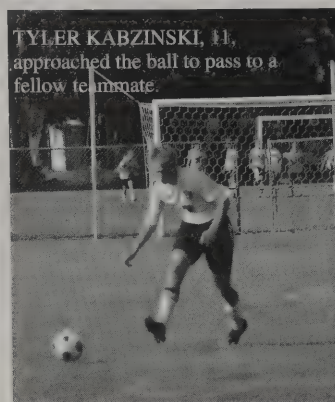

Eric Walker, 12, made a strong effort in getting the ball down the field for his team.

AARON HUNTER, 11, slid to the ground while in the process of saving a goal.

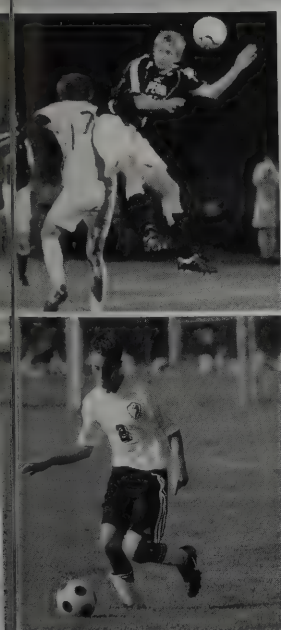

BRANDON SPEEDY, 12, kicked the ball in an effort to move it downfield.

TYLER KABZINSKI, 11, approached the ball to pass to a fellow teammate.

TYLER BARNUM, senior, flew over an Adams' player when racing to the ball, after already having a cast on his wrist.

DAVID UTZMAN, junior, was in mid air when he stole the ball from a Clay player in their sectional championship game. SEAN PAULSEN, junior, went back to back with a Clay opponent in the process of heading the ball. PLAYERS TOOK their places on the field for the first half of their game. AARON HUNTER, junior, slid to the ground while in the process of saving a goal.

The 2009 boys' varsity soccer team had a great season! They went 15-4-3 and made it all the way to semi-state. Sadly, the boy's team was defeated in the first round to a shootout against Portage. They beat their hometown rival Marian this year in sectional-finals, after losing to them last year. An outstanding group of boys including Eric Walker, Andrew Bartush, and Aaron Hunter made this a season to remember. Walker, Bartush, and Hunter made the first team all-conference squad, with Walker also being named the MVP.

Soccer: Boys' JV/Freshman

OUR GOAL IS STOPPING YOURS

Soccer: noun [sok-er]

a form of football played between two teams of 11 players, in which the ball may be advanced kicking or by bouncing it off any part of the body but the arms and hands, except in the case of goalkeepers, who may use their hands to catch, carry, throw, or stop the ball.

Scott
Gidmen, 10

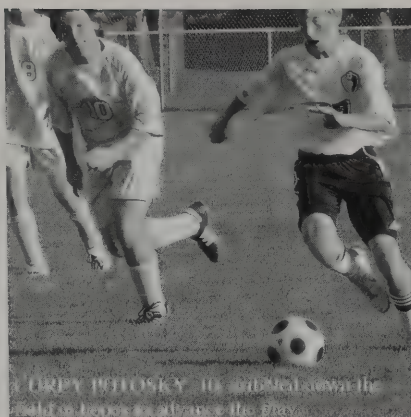

Eric
Bueter, 10

COREY POTOSKY points to his teammate trying to help him out, after giving up the ball. The junior varsity team had a great amount of team chemistry which showed in their performance. THE FRESHMAN TEAM sits in the bleachers while cheering and supporting the older boys play. TYLER KABZINSKI and Tyler Canarecci rest while the referees elaborate on a call that was made. ALAN PONCE DE LEON kicks the ball into the open field, hoping a teammate will get it and score.

COREY POTOSKY, 10, dribbled down the field to score the goal.

DREW KOVACH, 10, kicked the ball into the goal after an attempt to pass from the opposing team.

DREW CONRADY, 10, headed the ball against a St. Joe player before it went out of bounds.

ALEXANDER SCOLTES, 10, pulled the ball away in hopes to score or pass to a teammate.

CHRISTIAN ROUGEAU, freshman, watched his teammate Romique Lewis, junior, jump in the air and head the ball. Many soccer players use this approach to get the ball out of a sticky situations; it is similar to using other body parts to advance the ball in any way. THE JUNIOR VARSITY starters made their way onto the field before beginning the second half of the game. In hopes to advance the score and win, the boys come out ready to play and fight for the finish.

The junior varsity boys finished the season off strong with a record of 12-2-1. The boys' great team chemistry and Penn pride showed in every game they played. When the team stepped on the field they always came to win. This year their biggest rival was Marian which the JV team pulled out in a win. A lot of this year's junior varsity team played on both JV and Varsity, showing their skills on all levels. These young players are only beginning their successful careers being a part of the boys' Penn soccer team.

CK DUOFFE, 10, made an impressive leap after kicking the ball. Having high energy and desire to win helped the JV soccer team succeed in their season. DREW CONRADY, 10, outruns his opponent, showing his dedication. He captured the ball and continued on with stling throughout the game. DREW KOVACH, 10, kicked the ball to another teammate, scared that his opponent was on the verge of stealing it away. COREY POTOSKY, 10, stole the ball away from the St. Joe player and began dribbling it down the field to score the goal. DAN MANNING, 10, showed off his talents by heading the ball to keep play alive.

Soccer: Girls' Varsity EVERY DAY

soccer-noun [sok-er]

A game played on a rectangular field with net goals at either end in which two teams of 11 players each try to drive a ball into the other's goal by kicking, heading, or using any part of the body except the arms and hands. The goalie is the only player who may touch or move the ball with the arms or hands.

Kimberly

SENIOR
KATHERINE Aiello said, "One thing I'll take from four years at Penn will be the memories with the girls, laughing with them, joking with them, and being there for each other."

KRISTINA FARRON, senior, heads the ball to keep it in her possession. SAMMY TRAIL, an All-NIC selection and Kelsey Seger, both seniors, sprint to the ball. The game against Elkhart Central was Seger's first game this season after having surgery for a torn ACL. ABIGAIL DOWNEY, sophomore, dribbled the ball towards the goal. JOANNA MADIAS and Kathryn Hojara, both sophomores, run after the ball at the Washington soccer game.

KATHRYN HOJARA, sophomore and an All-NIC selection, battled against her opponent from Marian to overtake the ball. Hojara gives 130% all the time, even when she played hurt.

Hannah Osthimer, junior, waited for the ball, ready to score.

Allison Sholtés, junior, and an All-NIC selection, kicked the ball past her opponent, driving to the goal.

THE VARSITY starters circle is a tradition carried on each year. They zone in and prepare for victory.

Girls' varsity soccer had a great season winning 19 of 23 games. Many girls showed leadership and enthusiasm this season and carried the team to semi-state. Unfortunately, they lost in a close battle with St. Joseph High School, losing in the second half by one point, with a final score of 2-1. Though this was a tough loss for the team, all of the girls agreed that the season was one to remember.

SENIOR HALEY Craig, an NIC honorable mention nominee, punted the ball back to her mid-field in an attempt to clear the ball out of their end. JUNIOR SHANNON Reid pushed the ball forward toward the goal hoping to score. JUNIOR KATHERINE Burns, a second team All-NIC nominee, aggressively kicked the ball past her opponent while in mid-air. TEAMMATES EMBERLY Luttrell, Hannah Osthimer, and Diane Diaz-Diurych watched the action from the sideline. FRESHMAN BAILEY O'Malley competed for the ball against her opponent.

Soccer: Girls' JV/Freshman "European's football. . .literally"

noun: a form of football played between two teams of 11 players, in which the ball may be advanced by kicking or by bouncing it off any part of the body but the arms and hands, except in the case of the goalkeepers, who may use their hands to catch, carry, throw, or stop the ball.

THE LADIES all watched from the sidelines, striking an alarmingly similar pose. THE LAST rays of the sun brought the game to a close against Concord. AFTER SCORING, the girls got back into position. KATHLEEN PENLAND, freshman, warmed up her dribbling skills before a game against bitter rival Marian.

Many of the girls on the JV team have been perfecting their craft since the "little league" of soccer. They have played with teams like Echo, Junior Irish (NISA), and MSA for years. Kasey Smith, freshman, says that many of her favorite memories with the girls started long before the 09-10 season. With lots of hard work and dedication the girls defended their team with an outstanding record. Long hours began in the middle of summer to start the intense season of the brutal sport. Once the momentum of the team was under way they played better as their friendships grew. The team did many bonding activities including pasta dinners two days before most games. The girls also loved to dance the electric slide to get out of doing sprints during practices. The dance was the last event of the last practice. "It was a good way to end a great season," said Alyssa Rinehart, sophomore.

Softball- noun [sawft-bawl]

A seven-inning ball game played between two teams of nine players each. The field is shaped like a diamond and is composed of an infield and an outfield. There are four bases in which a player must touch in order to score after hitting the ball that comes from the pitcher.

Jenna Simon, 11

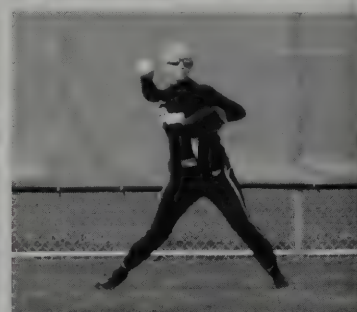

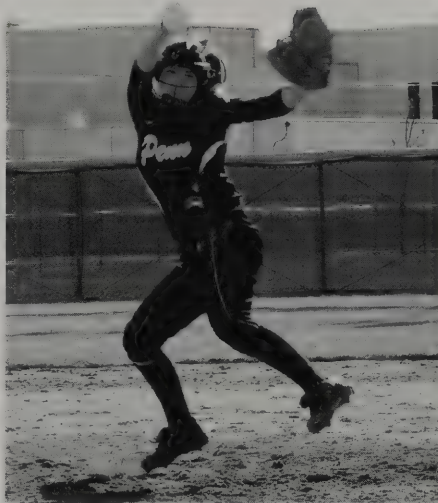

Shelby Miller, 12

Megan Miller, 11

LINDSEY MARTIN, 12, threw a pitch during a game against Elkhart Memorial. The speed of her pitches and the movement of the ball was hard for hitters to handle. HOLLY HOFFMAN, 10, got in position to throw a ball down to second base. JAYNE ELLIS, 12, made contact with a pitch during a home game against Lake Central. AUBRIE LANE, 12, threw a ball back into the infield during pre-game warmups. HEAD COACH Beth Zachary watched the game from the dugout while assistant coach Bridget Pluta kept stats.

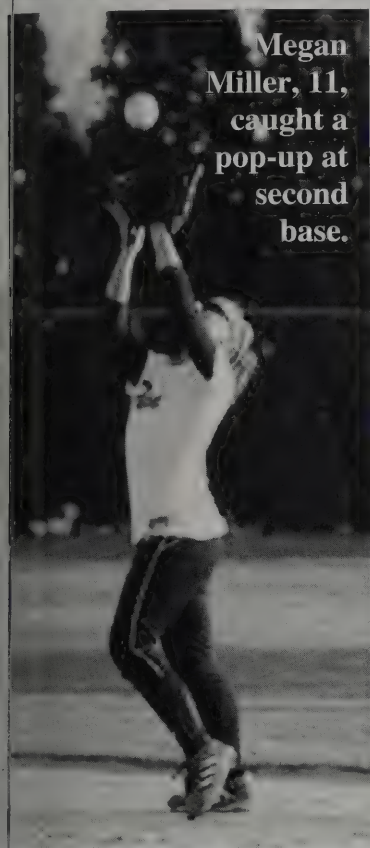

Varsity Softball Row 1: H. Hoffman, E. Murphey. Row 2: M. Miller, J. Ellis, L. Martin, A. Lane, J. Simon, S. Miller. Row 3: B. Zachary, C. Donati, S. Stephan, S. Krcelich, R. Williams, A. Tashjian, K. Green, M. Smith, B. Pluta.

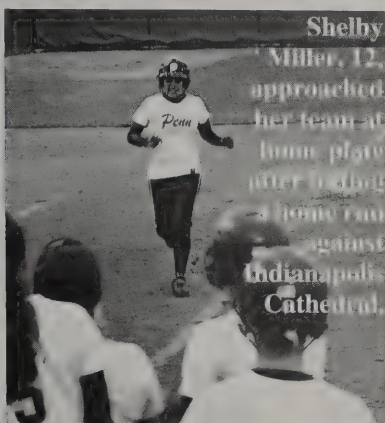

Jenna Simon, 11, dove for a ball while playing shortstop.

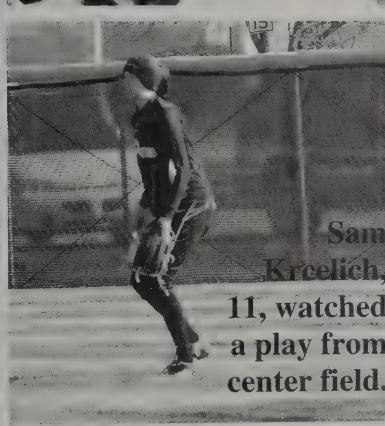

Megan Miller, 11, caught a pop-up at second base.

Shelby Miller, 12, approached her team at home plate after leading a home run against Indianapolis Cathedral.

Sam Krcelich, 11, watched a play from center field.

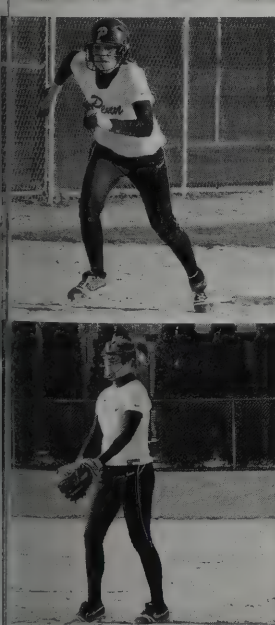

Penn at Washington

Penn girls at a hotel in Carmel, Indiana.

The Penn varsity softball team posed with the championship trophy after winning the Carmel Invitational. Penn became #1 in the state rankings after the tournament. Jenna Simon was named NIC MVP, and Coach Beth Zachary was named NIC Coach of the Year. Penn tied St. Joseph and Mishawaka for the NIC title with a 7-1 record. Lindsey Martin, Holly Hoffman and Sam Krcelich made first team NIC, and Shelby Miller and Chloe Donati made second team. Megan Miller received honorable mention.

HANNON STEPHAN, 11, sprinted to home plate from third base. She scored to help Penn go on to 17-1 victory over Merrillville. HOLLY HOFFMAN, 10, caught a pitch during a home game. This year was Hoffman's second year on the varsity team. JAYNE ELLIS, 12, was in position to catch a row coming from third base. CHLOE DONATI, 12, watched a pitch from left field. She was one of seniors on the 2010 varsity team. ALEX TASHIJAN, 10, took the pitch call from the catcher and began her wind up.

KILEY KEMMERLING, 9, waited to field a ball in the infield. Many players chose to wear the protective facemask to prevent injuries to the face.

JV INFIELDERS and pitcher

Jessie Schmitt, Jen Sears, Alyssa Davis, Jen Mater and Amanda Totzke met on the pitcher's mound before an inning began. All are sophomores except Mater, a freshman. JEN MATER, 9, slid safely into second base.

KIM MILLER, 9, was the catcher in the game against Elkhart Central. Penn won the game 20-2.

Row 1: Kim Miller, Kiley Kemmerling, Amanda Totzke, Alyssa Davis, Alexis Miller, Alyssa Daly, Stephanie Hiles. Row 2: Coach Rzepka, Cassy Doran, Abigail Trot, Kathryn Knutson, Jen Mater, Jessie Schmitt, Jen Sears, Coach Barncord.

Amanda Totszke, 10, the JV ace, pitched the ball in a home game against Lake Central.

Alyssa Davis, 10, fielded a ground ball at second base.

Jessica Schmitt, 10, was ready to field a bunt at third base.

Jen Mater, 9

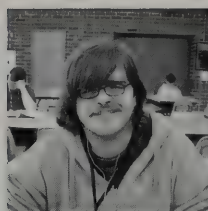

Kimberly Miller, 9

ASSIDY DORAN, 9, was in position to make a play in left field. AMANDA TOTZKE, 10, bunted third base and headed home to add another run to the score. JEN SEARS, 10, fielded a ball at shortstop and threw it to first base. KATHRYN KNUTSON, 9, stood on second base and watched the play at first. STEPHANIE HILES, 10, watched a play from right field.

A BIG group of sophomores from study hall and health gathered for a group picture on the stairs. CARISSA Williams and Samantha Johnson put their arms around each other because they have been friends since eighth grade. DANIELLE Cooling showed off the poster she made for integrated chemistry and physics. LANE Miskin paused as she passed by in the empty hallway. KENDALL Fisher smiled big because she loves her integrated chemistry and physics class!

Mckenzie Clements worked in marketing on a project with her partner Krystal Hill. They were making a survey on stereotypes of students at school.

Daniel Butler made a face while in marketing class.

BUBALA Moonga, Nadia Kidiwa, Jamil Davis, Tutugirl Blayee, and Demi Balogun take a break from class to take a snapshot. Kidiwa said, "We are the chocolate apple of Penn High School." SOPHOMORES are silhouetted in front of the window sills to create an awesome picture. Although you can't see who each individual is, it's still a neat effect.

Penn's Debate team had a successful season, sending seven of the total twenty team members to the state competition. The team met every Wednesday after school until at least 5:00 p.m. for practice. Francis Chen and Sean Paulsen, juniors, placed third at state in the policy category. Chen and Paulsen also served as the team's captains. Pictured to the left is David Wang, sophomore, showing his work during debate practice. Wang's partner is Austin Munoz, sophomore, and the two finished fifth at state in policy debate. Also in the same division were Guy Harper and Mutahir Chaudury, sophomores. They took a ninth place finish at state. Florence Chen, Francis Chen, and Sean Paulsen also qualified for the national competition in St. Louis, Missouri, where they competed in the summer.

Speech & Debate

Practice Makes Perfect

Stressed debaters, juniors Sean Paulsen and Francis Chen, and coach, Dawn Troyer, discussed their plans and strategy for the upcoming state competition.

Allison Pulliam and Alyssa Davis, sophomores, researched for their arguments.

The Spell Bowl team competed at six invitionals and finished in first place at all six: East Nobel, Lakeland, Penn, Kouts, Garrett, and Logansport. The team scored a perfect 90 at both Lakeland and Logansport and 89/90 at the other four competitions. This was Penn's eleventh consecutive undefeated regular season. At the regional, Penn had 89/90, the highest score of all 200 teams in the state. At the state finals, held at Purdue University on November 14, Penn scored yet another perfect 90, cruising to victory, two points ahead of Martinsville, East Noble, and John Glenn. This was Penn's tenth state championship in Spell Bowl, more than any other Indiana school. The Spell Bowl team has more state championships than any other Penn academic or athletic team.

Alex Cao, Jenny Huang, Leah Hersberger, James McGinness, Matt Deyter, and Yifei Hu were caught moments after winning Penn's tenth consecutive state championship.

Superintendent Dr. Jerry Thacker spoke at the Spell Bowl recognition ceremony. He spoke honoring their team's tenth consecutive state win. Penn's varsity line-up featured a record of five freshman in each competition.

The Penn spell bowl team sat together on the stairway after winning the Kouts Invitational championship. The Kingsmen defeated all 82 opponents they faced in 2009.

Wing Kwong, Matt DeGeyter, Vanessa Cabello, and Michael Ogden celebrate after the Logansport win with a traditional visit to the Happy Trolley for ice cream.

Matt DeGeyter, Coach Peter DeKever, and Michael Ogden hold up the State Championship plaque and banner. DeGeyter said Spell Bowl was an experience he will never forget, and being team captain was a great honor.

THE team always walked out together at the beginning of a meet, to pep each other up and boost adrenaline. It is important to the team to be like a family to each other, and to always support each other at races as well as practices. The key to Penn's success is their teamwork. BEFORE every meet, the group got in the water and cheered each other on for the big meet. JACOB Yang, sophomore, swam faster than the other team to bring in first place. DAVID Spalding, suited up and walked to his race area, in preparation to earning first.

Swimmers take their marks against Concord.

THOMAS Adami, freshman, took a breath during his breast stroke. ALEX Wait, sophomore, counted for the 500 race. This race is such a long event, 20 laps, that swimmers have teammates counting time. MATT Miller, sophomore, showed off his "front-flip-two-twist." THOMAS Ahearn, sophomore, prepared to take off for his race. A GROUP of Penn swimmers anxiously awaited results at a meet.

Penn finished 8-0 in the NIC and were conference champions. The 200 medley (Dominic Vernasco, Connor Shearer, Josh Coquillard and Josh Lercel) and 200 free (Lercel, Seamus Lucero-Dixon, Shearer and Coquillard) won first team NIC honors. Vernasco and Alex Wait earned second team, and Thomas Ahearn and Coquillard were named honorable mention. "The team was young, but a lot of them stepped up and turned out a lot better than I thought," said Nic Chettleburg, senior. The swimmers were both the NIC and Sectional Champions this year.

CONNOR Shearer, senior, took a breath in the middle of his race. MATTHEW Miller, sophomore, kicked off the diving board exelling into his back flip. FRESHMEN boys took a break from the water to answer a few questions. PETER Yang, freshman, told us how "thrilling" it is to jump into an ice cold pool at six a.m. every morning! JOSHUA Lercel, junior, prepared to start his race at the meet against Concord High School. There are twenty-two meets in the season, thirteen at home.

With only two losses in the entire season, Penn's women's swim team had an extremely successful season. The team lost to Munster and Lake Central, which were close meets and stiff competitors, where the Kingsmen just barely fell behind in total points. For the 18th year in a row, the girls claimed the sectional championship and advanced 11 girls to compete in Indianapolis at State. A highlight of the season was defeating primary swimming rival, Northridge High School. Northridge has a talented team and the winners of the Penn-Northridge dual meet is always a toss-up. The hard work, early morning practices, and intensive dry land sessions surely paid off for the ladies this season. Swimmers honored on the 8-0 NIC team included Nikki Hubbard, Sarah Coyne, Jennifer Priebe, Allison Belcher, Abby Hildebrandt, Katie McDonough, Nicole Schrad, Hayley Campeau, Kailin Potter and Shannon Reid (first team) and Hannah Meckstroth (second team).

The Penn boys' tennis team had a great season. Compiling a 13-4 record, the team started off slow but finished the season strong. They went undefeated in the NIC, and, in the postseason, the Kingsmen easily walked away with the sectional title. After sectionals, they moved on to defeat Culver in the regional title match, but unfortunately their season ended when they met Concord in semi-state play. Although the team lost, number one singles player, Andy Hansen, advanced to the state finals where he lost in the first round. Post season honors for the Kingsmen included NIC first team: Andy Hansen (singles); Andrew Bushnell-Brad Walter (doubles); NIC second team: Brian Hickman (singles); honorable mention: Cameron Haramia-Spencer Heise (doubles).

VARSITY girls formed a stretching circle before a meet. This season, this girls received new uniforms. They upgraded from black and white uniforms, to classic white.

Penn dominated against Marian and Adams to move into the South Bend Regional, but St. Joseph ruined Penn's hopes for semi-state by beating them in the post season. No. 1 singles Alexandra Brinker beat her sophomore opponent, but JoHanna Manningham suffered a tough loss to a player she beat during the regular season.

"You gotta hand it to them [St. Joseph]," Coach Bowers told the South Bend Tribune.

"We've got a lot of young girls on varsity and it will be our goal to get back here again."

KATHLEEN KELLER, 12, kept her eye on the ball as she hits it back where it belongs. ALEXANDRA BRINKER, 10, executed perfect form as she prepared for a swing. HALEY MEEKHOF, 9, was one of the great freshmen who advanced to the varsity team this season. COACH Eric Bowers and girls lined up for their announcement before a meet. Prentice made first team NIC and broke a sectional record with a jump of almost seven feet. Pole vaulter Kyle Johnston also made first team. CARL MUTIMBANYOKA, freshman, sprinted at full speed only to throw himself into the air in hopes of getting a long jump record.

BOYS' TRACK (in alphabetical order) Maaz Arif, Blake Beehler, Brandon Beery, David Bernstein, Michael Block, Mason Buckman, Ryan Callahan, Andrew Campbell, Zachary Care, Zachary Carnes, Trevor Casey, David Collier, Peter Cummings, Louis Cutrona, Jamil Davis, Austin Dewey, Devin Duffy, Daniel Filipiski, Austin Flack, Antony Fraser, Erik Gallam, Thomas Grant, Arne Grail, Andrew Grice, Kenneth Hall, Alexander Hartman, Christian Hill, William Holbert, Justin Holland, Christopher Horne, Colin Huff, Kyle Irvin, Zachary Johnson, Kyle Johnson, Dylan Jurgensen, Kyle Kleppe, Matthew Knudtson, Trevor Krieg, Austin Kunze, Brandon Laidig, Kenton Leidy, Kristian Lentine, Robert Lingenfelter, Aaron Long, Rick Love, Weilong Luan, Jaylyn Mallery, Emerson Marenyi, Paxton Maure, Ryan McFarland, Gage McGill, Mitchell Meersman, Brandon Miller, Jacob Miller, Brian Mitchell, Cole Morin, Carl Mutimbanyoka, Kyle Oppman, Tre Parmalee, Brian Pepper, Jacob Phelps, Mitchel Powell, Desean Prentice, Steven Pugia, Sriharsha Ratakonda, Mark Richards, Jack Romine, Christian Rougeau, Michael Schosker, Jonathan Shead, Luqun Shen, Kolton Skaggs, Conner Sowders, Jeremy Starkweather, Joseph Stoldt, Joseph Summers, Spenser Suski, Matthew Tadevich, Holden Theriault, Austin Torres, Christopher Wagner, Wilson Wambugu, Paul Watts, Christopher Williams, Andrew Wiseman, Connor Wright.

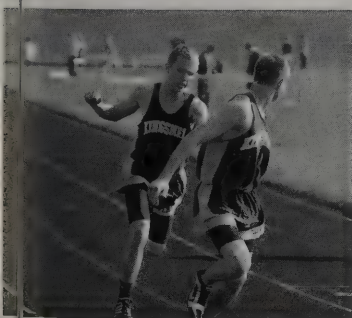

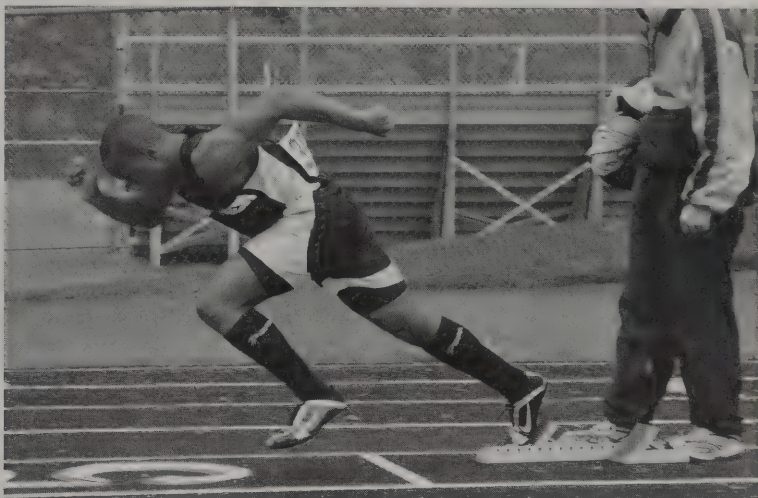

Patrick Adkins, sophomore, easily cleared the hurdle.

JAMIL DAVIS, sophomore, mentally prepared himself for the race as he waited in ready position for the gun to signal start.

HOLDEN THERIAULT, sophomore, led the pack of runners, as he was at the front.

WILSON WAMBUGU, sophomore, ran the 100m in 10.9 seconds, and was a strong lead on the 4x100 relay. Wambugu made third team NIC for the 100.

TREVOR CASEY, sophomore, hands off the baton to Joey Summers, freshman, who was ready to do his part in the relay. JAKE MILLER, sophomore, gets into the zone as he runs long distance. MATT TADEVICH, freshman, easily cleared the bar as he pole vaulted. TREVOR RIEG, sophomore, found the long distance running to be easiest. Along with being a member of the track team, he is also a member of the cross country team. TOMMY GRANT, freshman, got ready to explode out of the blocks, while his teammate Conner Sowders, freshman, held the team steady.

Track: Girls' Varsity

Blazin' Fast

A group of athletic sports, consisting mainly of various kinds of running, jumping and throwing, that take place on a track and the enclosed field.

Alyssa Hummel, 11

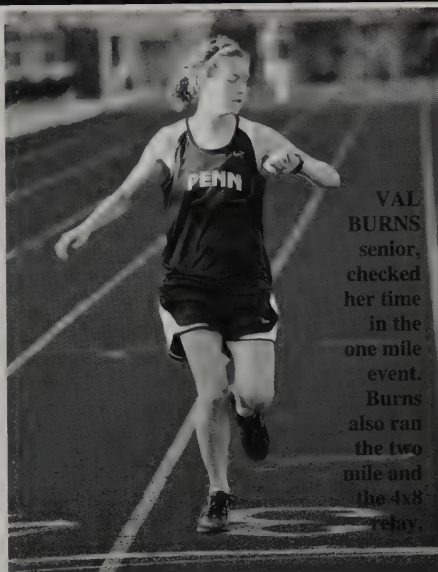

Brenna Gonderman, 12

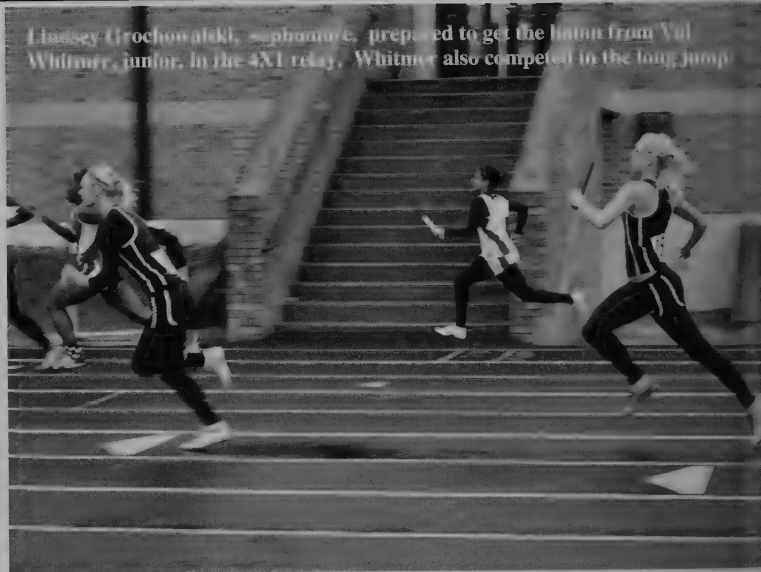

Val Whitmer, 11

MADELINE HRYBYK, junior, Kaitlyn Reeves and Kathryn Williams, both sophomores, held their shot puts up as they were all throwers. M. J. DOAN wheeled out to put the shot. An injury kept her out most of the season, yet she threw an NIC record on her broken foot. Likewise, at Sectionals, Lauren Rice pole vaulted 10'6" with a sprained ankle--actually, two sprains--just missing a sectional record. The sectional vault was Rice's first time on the track since practice in early April. The Lady Kingsmen finished first in the NIC and won their seventh consecutive girls sectional championship. The girls also won the regional, again assisted by the injured Doan, Rice and Mackenzie Redman, but fourth place finishes kept several girls from advancing to State.

VAL BURNS senior, checked her time in the one mile event. Burns also ran the two mile and the 4x8 relay.

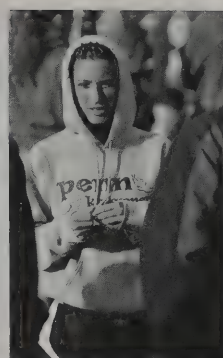

Lindsay Grochowalski, sophomore, prepared to get the baton from Val Whitmer, junior, in the 4x1 relay. Whitmer also competed in the long jump.

J. Allison, M. Anderson, D. Balogun, A. Beam, H. Bedricky, J. Bennett, T. Blayee, R. Boone, V. Burns, H. Bursley, K. Clements, L. Coppedge, M. Crawford, A. Cregier, K. Crume, C. Daggy, A. Day, K. Dilts, M. Doan, H. Dobay, A. Downey, A. Erdel, J. Filipski, B. Fuller, M. Gabrielli, D. Gabrish, K. Galat, S. Glassford, B. Gonderman, W. Grace, C. Grantham, L. Grochowalski, M. Hrybyk, A. Hummel, K. Williams, E. Williams, M. Williams, V. Ziege.

The plan was just to take one jump and qualify for the regional," Lauren Rice told the South Bend Tribune, "[but] I had a lot of adrenaline going and I didn't want to waste it." Rice cleared 10'6", and almost broke the sectional record of 11 feet.

KATIE HUSBAND, junior, waited for her race to begin.

CHELSEA MILLER, junior, cheered for her teammates.

An exhausted Natalie Obren, MJ Doan and Lauren Rice hugged after a long meet, and a championship.

KIERSTEN DEITS, sophomore, and Georgia Williams, freshman, pass the baton in the 4x1 relay.

KRISTIN JOHNSON, sophomore, gives her all to clear the high jump bar. VALERIE BURNS and Kristina Galat leave the other runners behind in the dust. THE 1 team consisted of juniors Alyssa Hummel, Wal Whitmer, Kenzie Redman, and sophomore Lindsey Grochowalski. The girls made it to State which was held at Bloomington. NATALIE OBREN, senior, ran both the 4x4 and 400 events. NIC first team members were MJ Doan and Mackenzie Redman. Second team included Sophie Glassford, Katie Martin, Brenna Gonderman, Katie Husband, Valerie Burns and Whitney Trujillo. Third team honors went to Georgia Williams, Valerie Whitmer, Lindsey Grochowalski, Alyssa Hummel, Obren, Galat, Whitney Grace, and Dominique Wiley.

Trainers

a staff member on an athletic team who gives first aid and therapy to injured players.

CALLI WILLIAMS, junior, folded laundry for the training room. The student trainers did a lot more than people were aware of and it was a lot of hard work. SHELBY HEILMAN, senior, taped the arches of a volleyball player. Taping was one of the basic skills that all student athletic trainer aids learned. CARL LANDIS helped freshman football player Cole Deneen strap on his pads for football practice. Landis was an athletic trainer along side with Tricia Irvin.

In Case of Emergency

Tricia Irvin and Alan Sinclair, 11

Shelby Heilman, 12

Carley McCarthy, 9, and Tricia Irvin

Calli Williams, 11

Tricia Irvin measured the swelling of senior Ben Lares' leg. Lares was hit in the shin with a face mask at the homecoming football game against Washington.

GOT TAPE?

Tricia Irvin, head athletic trainer, and Jessica Filipski, junior, both taped the arches of volleyball players before practice. Many athletes depended on the athletic trainers daily.

A look inside the mind of a trainer

"My favorite part was working the games and getting to know the players...Football was the best sport to work at because I felt like I was a part of the team...I helped the injured players and kept the others hydrated."

Jessica Filipski, 11

"Anyone interested in the medical field would have a lot of fun at this activity, but it takes a lot of commitment. It's like you're in the sport. All of the trainers really bond when we are together, and Penn is so big and you meet so many new people."

Calli Williams, 11

"I stay after school every day if I'm available, and I wish I am there when I'm not...I pre-wrap ankles...I love being a trainer!...We all had to go through a rigorous three day training camp over the summer...I would love to be a student trainer in college."

Whitney Rice, 11

Kelsey Potter and Whitney Rice, both juniors, looked at the schedule for upcoming events. The girls were at school often and always made themselves readily available to help any athlete in need.

Carl Landis taped the foot of Emerson Marenzi, sophomore, at the Valpo game. Landis went with the team to every game ready to spring into action whenever he was needed. Penn won their game against Valpo 21 to 0, a great start for the Kingsman season.

Whitney Rice, junior, wrapped the arches of Jeremy Mihajlovich, junior, before football practice. Everyone loved to joke around and have fun in the training room; it made getting hurt not so bad.

SETTING THE STANDARDS

1. a game for two teams in which the object is to keep a large ball in motion, from side to side over a high net, by striking it with the hands before it touches the ground.

Kristen Cornish, 11

Emily Crowe, 11

Lexie Pawlik, 11

Sam Heberling, 11

Kaitlyn Hickey, 10

KELLY COLE, senior, dug the ball in a game against Goshen. She committed to playing volleyball at Jacksonville State in Alabama. TEAMMATES celebrated after scoring a point. The team did this after every score. SENIOR KRISTIN BALL and juniors Emily Hildebrandt and Sam Heberling waited as the opposing team prepared to serve. SARAH DIKOS, junior, waited for an Adams player to serve the ball. In that game, Dikos scored multiple points.

Row 1: Kaitlyn Hickey, Head Coach Lisa Pawlik, Katie Kurth, Kelly Cole, Jeffrey Pawlik, Kristin Ball, Varsity Assistant Maureen Hale, Sarah Dikos.

The starting six players huddled before their match. Teamwork played a huge role in their success during the season.

Penn players got into position as they watched the activity on the other side of the net. Along with physical ability and skill, memory is a key aspect in volleyball due to all the different plays and formations.

The Penn Lady Kingsmen finished their season with conference and sectional titles. For most of the season they were ranked among the top in the state. The Kingsmen finished their season with a 32-4 record. Lexie Pawlik, junior, was named NIC MVP and part of the first team. Joining Pawlik on the first team was Kelly Cole, senior, and Kaitlyn Hickey, sophomore, seniors Kristin Ball and Katie Kurth were named to the second team.

SAH DIKOS, junior, reached above the net to spike the ball. Dikos' spike was successful and a point was scored. KATIE KURTH, senior, made her way back onto the court after serving. Kurth committed to play volleyball at Bethel College. LEXIE PAWLIK, junior, tipped the ball in a sneaky attempt to score. Pawlik was a standout setter for the varsity squad in her third year on the team. KAITLYN HICKEY, sophomore, jumped above the net and spiked the ball. Because of her incredible arm speed, the opposing team had no time to react.

Wrestling: Varsity Taking Down the Competition

wrestling: noun [res-ling]

A sport in which a mat is laid down in order for two opponents to get tangled up with each other and try to press one another's shoulders to the ground.

Michael
Hummer, 11

Trevor
Manspeaker, 9

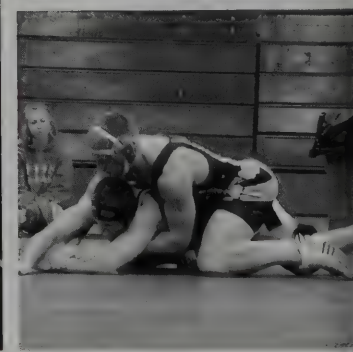

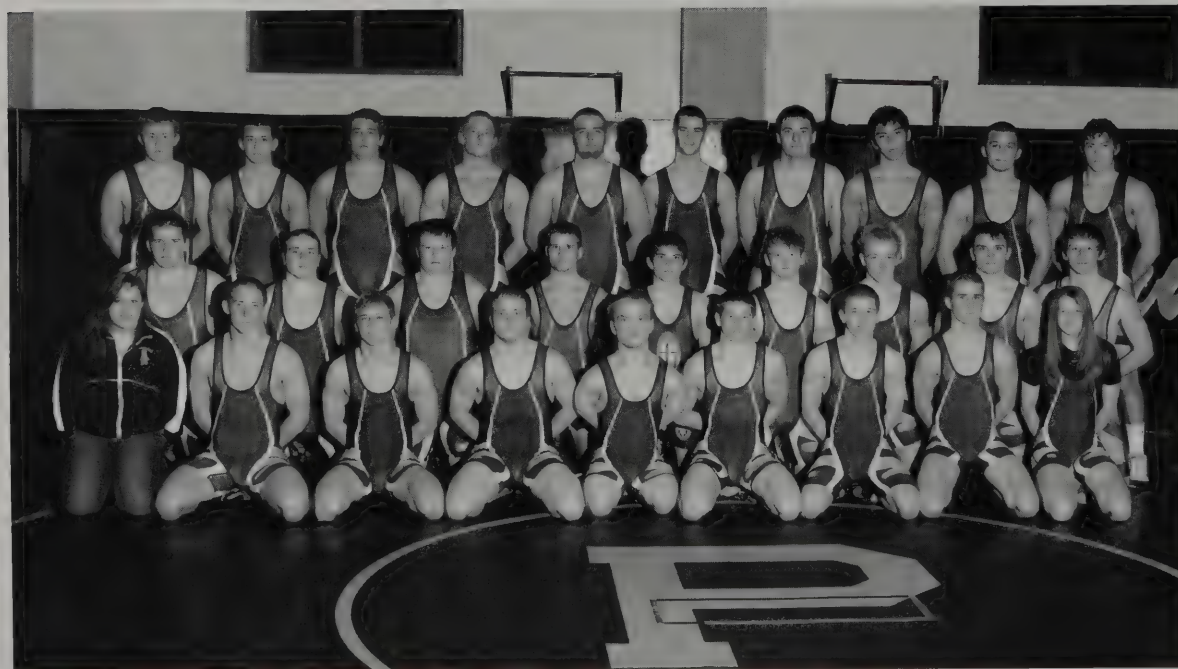

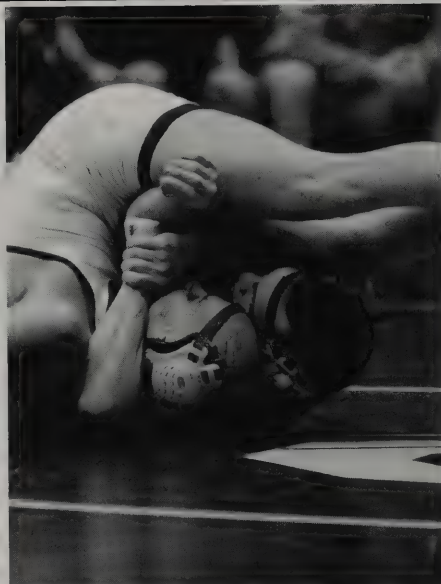

Andy
Wiseman, 12

Alex
Gregory, 11

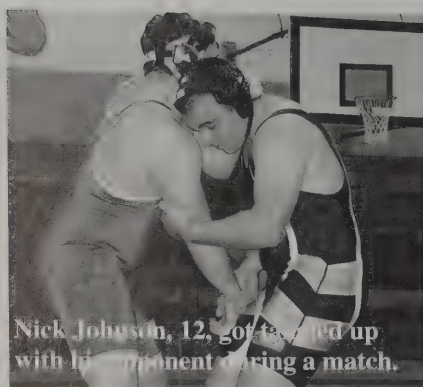

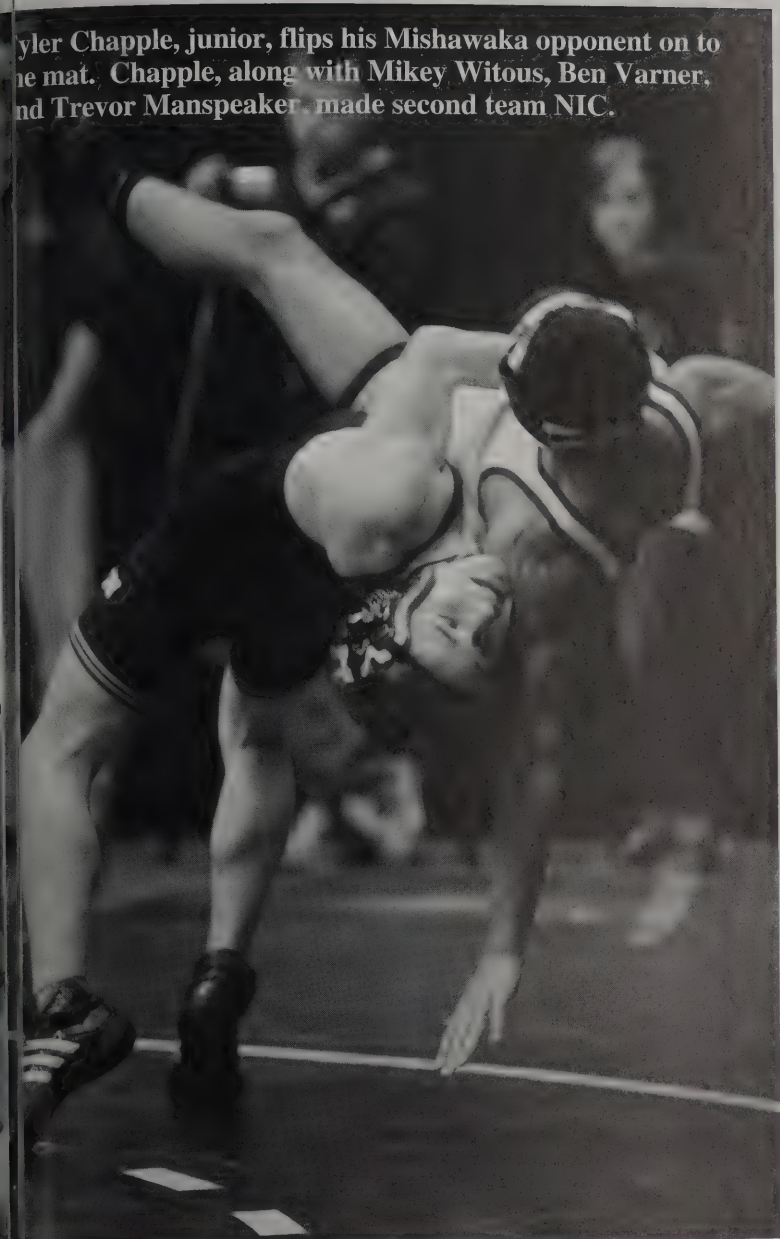

Pat Davenport, 12, pinned his opponent in the exciting meet against Mishawaka. MICHAEL HUMMER, 11, got a take down, then tried many different moves in his attempt to put his opponent on his back. ALEX GREGORY, 11, tried to get both of his opponent's shoulders to touch the mat for the pin. ANDY WISEMAN, 12, had control of the match and was working to turn his partner over.

Row One: C. Hunter, A. Kunze, B. Sokol, G. McGill, M. Witous, G. Anglemeyer, T. Chapple, A. Gregory, S. Hildebrandt. Row Two: D. Litteral, M. Ham, B. Bokhart, K. Wendzel, K. Betzer, R. Dressel, M. Hummer, P. Treely, J. Verhaeghe. Row Three: J. Hinsey, C. Miller, J. Nagle, A. Wiseman, N. Johnson, N. Leroy, J. Romine, A. Winston, P. Davenport, J. Holland.

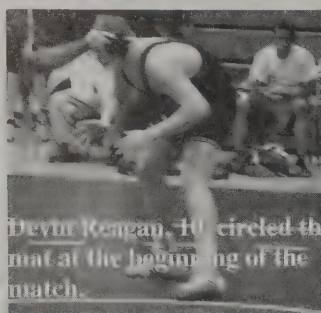

Tyler Chapple, junior, flips his Mishawaka opponent on to the mat. Chapple, along with Mikey Witous, Ben Varner, and Trevor Manspeaker, made second team NIC.

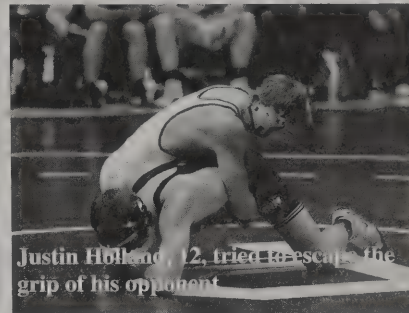

Nick Johnson, 12, got tangled up with his opponent during a match.

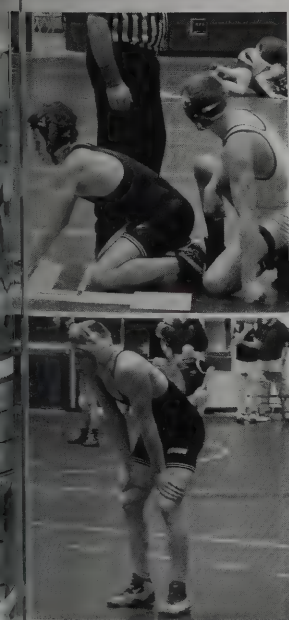

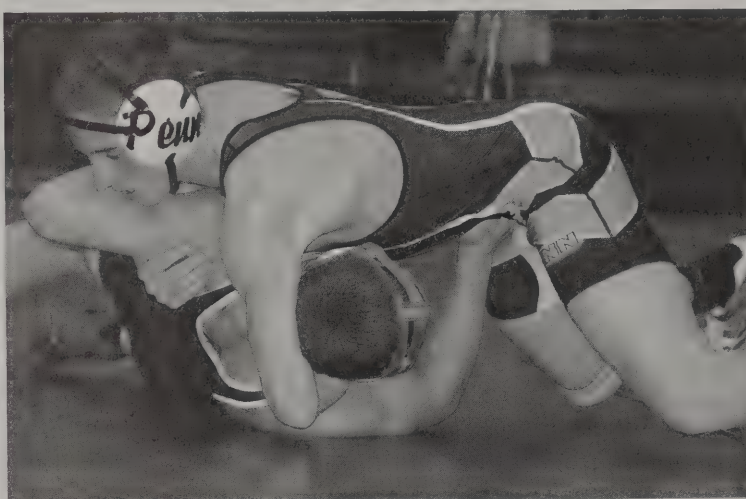

Ben Sokol, 12, waited for the next period to start.

Devin Reagan, 10, circled the mat at the beginning of the match.

Justin Holland, 12, tried to escape the grip of his opponent.

AUSTIN KUNZE, 12, drove his opponent's shoulders to the mat. The team was awarded six points because of his pin.

The Penn wrestling team ended the season with a record of 17-3, and were 7-1 in the NIC. The Kingsmen sent three wrestlers to state: Alex Gregory at 125, Andy Wiseman at 171, and Devin Reagan at 215. Penn's only female wrestler, Sarah Hildebrandt, became the first female wrestler ever to make it to the semi-state meet in the state of Indiana. Gregory and Wiseman were named first team NIC, while Mikey Witous, Ben Varner, Tyler Chapple, Trevor Manspeaker, Austin Kunze, Pat Davenport and Reagan made second team. Grant Anglemeyer was named honorable mention.

BEN VARNER, 10, waited for his opponent and the referee to start the match after it was stopped. MICHAEL WITOUS, 12, got his hand raised by the referee after winning a match against his competition from Mishawaka. Unfortunately, in January, Witous had to stop wrestling due to medical complications. SARAH HILDEBRANDT, 11, was tangled up with her opponent, waiting for the right time to make a move. TYLER CHAPPLE, 11, was in the process of pinning his opponent. It was a turning point in the meet against rival Mishawaka. GRANT ANGLEMYER, 11, caught his breath during a timeout.

RIK GALLAM, freshmen, waits for the referee to begin his match. PHILLIP TREELY, junior, fights to gain control over his opponent. JUSTIN HOLLAND, senior, chooses to start from the bottom in the referee's position. When using referee's position, one wrestler starts on his hands and knees down on the mat, and the other starts on top, behind and in control. MICHAEL HAM, junior, works his hardest to take down his opponent. AARON WINSTON, junior, uses everything he learned in practice to pin the competitor.

Yearbook: Define Yourself.

New Senior Staff Members

Every year the yearbook has the luck to have a new group of seniors who add their ideas and imagination to the pages of the new school year's book. This year the Bittersweet added seniors Jamee Miller, Shelby Miller, Kelli Yapp, Jordan Noel, Jenny Hayes, and Katie Fleming to our team of hard workers. Yapp was the new ad designer. She helped put together the ads that the yearbook staff sold to businesses in the community.

New Staff Members

Along with adding new seniors to our staff, we also have underclassmen who added us to their schedules--and hopefully will return as seniors! New staffers included Krystal Hill, 10, Becky Yoder, 11, Shannon Bridges, 11, Priscilla Gaona, 11, Ellen Kjoller, 11, Bridget Noonan, 11, Katy Jeffrey, 10, and Erin Bayne, 10.

RETURNING STAFFERS

How do the editors define themselves?

Erin Alberding

Erin Alberding is not a ditzy blond. She is not shy and not shallow. She is a little sister, baby of the family, IWU bound cashier, who likes yellow and is sometimes a Cancer and sometimes a Gemini, born on the first day of summer. She is a blue-eyed mashed potato lover who drinks Arnold Palmers and cries at movies, especially We Are Marshall.

Andrew Bushnell

Andrew Bushnell is whatever you want him to be. He's a friend, a brother, a father, an enemy, and, most importantly, Andrew Bushnell is a yearbook editor at heart. Andrew Bushnell can't define himself because he is undefinable. Andrew Bushnell is what he is.

Returning Staffers

The returning juniors and seniors step up to assume leadership roles and put their creative minds to work to construct the new yearbook. Row 1: Hillary Sirhan. Row 2: Lauren Rice, Kelly Kazmierczak, Rachel Csenar. Row 3: Becca Coleman, Katie McDonough, Nikki Hubbard.

Christmas Spirit!

During the week before Winter Break a few of the yearbook staffers broke out their tacky sweaters in the spirit of Christmas. Juniors Bridget Noonan, Becca Coleman, Ellen Kjoller, Shannon Bridges, Katie McDonough, and seniors Jamee Miller and Kelly Kazmierczak pose in front of the library Christmas tree.

It's Time to Make A Book!

Mom and Dad, Jake and Hannah

Kaitlin Paege

You have made us so proud since the day you were born. Continue to chase your dreams. Whatever decisions you make in life, always know that we will be there for you.

Love, Mom and Dad

Lauren Rice

Congratulations, Lauren! We have enjoyed watching you grow and mature into a beautiful young lady. All of your accomplishments are a great foundation for what lies ahead of you. Continue to smile, work hard, love what you do, and remain true to your beliefs. We are so very proud of you!

Loving you always, Mom and Dad and Whitney

Kristin Strausborger

Our freckled face little girl has become a beautiful young woman. It has been our privilege to see you succeed. Remember sweetie, keep reaching for those stars!

Love, Mom, Dad, Michael and Critters

Trisha Powell

We are very proud of you! We've thoroughly enjoyed watching you grow into such a wonderful artist! Make the most of your dreams, and let them take you as far as your imagination will go!

Mom and Dad

Rochelle Watson

We have watched you grow from a beautiful baby, to a wonderful young lady and now an enchanted young woman. As you start your next stage in life always remember to keep God first. He will always be there for you and so will we. We love you very much and wish you the very best.

Love, your family

Madeline Weissner

Our "Sweetest Pea"

You were our first born daughter and from the moment you entered our lives, we knew you were special. We are very proud of you and you are an amazing young woman... keep shooting for the stars!

Love, Dad, Mom, Seth and Grayson

Austin Kunze & Selly Wilson

Cousins-Friends-Classmates

It has been a joy watching the two of you grow up together. Never knew what to expect though! We are so proud of you both,

Congratulations.

Love, Aunt Bobbie, Uncle Phil, Aunt Niki and Uncle Greg

Kelli Yapp

Kelli,

I'll always cherish the joy of watching you grow into a beautiful young woman! We love you and are so proud of you! Shoot for the moon; even if you miss, you'll land among the stars!

Love, Mom and Dan

Sam Scott

We are so proud of who you've become. You have truly blessed our lives. We pray God's blessing and direction over you as you move onto the next stages of your life.

We Love You!

Dad, Mom, Paige & Madi

Stephen High

Stephen, we are so proud of you. Thank you for filling our lives with music. We wish you the best in your musical career. May the Lord continue to bless you.

Love, Mom, Dad, Elizabeth, Grandma and Grandpa

The Beginning of the End

So much has changed in a year . . .

In the ninety black days and ninety gold days that went rushing by, each person at Penn High School has made history. With every fight for a parking spot in the morning and every final bell on Friday, we discovered who we were. In the past 330 pages, the Bittersweet Yearbook staff hoped you took a journey back through the 2009-2010 school year.

It was our wish that you relived the special moments documented in this book and thought back fondly on the mark you have left on Penn High School. Now, we are ending our journey...

Enthusiastic

Active

Creative

The art classes at Penn allow students to channel their creativity into ceramics, sculptures, photographs, drawings or graphic designs.

Balanced

In the dance program, balance is key. Throughout the year students learn to balance their activities with academics.

Relaxed

With time spent on homework and studying, relaxing with the yoga club helps students escape the stress of school.

The Middle of the End

As the school year comes to an end many things run through our minds. How much longer until the bell rings? Will I see my friends this summer? Along with every question comes relief. No more homework, no more tests, no more early mornings. Every day spent at Penn High School is one that left a mark on each of our hearts, the memories we made and great times we had are ones that will never be forgotten.

Dramatic

Whimsical

Dedicated

Students at Penn have dedicated time and energy to activities such as Academic Superbowl where late night bus rides are a common occurrence.

Generous

The generosity and kindness of Penn students is seen throughout the volunteer organizations such as Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Spirited

Its not only the students, but also the staff that brings a fun learning environment to the school. At Halloween, the guidance staff went all out. Closer 327
